

DIED.
Lafayette, La., June 14, 1900.—The Texas Farmer's Congress will be in session July 3, 4 and 5, at College Station—ninety-five miles north of Houston, on the Houston and Texas Central Railroad.

Every farmer within five hundred miles should attend, for it will not only be one of the greatest literary treats of the decade with its numerous excellent papers, on cotton, rice, cane, corn, tobacco and small grain culture, combined with numerous most valuable papers on truck farming, market gardening, fruit raising, the dairy, fine stock, irrigation, etc., and these papers are all from men who are practical in the superlative degree—men of broad experience, who have made success of life themselves, and are therefore prepared to teach others.

Men who are in many instances, making from $1000 to $3000 on forty acres of land, and can tell others how to do the same.

Along by the side of the man who will tell you how to grow cotton and corn to the best advantage will be the man who will tell you how to make $300 per acre on plums, from $200 to $300 per acre on peaches and from $200 to $500 per acre on pears. And near by will stand the man who will tell you how to make from $50 to $300 per acre on sweet pepper, and from $200 to $300 per acre on tomatoes. In the crowd will stand the man who will be eager to get to the front and tell you how easy it is to clear from $500 to $2000 per acre raising and selling cape jasmine buds. You will meet many of the brainiest and most cultured men of every sphere in life. You will meet brilliant writers and speakers from four States. You will see the cream of the agricultural products of the State. You will see the finest fruit display that it is possible for Texas, Arkansas and the Territory of Oklahoma to furnish, which simply means the best that there will be in the United States. You will see some of the best stock, not only in the United States, but some of the best in the world.

You will see the mineral wealth of Texas. You will see Texas in miniature.

You will meet highly intelligent men from every locality in the State, who will acquaint you with the soil, the climate, the mineral wealth and the social and educational advantages of one of the most remarkable States in the Union.

You will get all the mental food you can digest in twelve months and will say on your return, as the Queen of Sheba did concerning the wisdom of Solomon—"That the one half had not been told." Go, or you will miss a golden opportunity, and may regret it for a life time. After the congress in a three hours run we will reach the Marlin Hot Wells and spend a few days. This is the most wonderful hot water in the world.

Many of the most obstinate cases of rheumatism, eczema and dyspepsia, after having resisted various minerals have been quickly cured by Marlin's hot water. These wells are 3,350 feet deep with a daily flow of 180,000 gallons and temperature of 147 degrees Fahrenheit. Its waters are 34 degrees hotter than those of the celebrated resort of France—Aix La Baine—and 16 degrees hotter than Prussia's world renowned resort—Anachen—and its cures are almost miraculous.

The railroads promise very cheap rates, so cheap, they say, that they will attract every one, and we will start off on the 2nd of July. Excellent board can be procured at College Station and at Marlin for $1.00 per day.

NOTE—The above from the Opelousas Tribune was handed us by Mr. Ezekiel Mixer with the request that it be published.

Jenkins pure, sweet cream always on hand, at Moss Pharmacy.

Crossing on Second Street.
Superintendent Owens appeared before the Council last Monday evening to confer with that body in regard to the opening of a crossing on Second street. Mr. Owens is naturally opposed to the opening of a new crossing, but he has expressed a willingness to agree to it provided the railroad company is permitted to build a switch along Grant avenue. It appears that this switch would greatly facilitate the unloading of freight and many of the local merchants are in favor of it for that reason. A committee, composed of Messrs. Hoborst, Girard and C. O. Mouton, was appointed to meet Mr. Owens and to visit the grounds and report to the Council at its next meeting upon the advisability or infeasibility of allowing the railroad company to build a switch on Grant avenue. We understand the committee is of the opinion that Mr. Owens' request can be complied with without incommencing the public. Although it would seem that the railroad company can be compelled to give the crossing without any concession on the part of the town it is best that the question should be settled in a manner that will prove satisfactory to both sides.

The Gazette was shown the picture of the carriage which was awarded the first prize at the flower show of the State Fair recently held in New Orleans. This beautiful specimen of floral decoration was the handiwork of the Mount Carmel Orphan Asylum of which Sister Angelica is the mother superior. Sister Angelica, who is the daughter of our townsman, Mr. A. T. Callouet, has been highly complimented by the New Orleans press for this splendid contribution to the flower show of the State Fair. The picture of the carriage, which no doubt presents but an imperfect reproduction of the work, is an evidence of the industry and good taste of Sister Angelica. The prize awarded by the Fair Association was $1000.

After many delays Mr. Pugh of Acadia finally introduced in the House last night his bill regulating the irrigation canals of the State. The bill declares that the use of all water in bayous, lakes and rivers in this State for the purpose of irrigation is a public use, and a right to collect rates or compensation for the use of such water is a franchise. Hereafter no greater rate shall be charged for the rental, sale, or distribution of water for the purpose of irrigation than one-fifth of the crop, or three dollars per acre when money is demanded. Suppliers of water shall be compelled to sell, rent or distribute it to such persons cultivating land within three miles of their main canal or laterals as offer to comply with the usual terms and conditions imposed by the suppliers (such water to be furnished to the extent of the actual supply of the person, association or corporation distributing it), or as shall make a cash tender of the maximum price per acre for the number of acres to be watered. Wherever there is a charge in excess of the maximum allowed in the bill, the person overcharged shall be entitled to recover the rate so collected, together with the actual damages sustained and attorney's fees, to be fixed by the court. Where a supplier of water fails or refuses within ten days to furnish it, under the conditions imposed by the bill, the person aggrieved shall have the right to claim damages, without the necessity of showing more than the mere proof of the demand or tender, and reasonable attorney's fees. If a supplier fails to furnish a sufficient quantity of water required for the crop and a contract has been made the supplier shall be liable in damages for failure to comply with the contract, and no putting in default shall be necessary, but damages can be used for and recovered without such legal formality, together with reasonable attorney's fees, and the failure to supply sufficient water shall be prima facie evidence of negligence on the part of the supplier. Other provisions of the bill are as follow:

Sec. 6. Be it further enacted, etc., No contract between the supplier and of water a right to judge when the water is to be supplied, or the quantity thereof; nor shall any contract contain a stipulation requiring notice in writing of the demand for water, or the number of days aforesaid water shall be delivered, nor shall the suppliers of water be permitted to select their share of the crop from the total gathered, but shall be compelled to receive proportionately their share of the crop.

Sec. 7. That any corporation organized for the purpose of irrigating the lands of others failing or refusing to supply water to the extent of its ability so to do to any one, under the terms of Section 3, or with whom it has contracted to furnish water, or violating any of the other provisions hereof, shall forfeit its charter and the district attorney in said district where the corporation is domiciled shall, upon the relation of not less than five interested parties, bring suit to forfeit same; and upon proof of said charges the charter shall be annulled. Its property sold by the court, and ten per cent of the proceeds shall go to the district attorney for his fees, and fifteen per cent to the school board; the balance to be returned to the stockholders.

Sec. 8. No person, association, company or corporation engaged in supplying water to others shall first irrigate its own land or lands belonging to the individual stockholders of said company or association to the exclusion of the property of other parties with whom contracts have been made, but the water shall be fairly and impartially distributed upon the lands of all.

Sec. 9. That no person, company, association or corporation selling, renting or distributing water for irrigation shall be permitted to exercise any control as to the use of the water after it has been conveyed, leased or distributed of such water.

Sec. 10. That the provisions of this act shall in no manner effect or impair the rights of riparian proprietors or other persons for the use of waters now secured to them by existing laws.

Mr. Sontag, Solotist.
In the last number of Harlequin Stede Bonnet pays the following compliment to Mr. Sontag, the cornetist:

Mr. Florent Sontag, the cornetist, was a conspicuous part of Band-master Paolotti's very tasteful and entertaining musical programmes on Sunday and Tuesday evenings last, rendering solos. Harlequin has predicted a brilliant future for this cornetist, and these first essays before a New Orleans audience as a soloist, in the concert, convinced the judicious of the solid foundation for this prophesy. Mr. Sontag phrases with exquisite taste. His tone is as sweet as the caress of a mother's voice. There is none of the flashy display of the Levit music which work, but there is music—music which would be as much in place and as beautiful in the solitude of deep woods or by the side of the sea, as before a great audience. The thought is suggested by a story I once heard related about Levi. This technical master of the instrument was once telling a musician of his greatness when the other asked him, "How do you think, sire, your cornet would sound in the quiet of the woods where the birds are making their music?"

The thought of the connection between nature and music was possibly lost on Levi, but it comes back to one as he listens to Sontag. He will figure among the great cornetists, or I mistake me much.

Among the latest books received at the Moss Pharmacy you will find "The Pride of Jennico," and "Wild Animals I Have Known." Both of these are late books by popular authors, and among the best selling books of the day, and the most talked about.
