J. Alcee LeBlanc Passes Away

The Parish of Vermilion had the misfortune of losing one of its foremost citizens, when on last Saturday night, Mr. J. Alcee LeBlanc died on his plantation ten miles northeast of Abbeville.

J. Alcee LeBlanc was born on December 16th 1849. His father was Jean Bise LeBlanc, a pioneer of this parish, who died many years ago, after faithful service in the Civil war, and whose name is linked with the best movements of the earlier days of our parish.

While young, Mr. Alcee LeBlanc was sent to school, away from home, there being no school in the vicinity. There he acquired a limited common school education. However, by diligence and perseverance, he bettered himself, and could write both the English and French language with facility and correctness.

Mr. Alcee's father was a man of some means, and upon his death, Mr. Alcee inherited his estate, being the only child.

Thereafter, he devoted himself to his plantation, living the tranquil life of the farmer, rearing a large family and teaching them the great Christian principles. He was of a retired disposition, yet he felt it a duty to take part in civic affairs. He served as Police Juror from his Ward, with distinction for twelve years, and whilst it is a very delicate position to fill, the duties thereof so exacting and hard of fulfillment, he went out of that position recognized as one of the most useful and honorable members of the Police Jury ever had. In 1905 he was appointed by Governor Blanchard as a member of the School Board to serve an unexpired term, and in that position he likewise displayed his good judgment, and did every thing he could to promote the cause of education.

The Courts of this parish always recognized in Mr. LeBlanc as man whose honesty, fairness and justice could not be questioned, and during his long life, very frequently he was called upon to sit in the jury box to pass judgment upon the guilt or innocence of the accused. Many a time he was summoned in the secret sanctum of the Grand Jury to ferret out crimes, some times as an humble member, but often times as its foreman. In such positions he dealt out justice impartially and fearlessly.

At his domestic fireside, his love for his parents, affection for his wife, and devotion to his children boundless, and manifested a character whose sterling qualities any father, husband or son should be proud to emulate.

He would always speak of his neighbor kindly, and in deeds and actions, as in words, he was charitable. The fairness of this good man could be seen in political turmoils. Whenever there was a political battle, he consulted his own conscience, bidding no one to follow him in his convictions, went fearlessly to polling both and there conscientiously deposited his ballot not for self-interest but for the greatest good to the greatest number, and for what he thought would redound to the welfare of his people and country.

In 1892 when this whole State was overshadowed by a cloud of political warfare over the Louisiana State Lottery, he joined the cohorts of the anti-lottery and helped to annihilate that great trust and monopoly of gambling and immorality.

His belief in God and teachings of the Catholic Church were genuine and sincere. He never neglected his religious duties. He was a faithful member of the Catholic Knights of America. He died in Peace with God, after receiving the rites of his Church.

Mr. LeBlanc left the following children, viz: J. Agenor LeBlanc, J. Gabelus LeBlanc, Adam LeBlanc, Alphe LeBlanc, Honore C. LeBlanc, Andra D. LeBlanc, Mrs. Gilbert LeBlanc, Mrs. Louis LeBlanc, Mrs. Lidler Bernard and Mrs. Felix Lelux, and scores of grandchildren.

His funeral services took place at the Catholic Church, where a large concourse of people paid him their last respects. Father Laforest officiated, and Father Page delivered a beautiful eulogy on the exemplary life of the departed.

DESTROY THE BOLL WEEVIL

A Handful of Punctured Squares Destroyed in June is worth a bushel of Squares Destroyed in Late July.

Leave Your Business a Few Days if Necessary— Do a Duty You Owe

The Abbeville Progress Appeals to the Merchants and the Business Men of the Entire Parish to Carry this Information to Every Cotton Grower. Go to the Farmer and Tell Them How to Save the Cotton Crop.

Following is a letter from Mr. Mason Snowden, State Agent of the Department of Agriculture, in which is told how to save the cotton crop:

Shreveport, La. June 17, 1913.

To the Farmers and Business Men of Louisiana:

Are you going to raise cotton or boll weevil? Are you going to gamble on the making of 1913 cotton crop? Or are you going to put forth every effort to make a good and profitable yield? Get to work and save the crop. Delay means disaster.

The boll weevil infestation is general all over the State and heavier than since 1910. The degree of the infestation varies from field to field and from parish to parish, but is heavy enough to be serious in every cotton community in the State.

The only safe and sure way to make a cotton crop under boll weevil conditions is to make a persistent fight on the weevil. A faithful fight made on the weevil will guarantee a good crop with good weather for the next six weeks; and with a wet July, a fair crop can be made. But, if no effort is made to keep down the weevil infestation now, a rainy July means disaster to the cotton crop.

The weevil fight is simple and inexpensive. Most of the cotton is too late now to pick the adult weevil from the stalks.

The fight from now on must be concentrated on the punctured squares. To be successful, this must be commenced when the cotton begins to square. Every field that has weevil should be gone over carefully once a week, and every punctured square picked up and burned. Heavily infested spots should be marked and picked over twice a week. The whole fight hinges on this point: To keep the short lived over wintered weevil from raising a brood. Try to keep every punctured square from hatching a young weevil. Farmers who have failed have invariably started the fight too late. This method of fighting the weevil has been proved successful beyond the shadow of a doubt by thousands of the best farmers in the State.

The Pictorial Review for July is as usual, a magazine that reflects the American woman and anticipates her needs. The beautiful cover design by Harrison Fisher is followed by an equally beautiful frontispiece, entitled "Summer is Calling Thee," by Sarah K. Smith. Then appears the editorial "They Say" and "Have You Heard?" This subject, seldom touched upon editorially, will arouse general interest. Three short stories of more than usual interest also appear. Under the head of homemaking and household appear such helpful and instructive articles.

Must Fight Weevil.

"The farmer who wants to make cotton under boll weevil conditions must make up his mind to fight the weevils, first by gathering the weevil in the bud of the cotton and later by gathering forms or punctured squares and destroy them by burning," declares A. A. Morrow, of the United States farm demonstration work in an address delivered to the farmers of East Baton Rouge recently. Mr. Morrow declared that the pest could be easily found now on top of the young cotton and could be destroyed by children at a small cost.
