Entered as Second Class Matter, April 11, 1912 at the postoffice at Arcadia, La., under the Act of March 3, 1879.

S. A. COOK, Editor and Proprietor

Help the DEMOCRAT to become a better paper. Write us the news, tell us in person the news, send us the news by a friend, telephone us the news. Cooperation is the watchword these days and quick action is the generally accepted policy of the American public.

There has come to the desk of the Democrat's editor a copy of "SOUTHERN SCHOOL WORK," the official organ of the Louisiana State Board of Education, Louisiana Teachers' Association, and Louisiana Professional Teacher's League. A feature of special interest was the leading article, under the heading "Bienville Parish Schools." Three pages of the magazine were devoted to the schools of this parish and showed photographs of the Arcadia High School, Castor Consolidated School, Black Lake Consolidated School, the new Gibland High School building and the old elementary building, also the Wilson and St. Duty colored school buildings. On the front-piece or cover of the magazine appears the likeness of several prominent school men of North Louisiana, among them are Supt. E. H. Fisher, and President P. F. White of the Bienville Parish School Board. One thing that is particularly noticeable is that the schools of Bienville Parish are taking their place among the best schools of the state.

Oil vs. Corn

It seems to be the history of all oil fields that the farmers who have "struck it rich" have practically abandoned their farms, and in many cases those who are within good leasing distance of these scenes of oil activity become so interested in the possibility of getting rich from the sale of leases on their lands, or from royalties when the oil is found on their holdings that they neglect to cultivate their farms, or cultivate them in such a half-hearted, disinterested manner as to bring no results. In many cases the tenants on farms neglect their crops and make a failure because of the lack of support from the owner is more interested in the possibilities of becoming rich through the finding of oil than he is through the raising of a crop.

It is a waste of resources to allow the land to lie idle even if one is making more money than he can spend through other sources. Oil wells only occupy a small space, and the land will yield just as much corn or cotton when leased at $10.00 to $100.00 an acre as before any one had an idea that land in this or any other vicinity was merely floating on a sea of oil.

Corn and other feed stuff will command a far better price per acre this fall than will be derived from oil leases—unless the unusual happens, and some of those who place too much faith in oil possibilities will find themselves squeezing through the little end of the horn—unless they keep faith with the known possibilities of the fertile soil.

Thoughts on Easter

Over the whole world today rings the anthem of resurrection. Beginning in the far Orient it runs, with the dawn to the limits of the Occident, is sounded from every church bell up to the heaven like a psalm of hope and promise. The winter is past, and Nature has set man again the lesson, which since time began she has spread out before him in the earth, that book which may be read by the unlearned savage as well as the civilized man. There is no death, there is no effort that sinks into the dim void and becomes naught, there is no cessation of soul influence. The summer comes and its glory passes, the harvest time of our lives wanes, the fields are brown and barren, and looking over them sadly we grieve that all of our hopes were not brought to fruition. When the frosts of age cover our heads we sometimes say with the great soul that voiced His agony in a dark hour: "Youth is blunder, manhood struggle, and old age regret."

Yet we have lived and loved, and that is within itself a boon. From the graves where were laid our cruelly joy, our blameless offerings to un-forgotten destiny, our loved and noble ideals, shall arise a glorified spirit to guide others down the rough way to the place where the "great light" shines. No path of sorrow in the vale of life is virgin to the naked feet of our shivering souls. Wherever the water is deepest and the shadows fall darkest, there trod the martyrs of the ages and though they found the sepulcher at the end of the journey being dead, they get live and speak with undying utterance.

Christ is risen from the dead! Long ages passed when it seemed to the waiting nations that He was yet in the tomb, and in the sleep of death had forgotten the world. Toil, strife and anguish were the portion of His people, for the poor are His. Wickedness wore the robe and crown and filled the earth with sighing. Even then there were brave hearts that looked up through the clouds and liberty of thought, faith and conscience were proclaimed. The ceremonies of terror are cast off and lie in the open sepulcher, and with them are the broken shackles and rendered fetters—Clipped.

EVER SALIVATED BY CALOMEL? HORRIBLE.

Calomel is quicksilver and acts like dynamite on your liver

Calomel loses you a day! You know what calomel is. It's mercury; quicksilver. Calomel is dangerous. It crashes into your bile like dynamite, cramping and sickening you. Calomel attacks the bones and should never be put into your system.

When you feel bilious, sluggish, constipated and all knocked out and believe you need a dose of dangerous calomel just remember that your druggist sells for a few cents a large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone, which is entirely vegetable and pleasant to take and is a perfect substitute for calomel. It is guaranteed to start your liver without stirring you up inside, and can not salivate.

Don't take calomel! It makes you sick the next day; it loses you a day's work. Dodson's Liver Tone straightens you right up and you feel great. Give it to the children because it is perfectly harmless and doesn't gripe.

FEEDING COTTON SEED MEAL TO HOGS

- Cottonseed meal cannot be surpassed for giving the firmness of flesh and lard demanded by the packers.
- Cottonseed meal should not constitute more than one-fourth of the ration of hogs.
- Cottonseed meal should not be fed more than four or five weeks at any one period; but after a rest of three to five weeks the cottonseed meal can again be fed for another period of four or five weeks.
- By all means get a good grade of cottonseed meal, for inferior meal may have a poisonous effect.
- When fed to hogs on grazing crops, cottonseed meal may be fed in larger quantities and for longer periods than when on dry feed only.
- Cottonseed meal supplies protein cheaply and is available at all times and at all places.
- Cottonseed meal, forming one-fourth or one-fifth of a ration, is a most excellent feed for hogs for the last four weeks before slaughtering. This is especially true for hogs grazed or fed on peanuts, soy beans, or other soft pork-producing feeds.
- Cottonseed meal is a splendid supplement to corn and rice polish.
- If cottonseed meal is fed judiciously, its efficiency as a feeding value will become more and more apparent.—J. B. Francioni, Agent in Swine Husbandry, Extension Division, Louisiana State University.
