In Memorium.

In memory of little McCoy Stansbury, who died June 2nd, 1915, at 4:30 o'clock a. m. Aged 1 year, six months and 20 days. Little son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Stansbury of Perry, La.

The child of our love and affection
We have laid to his long, last rest.
When God made His choice it was cast
On the treasure we prized the best.
As like the snowflake, spotless,
That falls to its source, the sea,
Ere the world had defiled her spirit,
We give him back, Lord, to Thee.

Dear little hands, I miss them so!
All through the day wherever I go.
All through the night how lonely it seems
For no little hands wake me out of my dreams.

I miss them all through the weary hours
I miss them as others do sunshine and flowers.
Daytime or night time wherever I go,
Dear little hands, I miss them so.
A FRIEND.

Two Splendid Jacks.

One of our most progressive and wide awake farmers, Mr. Jos. S. Ewell, has demonstrated what can be done in this section of the country by raising two jacks, and is as proud of them as can be. One of the jacks was one year old on the 17th of this month, weighing 505 pounds and stood 55 inches high. The other one, not quite nine months old, weighed 400 pound.

This is conclusive that our country is adapted to the raising of fine blooded stock, and this is in accord with what we have always boasted that we have the best country in the world in which to live and prosper.

Both of these jacks are for sale and the person who become owners of them could well boast of having something out of the ordinary.

The Price of Fame.

Last night Mr. A. O. Landry, manager of the Victor Theatre, presented to his many patrons one of the finest programs in the way of pictures that has been shown in a long time.

"The Price of Fame," the first drama in a series of twelve episodes in connection with the regular program was shown. "Who Pays?" is in a series of twelve episodes, but each episode is a complete picture in itself, and portrays the picture of actual life, leaving a trail of thought in its wake. The appeal is strong because they don't hide their issues under a blanket of sentimental evasion. They are new because they're true, and is acted by a very strong cast. Ruth Rowland and Henry King are featured in the cast.

Misses Elaine and Frances Thomas sang most beautifully the popular song "Tipperary."

AMMEN'S TOILET POWDER is as pure, medicinal compound built after a thorough investigation to make an ideal preparation that would displace the useless highly perfumed powders made from soap stone, which makes you glassy. Get a box at your druggist for 25 cents and try it. adv.
