

BAD CASE OF GRIP

Caused Sore Throat and Tonsillitis. Restored by Peruna.

Mr. W. H. Housley, Stony Point, Tennessee, writes:

"Five years ago I took a very severe cold which resulted in la grippe. I never was so bad off. I was in bed several weeks, and when I did get up I had tonsillitis and sore throat.

Mr. W. H. Housley.

"I tried to cure this for eighteen months, but it gradually got worse. A doctor advised me to have my tonsils cut out, but I did not like the idea. Another doctor examined me, and told me the same thing. I finally got a bottle of Peruna, and after I had taken one bottle my throat was better. I bought and used a dozen bottles, and saw I was going to get well, and I did."

WAS TAKING NO CHANCES

Chauffeur Had Had Enough Accidents With People Wearing False Teeth.

Pretty Thais X, who has delighted the audiences of New York's vaudeville houses, was called suddenly to Vermont to visit her sick mother. At a town a few miles from her parent's home she hired an automobile and asked the chauffeur to drive her with as much speed as possible to her destination.

The roads were very bad, and the car, making good speed up hill and down dale, over rocks and ruts, seemed bound to shake overboard its occupants.

After a little of this jolting the chauffeur turned to his fare and demanded:

"I say, ma'am. Do you wear false teeth?"

"What impudence!" exclaimed Thais X.

"Oh, ma'am, it is not from impudence," returned the chauffeur, "that I asked you the question. It is because the road is bad, the rocks are hard, and if you wear false teeth, you would do well to remove them until we strike the pike. I've had enough accidents of that description."

The Reason.

"I know a woman who never gossips about her neighbors."

"Get out. You don't!"

"Yes, I do. She's dumb."

OLD FORT GEORGE

Interior of Maine Fortress Is Now a Ball Ground.

Historic Earthworks Built by the British in 1779 and Named in Honor of England's King—Outlines Still Visible.

Augusta, Me.—Ancient Pentagon, better known as Castine, situated on the eastern side of Penobscot bay and river, is one of the most prominent historic spots in Maine today. It has preserved the well-marked traces of the works of the past and no small settlement has within its borders so many earthworks and old forts. Foremost among the earthworks is Fort George, situated on the high land in the center of the peninsula. It was built by the British in June, 1779, and was named Fort George in honor of his majesty, George III. The fort is tetragonal in form with a bastion at each of the four angles. The bastion where was located the magazine was fully occupied by it, the entrances being made of arch passages of brick, which may be seen today, covered with mortar, and over them a layer of logs with a heavy covering of earth.

According to tradition and history, it was from these same barracks that Gen. Peleg Wadsworth escaped when held a prisoner in 1780, after being captured by the English at his home in Thomaston and taken to Castine, where he was confined for a long time. Following the departure of the British from Castine in 1815 the Americans took possession of the fort and the government had it repaired, strengthened and garrisoned, new barracks taking the place of those used by the British. The interior of the fort has long been used by the boys as a ball ground. The foundations of the old barracks are still visible.

History says that it was in this old fort that the gibbet was erected on which both Ball and Elliott were hanged. Both names were well known in the early period of Maine. The palisades, the barracks, the munitious of war and its buildings have all disappeared, but otherwise the old fort remains practically the same as when the British left it.

In early February of 1780, while the country was in a session of quietude following the conflicts of the preceding fall, General Campbell, then in charge of the garrison at Fort George, learning that his hated American foe, Gen. Peleg Wadsworth, was at his home on the St. George river in Thomaston, determined to make him a prisoner. The British general hearing that his only guard was six soldiers, he detailed Lieutenant Stockton with a force of twenty-five men to make the capture. A sharp sanguinary fight took place, in which several of the British soldiers were killed and wounded.

The news of the capture preceded the detachment on their return to Castine. The story is here told that General Campbell sent his compliments to General Wadsworth and a surgeon to dress his wounds, assuring him that his situation would be made comfortable. He was furnished with books and allowed to receive visitors. He dined with the commandant and met all the principal officers of the garrison.

It was not long before General Wadsworth made application for a flag of truce, by which means he could transmit a letter to the governor of Massachusetts and another to Mrs. Wadsworth. This was granted on the condition that the letter to the governor should be inspected.

General Wadsworth's escape followed soon after. In company with Major Benjamin Burton he bribed their water carrier and from him received a gimlet. They bored holes in the boards of the side of their barracks, covering the holes with chewed bread. One stormy night they cut their way out with a knife and escaped. For miles they were forced to go through the then wilderness, crossing the river to Stockton, thence south through Belfast, Northport and Rockland to Thomaston. The fort was finally vacated in 1815.

Petrified Woman 900 Pounds

Bellevue, O.—One of the most remarkable cases of petrification ever on record was discovered here when the body of Mrs. J. W. Overly, who died 18 years ago, was exhumed at the Roundhead cemetery. The body and coffin had petrified and were hard to move owing to the weight reaching nearly 900 pounds. Mrs. Overly was a small woman. At burial both she and the coffin did not weigh as much as 200 pounds. The petrification is said to be perfect.

MEMORY BAD MIND GOING

But Mrs. Perry of Rolita, Built Up Her Shattered Nervous System By Taking Cardui.

Rolita, Tenn.—"I suffered with sick headache for three years," says Mrs. Lizzie Perry, in a letter from this place. "I was so nervous at times, I could hardly bear it.

I had the blues, and everybody thought I was losing my mind. My memory was bad. I had pains in my side, and I was hardly able to go.

I would have been in my grave if I had not taken Cardui. Now I am stronger than I ever was before, and I feel like a new person.

I am thankful for what Cardui has done for me. I wish all women who suffer would take Cardui, and be happy and healthy."

Cardui's success in benefiting and curing sick and ailing women, is due to the fact that it is a building tonic for the nerves, as well as for the physical system.

Being composed exclusively of vegetable ingredients, which act gently and sympathetically in a natural way, it does its work safely, reliably, and without bad after effects.

Fifty years of success prove these facts.

Isn't it reasonable to believe that Cardui will help you? Ask your druggist.

It is certainly worth trying.

EYES WOULD BURN AND STING

"It is just a year ago that my sister came over here to us. She had been here only a few weeks when her eyes began to be red, and to burn and sting as if she had sand in them. Then we used all of the home remedies. She washed her eyes with salt water, used hot tea to bathe them with, and bandaged them over night with tea leaves, but all to no purpose. She went to the drug store and got some salve, but she grew constantly worse. She was scarcely able to look in the light. At last she decided to go to a doctor, because she could hardly work any more. The doctor said it was a very severe disease, and if she did not follow his orders closely she might lose her eyesight. He made her eyes burn and applied electricity to them, and gave her various ointments. In the two and a half or three months that she went to the doctor, we could see very little improvement.

"Then we had read so much how people had been helped by Cuticura that we thought we would try it, and we cannot be thankful enough that we used it. My sister used the Cuticura Pills for purifying the blood, bathed only with Cuticura Soap, and at night after washing, she anointed her eyes very gently on the outside with the Cuticura Ointment. In one week, the swelling was entirely gone from the eyes, and after a month there was no longer any mucus or watering of the eyes. She could already see better, and in six weeks she was cured." ## All Snakes Are Killers.

But all snakes, great and small, are killers. All of them eat creatures which they slay. None eat vegetable food of any kind. Nor will they eat animals which they find dead. That is one reason, no doubt, why they have always been shunned and dreaded by human beings.

Barmaids in South Australia.

South Australia is suffering from a barmaid famine. Two years ago barmaids were abolished in that state by act of parliament. No more could be legally engaged, but those already employed could remain on condition that they registered themselves.
