Hon. J. B. Elam, present member of Congress from the 6th District, and Democratic candidate for re-election, fell from the stage near Keachi, and was seriously injured.

The season so far has been very favorable for gathering the cotton crop.

G. W. Warren is an independent candidate for the Legislature in Webster parish.

There are many books at the post-office which will be found both cheap and interesting.

The Acklen scandal has been investigated by a committee of Republicans and a committee of Democrats.

We observe in the Shreveport Times of Sunday last, that eight hundred and thirty-three bales of cotton crossed the river from the east in the preceding five days.

W. J. Taylor wants only two lines this week about groceries and so on.

Look out if Willie Ellington does not soon astonish the natives by something new and rare in his line.

Mr. A. Sour, No. 38 Texas street, Shreveport, Louisiana, is winning golden opinions from all those who want the best of queensware, hardware, crockery, stoves, &c., at the lowest prices.

We desire to call the especial attention of our readers to the card of Gregg & Ford, which appears among our new advertisements this week.

The highest cash price paid for Hides Tailow and Beeswax, by W. H. ELLINGTON.

NOTICE is hereby given to all interested, that I have appointed B. A. BUDGES as my duly authorized agent to attend to the settlement of any and all business connected with the estate and succession of my late husband, A. McCranie.

N. W. Murphy has been nominated by the Republicans of Shreveport for Mayor of that city.

ONE Block from Railroad Depot; one and a half blocks from Steamboat Landing. New Building four stories high, with all modern improvements and conveniences.

Next Wednesday is positively the last day that the Registrar's office will be open.

There seems at present to be no hope that the quarantine will be raised soon.

We have had no reports from the cane crop this fall.

We are told that a young man rode eighteen miles the other day to register.

You must vote in your own ward.

We are in receipt of a contribution in verse, from Haynesville, which it is unnecessary to publish.

Now that the Democracy of Caddo have nominated Maj. Moncreur for the Legislature, we hope that they will elect him, and show their nomination to be no empty honor.

But on "general principles" we would like to see our friends—to talk with them about parochial affairs—about the crops, the schools, the churches, and all those matters which are of interest to all people alike.

It affords us great pleasure to be able to announce to the people of Claiborne parish and of North Louisiana, that the prospects of Homer College are brighter than ever known before.

Register! Register! Register!!!

OBITUARY.

DIED—Near Atlanta, Ark., on the 24th September, 1878, Mrs. ELLA BURSON COLEMAN, wife of W. J. Coleman.

She had the misfortune to lose her father only about a year ago, and a short time before her demise little Johny, her only child, was torn from her embrace by the chilling hand of death.

The deceased was raised in this parish, and received her education partly under the instruction of the writer of this notice. We knew her well, and she is remembered by all her teachers as a bright and tractable student, and by her associates as a genial and kind-hearted companion.

Christianity displays its beauties in the wonderful reformations it has wrought, in the elevated tone it has given to society, in the wholesome influence it has exerted on political governments, in the corruptions it has thrown over the homes and wastes of earth, and in the effluence it has shed on the path of humanity; but all of these are incomparable to the hope that animates the christian in the hour of death.

Her heart-stricken husband, and her bereaved mother, are all the surviving members of the family; to these we extend, in behalf of a large circle of friends, our sympathy and condolence.

Go wing thy flight from star to star, From world to world, as far As the flaming universe spreads it wall, Take all the pleasures of all the spheres, Multiply each through endless years, One moment of Heaven is worth them all.

Where sickness, sorrow and death Are felt and feared no more.

MARY ELIZABETH HARRISON, daughter of John W. and Pamela C. Harrison, deceased, was born March 25th, 1861—was married to B. H. Bays Dec. 11, 1877, and died Oct. 9th, 1878, after 48 hours of the most intense suffering, though mostly in an unconscious state.

She was a consistent member of the Methodist Church, and we doubt not has gone to be with sainted ones that left her an orphan.
