

Arcadia's Leading Store For Men's and Boys' Furnishings

The basis on which this store has built up the reputation of being "Arcadia's Leading Men's and Boys' Store" is the fact that McConathy has the habit of backing up in merchandise, every statement in type or by word of mouth. The Men and boys of this community are specially invited to see our line of

Men's and Boys' Suits, Hats, Boots, Shoes, Overcoats and Raincoats now on display

We call attention to our line of Ladies' Suits, Coats, Waists, Shoes, Silk Hose, Silk Petticoats, etc. The line itself explains why McConathy's has the reputation of being Arcadia's "Leading Ladies' Ready-to-Wear Establishment."

service—better health conditions for our children.

Mrs. B. B. Robinson has received the sad intelligence of the death of her sister, Mrs. R. C. Shaw, of Haynesville, which occurred on Monday at 4:00 o'clock after an illness of several months. Mrs. Robinson could not make train connections in time to reach her sister's home for the funeral service, so will visit the family later.

Mr. and Mrs. Adams Anders whose wedding was celebrated on the 2nd of October at Lafayette, La., have returned from their wedding journey to Chicago and other eastern cities. They arrived in Arcadia several days ago and are "at home" to their friends. They are nicely established in rooms of Mrs. Ella Scott. Mrs. Anders will be quite an acquisition to social life in Arcadia, as she is a very cultured and charming lady. In her home town, Lafayette, she was quite prominent in the federated club work. Mr. Anders has been in Arcadia for several months, and has made quite a lot of friends here, who are glad to welcome his bride.

Quite an important and significant event of last week, was the visit of Mrs. A. F. Storm, of Morgan City, president of Louisiana Federation of Women's Clubs, to Arcadia. Mrs. Storm is visiting the Federated Clubs of the State in order to meet them personally and get a first hand knowledge of their needs and problems, etc. She spoke of the value of organized work and stressed the "get together spirit." She told of the part the Federation is taking in reconstruction, explaining that the war work was only their emergency work, and now they are resuming the great constructive work always undertaken by the Federation. Such as child welfare; compulsory education; community health nurse; improved health conditions; better housing conditions for women laborers; civics and the many other improvements that need our earnest effort. Considering the very inclement weather, there was a splendid attendance of representative women. The meeting was in the high school auditorium and the faculty including Mr. Wagner, were present. Miss Fannie Crowson contributed largely to the pleasure of the occasion by rendering in a splendid manner, a piano number, "The Earl King," by Liszt. The ladies appreciated very much the presence of Principal Wagner and his kind and timely remarks. Mrs. Storm showed a copy of the State Magazine which has been one of her big efforts this year to establish, and as it is still in its infancy, she asks the cooperation of all State club women to get it on a sound basis. Only 60c per year and of course is of great value to Louisiana club women. Mrs. Storm was gladly welcomed by a number of the ladies who remembered her on a previous visit, when she was Grand Worthy Matron of the Eastern Star and visited Arcadia in its interest. While here Wednesday Mrs. Storm was the guest of Mrs. D. E. Brown and family.

ed the ceremony that tied in marriage, Miss Vera Lyons and Mr. Alwyn Hightower. There was a beautiful simplicity about the marriage that made it deeply impressive. After the guests had assembled, and while looking at the beautiful display of wedding presents in the dining room, the first notes of the pre-nuptial music was sounded. With Miss Fannie Crowson at the piano, Miss Inez Baker and Mrs. Blanton Thous sang "I Love You Truly." Mrs. J. B. Story sang "At Dawning," to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march. The bridal party entered from the hall and took their places before the minister, who stood behind an improvised altar of beautiful ferns and zinnias. First, the attendants, Miss Jessie Fay Sberard and Mr. Philip Anders and Miss Eula Maud Capers and Mr. Reginald Hightower, stood on either side of the altar. Then came the bride on the arm of the groom. Rev. Jordan in a few simple words, but very impressive, made them man and wife. The bride looked charming in her girlish loveliness. She wore a stylish coat suit of brick colored tricotine with hat, shoes and gloves in harmony and carried white crysanthemums and ferns, which she afterwards divided with her mother, Mrs. Lyons and the groom's mother. Misses Jessie Fay Sberard and Eula Maud Capers, the bride's attendants were becomingly attired and carried pink roses and ferns. The groom and his best men looked immaculate in black suits. Lohengrin's march was used as a recessional. The popularity of the young couple was evidenced by the many beautiful gifts of silver, cut glass, china and some more practical remembrances. Accompanied to the train by friends they left for a short visit to Shreveport. They commenced housekeeping on Wednesday in the home of Dr. and Mrs. Atkinson. Their many friends unite in wishing them a life full of usefulness.

A very pleasant social function last Thursday was the miscellaneous show-er, given by Misses Leola McConathy and Hermie Runge for Miss Vera Lyons, a bride of the week. In a very spirited game of five hundred, Mrs. J. S. Andrews and Miss Lyons cut for the prize and the honoree was lucky. After the game a very interesting part of the entertainment was the unique manner of presenting the gifts. Little C. A. Tooke, Jr., the attractive little nephew of the hostess, Miss Hermie Runge, becomingly dressed in white came out with a large fishing rod and invited the honoree to go fishing with him. She gracefully accepted the invitation and from behind a screen in the hall she fished with great success, drawing up one dainty package after another—everything that could please a girl. Miss Effie Ragau and Lenoir Capers served lovely brick cream and cake.

Mrs. J. S. McConathy entertained the members of the Methodist W. M. S., and a large number of guests on Monday. The president, Mrs. Ben Ferguson, conducted a devotional service and also a missionary program. The interesting topic was "Stewardship." Mrs. J. E. Currie and Mrs. V. C. Pipes had interesting talks on medical missions in China. A large crowd of ladies took advantage of the pleasant afternoon to get out, after such a long rainy spell and as Mrs. McConathy is such a gracious hostess, the meeting was a marked success. A very appetizing salad course—chicken salad with mayonnaise, crackers and pickles and lead tea were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. H. D. Shehee and Mrs. W. L. Williams. Music on the Edison was enjoyed.

A wedding of unusual interest, on account of the popularity of the bride and groom, the prominence of both families and the high esteem in which they are held, was celebrated on Saturday evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Y. M. Lyons. Rev. W. H. Jordan pronounced
