IN REPLY TO "A JEW."

Editor CLARION.—Please publish the following communication in answer to a card that appeared in the Courier of September 1st.

The reason I send it to your paper is because the Courier wished me to pay for it as it was a personal communication:

Editor Courier.—The following communication appeared in your paper of the 1st instant:

"I have been reliably informed by Mr. R. Lee Garland and Mr. W. W. Bailey, that Mr. M. L. Swords, in discussing the present political situation of the Parish of St. Landry, stated in a public bar-room, that the negro and intended to prevent that race from voting by force of might, and that the next object of their attention would be the Jews." [Signed] "A JEW."

I would not notice this squib, were it not for the fact that it was evidently written and published for the purpose of placing me and the white supremacy advocates in a false position before the public. The brain that conceived the idea of making political capital against white supremacy league, out of a jocular bar-room conversation, was not the "A Jew" who signed the card. The intention of seizing onto this trivial incident, and pushing it into the papers was to make the public believe that the white supremacy advocates intended to prevent the negroes from voting by force, and that they intended then to attack the Jews. These assertions are put in my lips to give them plausibility.

Assuming that in what I did say, I represented the white supremacy advocates, "A Jew" challenges those politicians who are now bent on the destruction of all classes of men, who oppose their imperial rule, to commence their "unlawful crusade" upon the Jews of Opelousas. I want to say right here, that this talk about a war on the Jews has been started and kept up by just such fellows as the one that instigated the writing of that card, and I want to say further that I never assume to speak for the party that I belong to. On the occasion in question and at all other times I have spoken for myself alone, and for my utterances I am alone responsible.

Now, for what did occur on the occasion alluded to, because the report which "A Jew" says was given him by R. Lee Garland and W. W. Bailey, is both a garbled and a false report of what I did say.

In the course of a jocular bandying of words, which took place between Mr. Garland and myself, and to which there were several witnesses, besides himself and W. W. Bailey and quite as credible as they, Garland inquired of me if we intended to prevent the negroes from voting, by what he termed the "force of might." I answered "by force of—" and here he interrupted—"that is just what I wanted you to acknowledge"—allowing me then to finish my sentence, by the words of circumstances. My corrected answer as to how the negroes were to be prevented from voting being—"by force of circumstances."

Garland then said he had understood that when we got through with the negroes we intended to turn our attention to the Jews. I answered that we had no such intention, but, as I saw what he was driving at, I did say for his benefit, that if Jew, Gentile, Indian or Mongolian, undertook in the future to force upon the white people of this parish a corruptible, purchasable negro vote, they would be stopped, as he well knew everything would have to go down before the "white man." That is what I said, and I repeat it here in cold type. As for the Jews I have not said anything about them as a race, nor have my political friends as far as I know, I have warm friends among them, and some of them are among the most zealous supporters of the white supremacy movement to which I belong.

If any such remarks have been made, they have been levelled at those Jews who have publicly aligned themselves against the white supremacy movement, and on the side of keeping up the negro vote as a power to decide our parish politics. I should say before finishing this reply, which I regret being compelled to make, that at the time of the conversation with Mr. Garland, I had been engaged in an effort to render him a personal service for which he expressed his appreciation, and my surprise is all the greater at his permitting the use of his name as authority for the publication of so garbled a report of a private conversation. I will say for his benefit that if his zeal in the pursuit of his chosen profession was as great, as his efforts in behalf of those who are struggling to keep up negro influence in St. Landry parish, he might attain more eminence than by parading himself before the public, as a bar-room reporter for "A Jew."

As for young Bailey, I advise him that sticking to his law books and minding his own business, will be more useful to him and more honorable, than repeating and distorting private conversations, which he happened by accident to hear between others, and which in no way concern him.

White Supremacy Meetings.

AT FAQUETAQUE.

On Saturday, the 1st inst., the good people of Faquetaque numbering about one thousand assembled near Reed's Bridge for the purpose of hearing the objects and purposes of the White Supremacy movement discussed.

A platform had been erected under the shade of century oaks and soughing pines, above which hung a beautiful design with letters in black upon white cloth bearing the words: "White Supremacy." Below, upon a line with the platform and stretched across this point, was another piece of cotton cloth lettered as the first, bearing these words: "United we stand, divided we fall."

Every one present agreed this was very appropriate, and in a few words outlined our object and purposes. We understand that Mr. Armand Stagg was the draughtsman of the above, and we take pleasure in commending him upon his foresight and skill in the execution thereof.

Long before the speaking commenced people were concentrating at the point designated for the meeting, and they did not cease arriving until near 1 p. m. At about 11:30 p. m. the meeting was called to order by Mr. A. L. Fontenot, who had been chosen to introduce the speakers. He called upon Mr. Ursin Miller, Jr., to act as President of the meeting, with the following named persons as Vice-Presidents: Olibe Manuel, Honore Fuselier, Acdeol Fontenot, Landry Bougeau, Don Louis Fontenot, Henry P. Fontenot, Dr. Wm. Childs, and others whose names we can not recall.

Judge Cullom was the first speaker, and addressed the meeting in French. He was followed by Messrs. Irion, Swords and Frazee, who spoke in English, and G. L. Dupre, who addressed the audience in the French language. The addresses were attentively listened to, and judging from the applause bestowed upon the speakers, the readiness with which the voters enlisted in the movement, there can be no doubt that the seed sown that day by the disciples of White Supremacy were planted in fertile soil, and will yield an abundant harvest.

At the conclusion of Mr. Dupre's address dinner was announced. In well-ordered ranks the audience repaired to the tables, and everybody was served to nice juicy beef and mutton with bread in abundance. We never ate better meats. It was as juicy and tender as I baked in an oven at home. Two beaves, 18 sheep and 250 loaves of bread were disposed of in feeding the multitude, exclusive of the many baskets brought on the grounds by the neighboring people. The rain which had begun to fall at the close of Mr. Dupre's address continued throughout dinner, and for a while after, and this put an end to the speech making, which was to have been resumed by Mr. John N. Ogden and others.

An Auxiliary League was then organized, with Mr. Ursin Miller as President, Olibe Manuel Vice-President, Landry Bougeau Secretary, and Armand Stagg Treasurer, and over one hundred members. The arrangement committee who got up the meeting and so successfully carried out their undertaking was composed of the following well-known public spirited gentlemen, viz: Honore Fuselier, Dr. M. D. Lewis, Landry Bougeau, Olibe Manuel, Ursin Miller, Durel Miller, Theogene Reed, Francois Reed, Emile Hebert, Mentor Guillory, Armand Stagg, and others, whose names we can not recall.

We can not close this report without returning our thanks to the good people of the neighborhood for the unstinted hospitality and universal kindness with which they greeted their guests from Opelousas and all other points of the parish who were in attendance at the meeting.

OSERVER.

AT CHATAIGNIER.

On Friday evening near the school house grounds, Judge Cullom and Mr. G. L. Dupre addressed the people of Chataignier in the French language, after which an Auxiliary League was organized with Alexandre Ardoin President, Henry Acoulin Vice-President, Wm. Guillet Secretary and Laefie Acoulin Treasurer, and about 50 signers. It goes without saying that this list will swell in number daily until every voter of this precinct will have become a member. Chataignier is at home in this movement. Her people are among those of our parish who have always been ready to submit to the will of the majority of their white brethren in any manner agreeable to them, and now give their allegiance to the proposed movement, which symbolizes the ideas and opinions entertained by them when they declare themselves to be in favor of "White Supremacy" and "White Primaries." Twenty years ago this precinct was the banner pole of White Leaguism. From the incipency of the movement to its close, these people stood loyally by the leaders in the fight. Like Grattan, they can say for themselves as he did of Irish independence: "I sat at its cradle and followed its hearse," and to-day when White Leaguism rears its head in another form, the voters of Chataignier will once more rally to the standard and under its white folds do battle for the regeneration and purification of our parish politics with the same eagerness and undaunted valor as was displayed by them nearly a quarter of a century ago.

VIDETTE.

"Linda" Continues Her Trip to Avon Park.

AVON PARK, FLA., Aug. 15.

Editor CLARION.—When we separated at my last writing I was aboard the train at Port Tampa, ready to go on my journey. The train moved off at 1:30, and it took me on with her. I sat with window open (regardless of the rain) that I might catch every passing scene. Tampa City was beautiful, and its surroundings tropical looking. All along the way were grove after grove of orange, lemon, banana and pineapple. I had to change cars at Bartow, and to wait 55 minutes for the South Florida train, which would be my last change till I reached Fort Meade, the finale of my railroad trip. At 8:30 the train pulled into Fort Meade. Before getting off I asked the conductor to recommend a hotel to me. I did not find any hacks or omnibuses at the depot, and for a minute I found myself wondering how I would get up town. Just then I saw a street car standing on the opposite side of the depot, and I immediately asked if it went up town. I was told yes, so I chose my seat with my satchel beside me. At the time there was no car driver in sight, but he soon came up and took charge of his mule, and collected fare (10 cents) from myself and a gentleman, we being the only two passengers he had. I did not see any light or houses, so I inquired how far was Fort Meade from the depot, and the driver answered me "One mile and a quarter, my'm." He asked where I wanted to stop, and I told him at the Adams' House, and in a little while the car stopped and he called out "Adams' House." I got out, and went in, and as soon as I got supper I went up to my room and soon to bed. I left word at the office before going up to my room that I wanted a conveyance next morning to go out to Avon Park. At 7:30 next a. m. there was horse, buggy and driver waiting in front, for me. I was at breakfast, and when finished settled my bill at the office and started out for my twenty-five miles drive. But before I leave Fort Meade in the distance, let me give you a little sketch of the town. It is a beautiful little town, claiming 500 inhabitants, and is situated on the banks of the famous Peace River, where the treaty of peace was signed that terminated the long and bloody Seminole Indian War. I crossed this river as I passed out of town. Yes, I found the drive right long, but did not grow more tired than I expected I would; the roads were good, the air cool and breezy, and the scenes all new to me. Orange growing seemed to be one of the greatest industries. I missed the cotton and cane fields that always greet my sight when traveling in Louisiana. About eight miles from the town of my destination (Avon Park) we came to the Sand Hills, a land of perfect pine forest, which is interspersed with majestic live oaks, festooned with our same gray Spanish moss. Of course the moss was a familiar sight to me, and I know of nothing more graceful or dreamy looking than it is.

At last we drove into Avon Park, and up to the hotel, and the first view I took of all the surroundings was very pleasing. After having dinner I went up to my room and was soon en robe for a good afternoon rest. I was down stairs when the supper bell rang, and had my regular place at table assigned me—and thus I began life at Hotel Verona, for a few weeks, intending to enjoy a good rest after the labors of a lately closed school session.

The people whom I have met are all most agreeable. Mr. Crosby, president of the Florida Development Company, is absent on business in New York, but vice-president N. S. C. Perkins is in the company's office, and to be received by him is to be made to feel welcome and at home. And when you meet the general hotel manager, S. E. Brown, and his estimable wife, you do not feel you are in a hotel alone, and with perfect strangers.

In my next week's letter I will tell you about Avon Park, and I am sure I will have many items of interest to relate.

Board of Police Proceedings.

OPELOUSAS, Sept. 3, 1894.

Members present: C. J. Thompson, president; T. S. Isaacs, S. L. Hebrard, H. D. Larcade and Ike Roos; quorum present.

Minutes of last meeting adopted as read.

Committee on streets, in the eastern portion of town, ask for further time, which was granted.

On motion of Larcade, duly seconded, that the sum of one hundred dollars be appropriated to purchase the right of way through Father Dubourg's property to open Market street to Napoleon avenue. Carried.

On motion of Hebrard, duly seconded, that a committee of three be appointed to wait on the police jury to ascertain if said body will continue Market street outside of the limits of the town to such point as it will intersect the new road from railroad crossing to Washington road. Carried. Chair appoints Roos and Larcade.

The following communication was received and read:

OPELOUSAS, Sept. 3, 1894.

To the Hon. the Mayor and Members of the Town Council, Opelousas, La.: Gentlemen.—We wish to call your attention to a matter which concerns the entire people of our city.

The crossing over the railroad in the northern limits on the Ville Platte road is remarkably bad, and sometimes dangerous, particularly during wet weather. The curve is too steep and short, and often very difficult for loaded wagons to make a quick turn.

Besides there is also some danger for buggies, carriages and other vehicles to follow the narrow lane along the railroad, sometimes filled with women and children with horses that are not accustomed to engines and their noise, and it is only a wonder that there has not yet happened some serious accident.

Some of the citizens in the neighborhood have recently applied to the police jury to open a road to join the Ville Platte with the Washington road in the same place where the old Ville Platte used to run. That body realizing the necessity for such a road appropriated the sum of $75.00 and appointed a committee of three citizens of this city to superintend the proposed work. The committee, not finding the amount appropriated sufficient, has not yet undertaken any part of it.

This road is not within the limits of the corporation, but it is used by the entire community, and is and will be one of the leading avenues, leading directly to our city, and should be looked after by our city authorities.

It will take an additional $75.00 to establish the projected improvement, and that is a wise act on your part, for if you make the necessary appropriation and appoint a committee to act in conjunction with the committee appointed by the police jury to carry out the object as stated above.

Very Respectfully,
J. H. ROOS,
J. STEWART,
ALPHONSE LEVY,
R. MORNING,
R. M. LITTLE, M. D.

On motion of Isaacs, duly seconded, that the sum of $75.00 which has been so far appropriated, be appropriated for the purpose. Carried.

On motion of Roos, duly seconded, that a motion of $200.00 due the Sun Vapour Street Light Co., and twenty-five dollars appropriated to the H. H. & L. Co., No. 1, and twenty-five dollars balance of that sum for actual furniture be paid out of the Market funds, and that the same be refunded to the said Market funds out of money to be collected. Carried.

On motion of Isaacs, duly seconded, that a committee of three be appointed from this board to act in conjunction with a committee of the police jury to supervise the locating and laying out of a road from the railroad crossing on the Ville Platte road in the road leading from Opelousas to Washington. Chair appoints Isaacs, Hebrard and Larcade.

On motion of Hebrard, duly seconded, that the bill of Gibbens & Nicholson for labor on the streets of the sum of $247.25 be approved. Mr. Roos offered the following amendment that the above bill be paid out of funds of 1893, and that the sum of $200.00 be set apart and being put to a vote, was carried.

On motion of Hebrard, that the town attorney be specially instructed to prepare a bill for the payment of taxes and licenses, and to report what collections he has made.

On motion of Hebrard, duly seconded, that a committee of three be appointed by the Mayor to inquire as to the reason for a decrease in the town assessments, and if possible to provide a remedy against the same. Carried. Chair appoints Hebrard, Roos and Larcade.

On motion of T. S. Isaacs, it was resolved, that this board would take under consideration any proposition which may be made for the purpose of the question of electric lights and water-works, and further, that in case of the adoption of any specifications submitted by the contractor, the board will accept of said works may not be accepted, and that the town will be willing to pay a reasonable price to be agreed on for the use thereof.

The following bills were read and approved:

Preston Brown, arresting prisoners 3 00
Jos. Ducharme, feeding town pigs 2 65
J. Meyers & Co., spades, cart saddle 5 55
W. H. Cochran, making town tax roll for 1894 8 00
