The Frigate 3rd. Naturalists aver that the frigate bird performs most of the business of its life on the wing—feeding, the collection of nesting material, and even sleeping. The spread of its mighty pinions is immense, and it can fly 98 miles an hour without seeming to move.

Wonder of Plant Life. A species of the acacia tree attains a height of about eight feet. When full grown it closes its leaves together in coils each day at sunset. Thus settled it will flutter violently if touched, and if the branches are shaken the tree will emit a nauseating odor. The natives call it the "angry tree."

IN MEMORY

of Madison Perritt, who was born Feb. 18th, 1838. Grew to manhood and married Annada Mitchell (nee Brown), January 23, 1867. To this union were born 9 children; 2 died in infancy and 7 are yet living. His wife died Oct. 28, 1895, and he was again married to Miss Annie Clossen, Dec. 15th, 1898.

He died very suddenly at his home in Bryceland, La., July 7th, 1919, having attained his 81st year, 4th month and 10th day of life.

As a man he was not 6 feet, 4 inches, nor weighing 250 pounds, but he was physically, mentally and morally, a man. Always cheerful, buoyant and contemplative. The sunshine of his social, friendly, loving heart just drew you to him, and if there was in you one vital spark of real manhood, he found it, and his social life made you a better man.

As a husband and a father, he gave the best of his time, his labor, his attention and means in trying to make home a heart place.

As a christian, he was quick and unpretentious, but loyal, faithful and constant. As pastor for himself and many of his friends for a long period of years, I bear cheerful testimony to his willingness at all times to serve his church. He loved all men—his heart, his hands, his home stood wide open, for his charity was unbounded by any creed.

As a Mason, I know I speak the truth when I say that he was ever ready to go on any errand of mercy. And the night was never so dark or the day so cold, but when he heard the word or saw the sign of a distressed brother, he responded, and with all he possessed, he served.

As a soldier, he wore the "Grey." No man living ever heard him apologize for contending for that which we fought, suffered and lost. But he was too noble, too great as a Southerner to retain malice.

But, alas! alas! my brother is gone, and I shall cherish to the end of life, his friendship, his love, his association, and somewhere, sometime—after awhile, in God's great own time, I shall meet him; I shall know him; I shall spend eternity. Till then farewell, dear friend and brother.

God bless the home he leaves. Keep and care for all his loved ones thru time and reunite them in Glory.

C. E. FOSTER, Jonesboro, La., July 23, 1919.
