Some interesting races took place on the track near this town last Sunday, and, quite a large crowd was present, among the number being many strangers.

There were a number of people present and all seemed to enjoy themselves very much. Miss Mamie received many very pretty souvenirs of the day. It was a very pleasant affair. We hope Miss Mamie will have many returns of the day.

The King's Comedy Company played Friday week at Falk's Opera House, and again Sunday night, presenting on the latter day, Mrs. Burnett's dramatized story, "Little Lord Fauntleroy," to a crowded house. There is an agreeable contrast between this sterling organization of talented people, and the many inferior troupes that we have been afflicted with. This excellent company presents only legitimate plays, well rendered, and deserve crowded houses wherever they go.

The Gazette is indebted to Mr. Oscar L. Alpha for complimentary tickets to the excursion that is to run from Thibodaux to Opelousas, on the 30th instant, for the profit and under the auspices of the Hope Hook and Ladder Company of Franklin. A specialty at T. M. Bioassat, watchmaker and jeweler. Call and let me give you a fit.

Some Observations.

A Gazette man was out in Broussardville and Royville Monday, and was pleased to note the many improvements going on in that section of our Parish, one thing that struck him rather forcibly is the general prosperity of, and feeling of hope for the future by the people. The store keepers have large and varied stocks of merchandise, and appear to be doing a very satisfactory business.

The crops in the neighborhood, while a little backward, owing to the recent spell of cold we have had during the past few days, and especially has its effects been felt by the cane, still, as a whole, the outlook is very encouraging.

The roads are in splendid condition making traveling over them a pleasure.

Farm operations are being prosecuted with much energy and we noted some intelligent cultivation in more than one place. By intelligent farming we mean that some of the farmers are putting in a diversity of crops, and are not depending so much on a single one. This is wisdom, and will pay in the long run.

This is a great poultry country, nearly every farmer has his poultry yard, and make it contribute largely to household expenses.

One lady Mrs. Albert Landry in the vicinity of Broussardville, has some 600 chickens, and a much larger number of grown chickens. This lady has sold as high as $15 worth of eggs at a dozen, in one week, and averages a very handsome amount throughout the year. We are told that the range is such that raising poultry entails such little labor that it becomes a pleasurable recreation, besides being quite profitable.

We also had the pleasure of visiting the public school in Broussardville taught by our friend, Claude Latouais. There is a noticeable entente cordiale between the children and teacher, and we are informed that the parents are well pleased with the progress made by their children.

The Little Diamonds.

A large concourse of people was present at the entertainment of the "Little Diamonds" at Falk's opera house Thursday, and they witnessed and enjoyed a very interesting program, admirably rendered.

The children, in their several parts, showed an aptitude and thorough drilling, indubitably demonstrating the painstaking and intelligent instruction they had received.

The scenic effects were very pleasing to the view, especially pleasing was the harmonious blending of the profusion of flowers which decorated the stage, in fact, all the details, and adjuncts necessary to a successful rendition of the cast, was most admirably employed and utilized.

While some of the children did a little better than others, still it would be invidious to particularize where all did their best and many so well, consequently we say to them all: You have done splendidly, and the approbation manifested by the liberal applause was merited, and The Gazette compliments you. And deserving of the highest praise are the ladies who so graciously gave their appreciated assistance, to make the entertainment all the more enjoyable.

At the conclusion of the dramatic entertainment the hall was cleared, and the young folks indulged in the fascinating mazes of the dance to the sweet strains of the Lafayette string band, and which lasted until admonished by the too hasty flight of time that pleasure must cease and repose sought.

The whole furnished a very agreeable recreation, and the compliments paid to the management were many, and The Gazette takes pleasure in adding, were fully deserved. The following is the

PROGRAMME:

By the Band. The Spring Festival. Miss Ida Hopkins. The Doll Drill. 16 Little Diamonds. Song: Texas Cowboy. Misses Mattie Hopkins and Orin Hopkins. Entertaining Big Sister's Beans. Tillie Devereux. The Quack Doctor. Godfrey Salomon. and others.

Recitation: A Similar Case. Anna Hopkins. Duet: Miller and C. Bienville. Recitation: Wash. Mrs. Wm. Walker. Music: Chas. Bandier. That Dreadful Boy. Farce.

In concluding this imperfect compte rendu The Gazette wishes to make this observation: When a lady is kind enough to give her assistance to a worthy cause, she deserves the highest commendation and warmest thanks, and every sense of honor, manhood, and chivalry exacts that she should not be disturbed by the exhibition of gallery god methods, as was the case in one instance. It is not necessary to say more, the act speaks for itself.

An Important Capture.

During the night of the storm, some days since, three prisoners, one white man held for safe blowing in Houston, and two negroes, one under sentence of death for a criminal assault, and the other for burglary, escaped from the Lake Charles jail. Sheriff Broussard had been apprised of the escape. Monday Conductor Vossburg and crew, when near Crowley, discovered the three men in a box car, and suspecting that they might be the escaped prisoners, proceeded at once to secure them, and after a desperate struggle the white man was held and locked in a box car, brought here and turned over to the sheriff, but the two negroes, for the time being, escaped. Tuesday, Mr. Henry Church, the yardmaster, saw two suspicious looking negroes loitering around, and with C. Olivier and J. B. Combes held them and notified the sheriff, and they proved to be the right men, although they tried to deceive the officers by saying they had just come from chopping wood at some wood camp. All three are now safely incarcerated in the Lake Charles jail. The sheriff turned the prisoners over to the Calcasieu parish authorities without making any charges. A baseless rumor had gained some currency to the effect that the sheriff and Marshal Bradley had received an offered reward for the capture. We are requested to state that this rumor is false, and that the sheriff has not only not received any reward for the capture, but knows of none being offered. And, further, should there be one it will go every cent of it, to the railroad men who caught the prisoners.

Board of Assessors.

The State Board of Assessors for railroads, telegraph and telephones for this district, met in Lafayette, Friday, April 21. The following parishes were represented: Avoyelles, L. H. Hudson; Acadia, B. E. Clark; Iberia, P. L. Renoulet; Jefferson, L. H. Margery; Lafayette, C. C. Brown; Rapides, J. B. Bostow; St. Charles, W. F. Wilson; Mary, J. N. Bagnieres; St. Martin, E. A. Duham; Terrebonne, J. N. McBride; parishes not represented: Lafourche, St. Landry, Calcasieu and Assumption.

Messrs. J. Krutshuit, R. Nelli and J. G. Parker represented the Morgan railroad.

Mr. C. C. Brown was elected president and Mr. P. L. Renoulet, secretary.

After much contention the board fixed the following rates of assessment: Morgan main line, $7500 per mile, an increase of $500 over last year's assessment; all branch roads, $3500 per mile; Louisiana Western railroad, $2000 per mile; Western Union Telegraph, $100 for 1000 wires, $15 for 1 to 5 wires; $5 additional for every wire over $15 telephone, $50 per running mile.

Wedding Bells.

At the residence of the bride's father, Mr. J. M. Jones, at Pecan Grove, Lafayette parish, Miss Florence Belle Jones and Mr. Harry A. Simms, were united in marriage, the Rev. Mr. Armstrong, officiating.

Mr. Simms is a resident of Kansas City, Mo., to which place the contracting couple went on the day after the ceremony, there to commence together the happy future which their friends wish for them.

The bride, who up to Saturday eve, was Miss Flossie Jones, the life of a circle of friends, the pretty, winsome Miss Flossie, now leaves the home of her girl-hood to journey with the husband of her choice to a distant home to take her part in the new sphere of duty which awaits her. May their present happiness never lessen and may a bright and prosperous career be theirs.

The entertainment at the home of Mr. Jones was a most delightful and enjoyable one. The repast served after the ceremony was elegant and dainty, and made more attractive by the profusion of flowers, evergreens, and chinese lanterns which decorated the pavilion under the stately pecan trees, where the guests partook of the wedding feast, so liberally provided.

The bride party in its grouping under the floral umbrella, during the solemn ceremony, was a lovely picture to the beauty-loving eye. To the strains of a wedding march played by Mrs. E. W. Glenn, the bride and groom, and attendants took their proper places.

The costumes of the young ladies were becoming and bright. The central figure, the bride, was attired in white gros-grain silk with trimmings of pearls and point lace, and wore upon her dark hair the additional fillet veil and snowy orange blossoms.

The attendants were Miss Lillie Jones, in can y silk, with M. Durke of Washington, La.; Miss Emma Jones, most lovely, in all green silk, with Mr. George Melchior, of Carencro; Miss Lizzie Smith, of Grand Coteau, in pink silk, with Mr. Fred. Jones.

Among the other young ladies present were Miss Madeline Melchior, of Carencro, in white silk and lace; Miss Ruby Wallace, of Lafayette, in pink silk and white muslin; and Miss Virginia Smith, of Grande Coteau, in cream ottoman silk.

Quite a number of ladies and gentlemen from Lafayette, Carencro, Grande Coteau, and other neighboring towns, were present. Sweet music (notably the "Lonely Bird" a vocal duet by the Misses Jones), and happy laughter, made gay the pleasant home, and the guests will not soon forget the pleasant scenes presented by their visit upon this happy occasion.

Carencro News.

From Our Regular Correspondent.

Mr. Moorman, representing Dunn's Mercantile agency, was in town last week, looking after the interests of his company.

The Farmers Union intend building an annex to their cotton gin, to be used as a meeting hall.

The following ticket has been submitted to the voters of Carencro—municipal election to take place on May 1st: For Mayor, D. A. Dimity; for councilmen, Dr. F. W. Courtney, Dr. J. P. Francez, G. H. Guilbeau, Saul Broussard and A. Cheffer, which so far, seems to receive the unanimous approval of our citizens.

Another wedding on the tapis. Our young lady and lassies are putting their thinking-caps on. The Gazette will give further information shortly.

The Attakapas Medical association will hold its annual meeting in New Iberia on May 2.

The account of the Apfel case, which appeared in the New Orleans papers recently, go to prove how much parents are at the mercy of miserable, vindictive, vicious negro nurses, to whom they confide the care of their children. It is a warning, and should prove a lesson, to some mothers who do not exercise enough care in selecting nurses.

People owing vacant lots in town, should at least have them fenced in, it would improve the general appearance of the place, and increase the chance of selling the lots, if desired.

Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Guilbeau went to Jeanerette last Saturday to spend a few days with relatives at that place.

Mr. Ralph W. Elliott, a former citizen of Carencro, and one of Lafayette's attorneys, was in town last Sunday.

Judge E. L. Estillette has furnished the required bond, and is now a full-fledged notary public.

Mr. Geo. E. Brown is making preparations to move into his new store building, which now presents a fine appearance, having been fully repaired. His residence has also been remodelled, and repainted. Mr. G. H. Guilbeau will occupy the building vacated by Mr. Brown.

Mrs. L. A. Veazey and Mrs. Fred. Veazey, of New Iberia, are in town visiting relatives.

The cane crop, so far, is in good shape.

The biographical sketch of General DeClouet in last Sunday's Times-Democrat, is well worth reading, and will prove very interesting to those whose good fortune it is to be acquainted with any member of the family bearing that honored name.

Many of our citizens were in Lafayette this week attending court, either as jurors or witnesses.

Mr. A. C. Guilbeau has purchased from Dr. Durio, of St. Martinsville, the magnificent stallion "Bourbon."

TODDIE VERBIS.

Broussardville Drizzlings.

From Our Regular Correspondent.

It is a sad truth that the Southern capitalist is averse to risking his wealth in ventures which would increase that wealth materially. Contrary to his Northern neighbor (who uses his wealth only as a means to make more) the Southerner once he has a fair portion laid by will think that he has enough for his family and himself, and will lead a life of indolence and splendor. To this apathy it is due that thus far manufacturers and refineries in the Parish of Lafayette are phantoms which live only in the imagination.

But a change for the better has begun. Already one of our "material" men has contracted for large machinery to build a steam sugar mill which he intends to complete by the necessary apparatus for a refinery in a year or two. "Il n'y a que le premier pas qui compte" as the French proverb says, and we hope that other capitalists at large will follow in the make of Mr. Billaud, and by the very fact of substituting the cane to the cotton industry, abolish altogether the credit system, which is the ruin of both merchant and farmer, and establish a firm cash business. With this we shall pass on to our subject.

The first requisite is a great amount of water to use as a steam producer. There being no natural body of water around Mr. Billaud's place, the deficiency must be made up by artificial means. Hence he has contracted for an artesian well. We know that the name is derived from Artois, in France, where such wells originated. The object of an artesian well is to have water rise by the mere pressure of water. This is found upon the level of physics: "that water seeks its own level." Thus the contractor at Mr. Billaud will dig until he strikes a vein of water, which has its head in some mountains, the mountains of Virginia, or further yet.

Now suppose the mountains be 300 or 400 feet higher than our surface, when we shall strike the vein of water from the mountain, the pressure of the source way up, will cause the mouth of the reservoir to rise naturally in a jet more or less strong, according to the strength of the vein. The only difficulty will be to strike one of these veins from the mountains. But geologists pretend that such veins are interspersed all about in the ground, though sometimes we have to bore quite deep before striking them. We have been told that the contractor at Mr. Billaud's does not promise to give a well that will force the water up; he does not believe it necessary. The needed requisite is a reservoir of water that cannot be exhausted by steam power, and this he will reach at a depth of from 300 to 400 feet. Being an expert he can very accurately tell, by the different layers of ground, at what depth he will find the reservoir.

The process by which the well is dug is called the "hydraulic process;" water does all the work. There must be plenty of water to furnish steam for the boiler, in order to dig up the well. In fact the work had to be stopped at 275 feet because all the working water had been exhausted. The water is taken from the reservoir and forced by steam, through pipes, up a tower about 50 feet high, and thence forced down another pipe to the bottom of the hole, which is being bored. This water force, and its weight, naturally disintegrate the ground and causes it to melt into soft mud and by moving the pipe in a semi-circle, the ground and water are forced up outside the pipe by the same power which forces the water inside. Thus, at the same time, as the water inside the pipe is boring the well, the water outside the pipe carries off the dirt and forces it up to the surface. The pipe of Mr. Billaud's well is a three-inch one.

By the hydraulic process as much as 150 feet are bored in one day, provided no obstacles be struck. But often rocks, etc., are struck and sometimes trunks of trees.

At a depth of 100 feet the contractor struck upon some pieces of rocks, among other things an oyster shell, and he availed himself of the occasion to express his belief that, at a remote time all this southern territory was an ocean bed, which became high land by one of those mighty convulsions of nature, which may turn a continent upside down. With the good prospects of shortly obtaining the prime factor of his mill Mr. Billaud will be ready to fulfill his contracts already made and would invite those who wish to contract for their cane to keep him informed.

Our young druggist, Mr. J. M. Olivier, left the firm of Latouais & Estorge to accept a position with Dr. Gouaux at Thibodaux. Mr. Paul Fleming, of St. Martinsville, replaces him.

Mr. Henry Fournet, the efficient clerk of Mr. J. A. Roy, leaves his position as clerk to open a cash store at this place, in partnership with Mr. Louis Gary, of New Orleans. Mr. Emile Charbonnet has been employed as clerk at Mr. Roy's.

M. Billaud, Jr., and Andre Billaud went in the direction of Arnaudville last Sunday.

A soiree dansante was given at Mr. Adolphe Girouard last Saturday; quite a charming crowd of young ladies and gentlemen enjoyed the hospitality of their hostesses, Misses Emma and Editha.

A ball will be given at St. Julien's Hall next Saturday, April 22. Mr. D. M. Landry, manager, extends a cordial invitation to the public. Music will be furnished by the Broussardville String Band.

Messrs. J. G. St. Julien, A. Olivier and R. U. Bernard compose the board of trustees appointed by the School Board, for the Broussardville school; whilst Messrs. N. Reaux, A. Boutel and Darms Landry will take charge of the Common school. Should the plan meet with the willingness of the parties appointed, it will greatly contribute towards the welfare of public education, encouraging the scholars to pursue their studies with more eagerness.
