The four agricultural experiment stations, Crowley, Calhoun, Audubon and Baton Rouge, together with the extension department, of the Louisiana state university, have the largest and most varied exhibits ever placed on display in the agricultural building; according to George L. Tiebout, L. S. U. horticulturist and superintendent of the combined exhibits.

Specimens of the leading varieties of pecans, Schley, Stuart, Success, Pabst and Honeymaker, all grown in Louisiana, are on display by B. Szymoniak, assistant horticulturist of the university extension department, various types of sprayers, pruning devices, an dalso nursery stock furnished by the Jennings nurseries. Mr. Szymoniak also has several specimens of pecan grafting, demonstrating how worthless trees can be turned into valuable ones by grafting with good stock. These are the property of A. P. Jackson, of Shreveport.

The horticultural department of the experiment station and extension division has charts showing the value of Louisiana horticultural crops, which, according to the 1920 census, amounted to $22,000,000. Farm gardens show a value of about $7,000,000, or $51 per farm, which amount should be doubled, says Mr. Tiebout.

Growers of Irish potatoes are being chiefly attracted by the display of certified seed having a low percentage of mosaic disease, which causes thousands of dollars of damage to the potato crop each year. There are eight of the leading strains of certified Triumph seed from Wisconsin and three from Nebraska. Specimens of the Triumph, Irish Cobbler and Splashing Rose No. 4, grown at the experiment station last spring show the value of planting certified seed.

Home Grown Seed Best
Prof. A. F. Kidder, of the Baton Rouge experiment station is featuring Patterson Rustproof oats, showing that it pays to use seed grown in the state for the best results. An experiment showing the maturing of soy beans planted in March, April, May and July, all of which matured at the same time, with the exception that the earlier planting made a more prolific growth, while those planted later were more heavily fruited.

The Calhoun exhibit of various farm crops is in charge of G. D. Cain, while J. M. Jenkins of Crowley is featuring the five new varieties of rice grown at the Crowley station. They are the Acadia, Tokalon, Deltus, Vintula and Fortuna.

Various pictures showing the injury done to grain by the corn weevil, is exhibited by T. H. Jones of the department of entomology, and Dr. C. W. Edgerton of the department of pathology is showing specimens and pictures of the tomato wilt disease, as well as diseased straw-berries and the mosaic disease of the Irish potato.

E. M. Barber of the federal department of entomology of the New Orleans experiment station is showing plants susceptible to the newly-discovered camphor scale that is causing thousands of dollars loss in the vicinity of New Orleans, also how to control the cotton cushion scale and the Argentine ant. The various methods of syrup clarification are brought out by several jars of syrup from the sugar experiment station.

No one passes the sweet potato exhibit, which is in charge of M. Hull of the horticultural department, without asking him to explain the wonderful growth of the potato industry during the past few years, and the methods of curing and shipping to distant markets.

Dr. M. Gardiner of Bristol, motored to Opelousas on Thursday in his new Buick roadster to attend to business.

FOCH TO FOLLOW BUS SCHEDULE IN SEEING MICHIGAN

Hero Will Visit Camp Custer, Ann Arbor and Detroit Same Day

Detroit, Nov. 6.—Michigan tonight was awaiting eagerly the coming of Marshal Foch, who tomorrow will be the guest of the state at Camp Custer, near battle Creek, at Ann Arbor and at Detroit, where a series of ceremonies are planned in his honor.

Marshal Foch is due to reach Camp Custer, training grounds of the Eighty-fifth Division from Chicago.

The fortnightly dance at the imperial hotel, attended by many prominent Japanese and other gatherings throughout the city, was summarily suspended as the sad news was spread.

Charles B. Warren, American ambassador, issued a statement expressing his sympathy with Japan in the loss of one of its foremost leaders. His death, Mr. Warren said, was nothing short of a calamity, coming at this particular time. It was fortunate, he added, Japan has a group of men who could be depended upon to steer a safe course in the difficult period confronting the nation.

The Marquis Saionji arrived here today from Kioto and conferred with Marquis Matsukata, lord keeper of the privy seal, on the subject of formation of a new cabinet.

Field Marshal Prince Yamagata, one of the elder statesmen and member of the military council of the empire, was unable to attend the conference, owing to illness. He is at his villa in the Odowara, where Marquis Matsukata is expected to proceed immediately. It is regarded as unlikely there will be any announcement of the formation of a new cabinet until after this visit.

Speculation over the prospective head of the cabinet still centers on Marquis Saionji, but it is regarded as a question whether he will accept Viscount Makino, minister of the imperial household, is among those mentioned for the post.

Miss Evelyn Lewis, Vincent Boagni, Albert Clary, Nick Halphen.

Agents Busy During Week

A pig club boy from Rapides parish reports to B. V. Baker, club agent that since November, 1920, he has grown 2,200 pounds of meat from his club sow and sold the meat for $220. The expenses incurred during the growing process amounted to $46, thereby leaving a profit of $174 for the young boy. The success of this undertaking has made an enthusiastic hog raiser out of this club boy, said Mr. Baker.

Quite a number of farmers in Rapides parish have been induced to feed Biloxi soy beans to their milk cows by W. H. Humble, farm agent, and as a result some interesting results have been attained. One man wrote that he put 15 cows on his Biloxi beans and that they produced eight gallons more of milk; another reported that he put five cows that were producing four gallons of milk on Biloxi beans and that within about a week they had increased to nine gallons.

Attending three community fairs this week and acting as judge, visiting schools in the interest of enrolling club children, assisting a farmer in the sale of his syrup and vaccinating hogs kept J. V. Rabb, farm agent in Washington parish, very busy this past week. In finding a market for the syrup, the agent was able to get a price of 60 cents the gallon in place of the price, 35 cents, which the local market was offering.

both with $10.50; Tangpaha, twelfth, $9.50; Washington and Lafourche, thirteenth, $8.50.
