The NEW YORK WEEKLY has now engaged a force of talent that cannot be rivalled by any establishment in the World.

GENERAL CHARACTER OF THE N. Y. WEEKLY.

The NEW YORK WEEKLY is designed more especially as a First-Class Story and Sketch Paper, in which we intend to give our readers a succession of

The Best Stories and Sketches ever Published in the United States.

The aim and object of these productions will be to inculcate useful knowledge under the pleasing guise of fiction, or to teach great moral lessons through the same means. We shall never publish a word or line, the tendency of which is to injure the morals or taste of the reader. Every issue of the NEW YORK WEEKLY will contain short Sketches of Life and Manners, Notings of Travel and Adventure, Short Stories, General Summary of Events, Humorous Gleamings, Poetry, Editorials, etc., etc.

We desire especially to call attention to our 'Knowledge Box,' our 'Notices to Correspondents,' our 'Pleasant Paragraphs,' our 'Items of Interest,' our 'Mirthful Morrels,' and our 'German Without a Master,' a series of lessons designed to render the German language plain to the commonest understanding.

Our 'Knowledge Box' is alone worth the price of the paper. It contains weekly about fifty different invaluable recipes, covering the whole ground of useful knowledge; and it not unfrequently happens that the reader will come across one recipe which is sworn to him the price of ten year's subscription.

Our 'Answers to Correspondents,' also, are full of valuable information.

And hundreds have already acquired a very respectable knowledge of the German language from the study of our plainly put German lessons.

Our Terms with Persons Forming Clubs.

To any single subscriber who will send us two dollars for one year's subscription, we will send the New York Weekly and the Pictorial Phunney Pellow, the latter a magnificent comic pictorial sheet of sixteen pages, published monthly, filled with sparkling witticisms and queer conceits, and in which are comically illustrated all the current events of the day.

$3 for two subscribers will ensure the sender a premium of a 25 cent book. $6 for four subscribers will ensure books or jewelry to the value of $1. $12 for 8 subscribers will ensure jewelry to the value of $2. $15 for 10 subscribers will ensure jewelry to the value of $3. $18 for 12 subscribers will ensure jewelry to the value of $4. $24 for 24 subscribers will ensure jewelry to the value of $10. $72 for 48 subscribers will ensure jewelry to the value of $30.

To any one sending us one hundred and fifty dollars for one hundred subscribers during the winter, we will send them one of Wheeler & Wilson's beautiful Family Sewing Machines worth fifty dollars each.

The following is a list of the different articles of Jewelry from which selections for premiums can be made.

Gold Pencil Cases, Sleeve Buttons, Gold Pens, Gold and Silver Thimbles, Gold Lockets, Ladies' and Gents' Gold Breast Pins, Gold Ear and Finger Rings, Brooches, Bracelets, Studs, Neck Chains, Vest Chains, Fob Chains, Watches, Ladies' and Gents' Pearl Pins, Gold Crosses; in fact almost any article of Jewelry which can be mentioned.

Those entitled to premiums should be careful to select some article which will not be likely to cost more than the amount of their premium.

Every article will be sent on the day ordered, and it will be just what it is represented to be.

The New York Weekly

has been long enough before the people to satisfy them that these offers are made in good faith, and that our engagements will be faithfully met. Our paper is not one of a mushroom growth, but it has proved its claim to vitality and solidity by a long and prosperous career, and it now stands at the very head of the list of papers of its class.

Our friends must be careful to whom they entrust their money for subscriptions, as we, of course, can take no risk. If the money is mailed to us, our obligations shall be strictly kept, but of course we cannot be responsible if subscribers entrust their money to swindlers.

Persons sending us letters should be particular to state the Town, County and State; also, name the particular article or articles they may desire.

All letters and communications, in relation to the Editorial or Business Departments of The New York Weekly, must be addressed to STREET & SMITH, Editors and Proprietors, 28 Beekman street, New York.

Specimen copies sent free. To Post-Masters. Will not Post-Masters and others of our friends throughout the country, if they cannot use the above to their own advantage, hand it to their wives, daughters, son, clerks, or some unemployed friend, who would find getting up Clubs for THE NEW YORK WEEKLY, a lucrative business; with the great attractions offered, the formation of Clubs cannot fail to prove an easy thing. dec56m
