Subscriptions for all the leading newspapers, magazines and periodicals will be received at Jacobs' news stand.

The bank and public schools were closed Tuesday (Mardi Gras) on account of that day being a State holiday.

Hon. A. V. Carter, commissioner of Agriculture, has our thanks for a copy of the biennial reports of the Louisiana experiment stations.

Preaching of the Gospel may be expected to-morrow (Sunday) at 11 a. m. in the Presbyterian church. Everyone is cordially invited to attend. JAMES A. GIFFES, Pastor.

Jacobs has a fine line of fancy paperies, stationery and school books, also sells all kinds of rubber stamps, seals, daters, etc. Remember the place—Jacobs' news stand.

At the meeting of the Odd Fellows last Monday night several candidates were led through the mysteries, and taught how to ride the William Goat in an approved manner.

The parish of Natchitoches held a local option election last Tuesday, and from a dispatch to a New Orleans paper, it seems that old "red-eye" was knocked out in the first round.

Licenses for 1895 are now due and collectible. They will become delinquent on March 1st next, and will then be collected with costs added. Avoid costs by paying promptly.

Several days this week the carts of the Camp Hamilton plantation were busy hauling sugar to the depot for shipment. Mr. Lee Butler one of the efficient managers of the plantation superintended the hauling.

One thousand of the latest novels, by popular authors, just received at Jacobs' news stand, which have been reduced in price from 25 cents to 10 cents on account of the general business depression.

The Police Jury met in regular session on Monday and was in session until Wednesday. We publish the complete proceedings in this issue. The new member, Mr. E. T. Lafleur, presented his commission and was seated.

A number of colored men, including the colored bar-keeper, Nash, were arrested last Saturday for playing craps, and on Thursday were tried before acting mayor Brooks, and discharged for lack of sufficient incriminating evidence.

All State and parish taxes have become delinquent since the 1st of January, and interests and costs will now accrue. We advise all taxpayers to take note of that. Come and pay promptly to avoid costs. Taxes must be paid, and it is bad policy to delay in such matters.

The installation of the newly elected officers of Hope Hook & Ladder Co. No. 1, took place on the 22. They are as follows: President, W. A. Sandoz; Foreman, B. F. Anderson; 1st Assistant Foreman, C. Brand; 2d Assistant Foreman, B. A. Littell; Secretary, Isidore Isaac; Treasurer, Fritz Dietlein; Steward, Morgan Sandoz.

Farming operations were begun in earnest this week. The clearing of land and the advancing plow will soon convert the fields into fit beds to receive the seed. Such operations betoken an approach of Spring, and it is to be hoped that farmers will be favored with dry, warm weather, which will assist them a great deal in their efforts to put in their crops. From what we hear, the acreage in rice will be greatly increased this year; and, a good season following, a large crop will be produced, which will no doubt command a fair price, as the failure of the crop last year combined with the Chinese-Japanese war has glutted the market of all rice on hand.

The Masquerade Ball.

Despite the numerous predictions of the dissolution of the Philharmonic Club, it, like truth when crushed, has risen again; and we need no further demonstration of its prosperity and rejuvenation than the emphatic and accorded success of the occasion above referred to. The commodious hall was literally swarming with maskers, who represented every imaginable phase of beauty and beast.

Behind the dancing eyes of mischievous maidens as they flirted and played with the astute knights and sombre dominos. We watched one sailor lad jauntily flirting with a playful maiden, apparently of sixteen summers, who knew his heart with his eyes were constantly following her trim and blithesome figure, as other enamored knights eld her through the dance. But his triumph was short-lived—she doffed her mask, and, lo! her husband, smiling and proud, escorted her home.

Many instances could be recounted where chagrin and disappointment reigned within shattered hearts. Numerous and ridiculous were the speculations as to the identity of certain inscrutable maskers who danced and flirted. Withal the occasion was pre-eminently a successful one from a social and, we repeat, from a financial point of view. This club that has so seriously struggled against adversity and disaster should attain the success and prosperity that it so justly merits.

The Carnival.

The carnival of the year 1895 has passed, and only a memory remains. The day, once much celebrated by the country towns, seems to have attracted little attention. Only in New Orleans and Mobile is the custom kept up to any extent; and in the former city the parades and balls of Rex, Comus and Proteus equalled—probably excelled—the presentations of these societies in former years.

The subjects treated of in the street parades were mythical and abstract; and to understand them thoroughly one must be well-versed in ancient lore. But the onlookers did not take them in the spirit that they were presented; to them it was but an occasion of fun, holiday and happiness, and in this spirit they lived for the short period that carnival glories and splendors existed.

Despite the scarcity of money and prevailing hard times, the visitors to the Crescent City were as numerous as of old, and the hotels, railroads, etc., were taxed to their utmost to accommodate the visitors and travelers. Even the street car lines of New Orleans were taxed with the strain of an increased traffic.

Ash Wednesday, the day after Mardi Gras, ushered in the lenten season, and the next forty days will be a period of fasting among devout Catholics.

Another Attempt to Burn.

Tuesday night last, at about 10 o'clock, an attempt was made to burn the law office of Mr. Jules Gil, next to Mr. R. Chachere's large store and saloon building. It will be remembered that some time ago fire came near destroying Mr. Gil's office; and that at the time it was supposed the fire was of incendiary origin. This time the evidence that it was of incendiary origin was convincing, for a bottle, containing a small amount of coal oil, and some kindling was found on the scene. This in itself was sufficient evidence that some malicious scoundrel made the attempt to destroy not only the office of Mr. Gil but the property of Mr. Chachere. That it was the work of a novice in the art is easily supposed, for the early hour at which the attempt was made, and the carelessness in doing the work leaves but that one conclusion. It is to be hoped that the miscreant, whoever he may be, will be found and captured at an early day and given the strictest and fullest penalty that the law allows in such cases. Let everyone who favors the growth of the town and protection of property make an attempt to lay hands on the guilty party and put him in a place where the stern law can get in its hardest whack on his villainous head.

It seems to us that it is about time that the council took some active steps towards settling the question of raising a revenue for the erection of the much-needed, and much-talked-of waterworks plant. It has been some time now since the council paid for the plans and specifications. Why do they not go to work and adopt a line of action which will be fruitful of practical results. It would not be a bad idea to invite the contractor of the Alexandria plant to appear before the next meeting of the council. He could give some valuable information that would perhaps be of much value to them. At any rate, it is poor policy to pay for plans and specifications if they are not to be used; and if it is impracticable for the town with its present revenues to contract for waterworks, the making of plans and specifications and the expenditure of money therefor might just as well have been deferred until they were needed. However, we do not believe it to be impracticable; we believe the council can devise some means to have the matter assume definite shape. Gentlemen of the council, let's hear from you.

Those who are interested in some stock, will not be slow to take advantage of the very favorable opportunity offered by the late consideration of the tighup at the Court and North streets, in this town will be sold at auction, in three lots. For further particulars see the advertisement in another column.

A splendid opportunity to acquire some valuable town property cheap, will be offered the public on Saturday, March 30th, when the Lalande property, on the corner of Court and North streets, in this town will be sold at auction, in three lots. For further particulars see the advertisement in another column.

MAPPING OF THE PARISH.

By reference to the proceedings it will be seen that the police jury has authorized the president to advertise for bids for the mapping of the parish. In accordance with the recommendations of the committee, we congratulate them upon having taken the proper steps to facilitate the work of the assessor, and necessarily the collector, and of providing a bar to the methods of tax shirkers, in their efforts to escape just taxation. The awarding of the contract on a contingent fee is also a good idea, as there will be no outlay of money pending the progress of the work.

There are, no doubt, some who will view this action of the jury with chagrin; but the mass of the people will greet it with pleasure.

The free-silver element of the Democratic party in the Congress of the United States is becoming dissatisfied with the way the white metal is being treated by the administration, and is getting restless. The latest reports are to the effect that some of the leaders of that element, combined with some of the most brilliant men of the like element in the Republican party—notably, Senator Henry M. Teller of Colorado—will break away from party ties and form a new political organization whose special aim will be to rehabilitate silver and place it on an equal footing with gold in the circulating medium of the nation. This proposed party will endeavor to unite the West and South in an attempt to break down the money power of the East, and to do so it proposes to give first and second place (president and vice president) nominations to the West and South respectively.

In the United States Senate last Tuesday a vote was taken on the sugar bounty amendment to an appropriation bill. It passed by a good, healthy majority, and if it meets with a like reception in the House of Representatives the planters of Louisiana, as well as the sugar producers elsewhere in the Union, will be very near the goal of their desires ever since the repeal of the McKinley tariff law. But should the bounty amendment become a law, the planters will not get the full bounty—two cents per pound—as a compromise had to be effected in order to get any of the bounty justly due them, and that compromise says that a fraction under one-half of the regular bounty will be paid. This is bad enough, but better than nothing.

The stock ordinance is being enforced at a lively rate, and "old muley" is being put in pound right along. She is not alone, either, for horses that like to roam the streets and commons often keep her company in her almost lonely vigil by the banks of the placid Tesson, whose rippling waters take the old cow's bemoanings into another land. The ordinance, as we remarked in a previous issue, is causing much discontent; and while it may be blessing to peddlars, it is certainly a hardship on those people who own mules or cows.

One of the evils resulting from it is the taking up and pounding of stock by irresponsible parties, some of them—negroes we are told—having the audacity to enter enclosures and lead out stock, in order to afterwards pound them and claim the pound fee.

The police jury this week complied with the request of a large number of petitioners of Bellevue, and granted them a magistrate's ward, to take effect from and after the next general election in April, 1896. The ward is a large one, and contains many inhabitants. By reference to the proceedings, and the boundaries of the ward can be seen at a glance, and to those who are acquainted with the topography of the country no explanation of the boundaries is needed. We congratulate the people of Bellevue, and hope, when the time comes, they will elect a suitable magistrate and constable.

A QUERY.

Editor CLARION.—It will soon be a year since the present council was elected, and yet we have neither waterworks nor electric lights. A prominent gentleman told the writer, before the council was elected, that it would be elected chiefly and mainly to give the town these two necessities—light and water. Yet that avowal has not come true. We have no lights now, (although we had some then) nor an adequate supply of water in case of fire. The writer, as well as the majority of the citizens, would like to know what the council intends to do in this matter. Vox.

We have received the initial number of the "Official Time Tables of the So. Pacific Co.," issued by the Time Tables Co., of New Orleans, of which that energetic gentleman, Mr. John E. McDonald, is manager. In addition to the time tables of the company's lines, it contains condensed descriptions of the more prominent towns along the lines in Louisiana, with illustrations, and advertisements of business firms. It is neatly gotten up and reflects much credit upon the management.

LECTURE.

Mr. Luther Benson, one of the leading temperance orators of this country, will lecture at the courthouse on Wednesday night, March 6, at 8 o'clock. The Atlanta (Ga.) Constitution says of him: "Mr. Benson is the most pleasing lecturer that ever appeared before an Atlanta audience." Admission free.

A splendid opportunity to acquire some valuable town property cheap, will be offered the public on Saturday, March 30th, when the Lalande property, on the corner of Court and North streets, in this town will be sold at auction, in three lots. For further particulars see the advertisement in another column.

MARRIED.

DARDEAU—CORRELL.—At the Catholic Church, Ville Platte, on Monday, February 25, 1895, Mr. Arthur Dardane, to Miss Rita Correll, the Rev. P. L. Pensier, officiating.

The CLARION joins its congratulations with those of their numerous friends, and wishes the young couple a long life of unalloyed happiness and prosperity. May their cup of joy be filled to overflowing and the fullest fruition of their young dreams be realized.

On Mardi Gras evening, in Mamou, Evariste B. Fontenot killed Raymond Deville, stabbing him in the temple with a common pocket knife. Fontenot surrendered to Deputy Sheriff Denis Lajaque and was incarcerated in the parish jail on Thursday. He claims self-defense. Judge Perrault has fixed next Saturday, March 9, for the preliminary hearing.

The Supreme court has affirmed the verdict of the jury in the case of the State vs. Sylvester Ashire convicted in Acadia parish, of the murder of deputy-sheriff A. V. Lyons, and it now remains only for the Governor to sign the death warrant and appoint the day for the execution. The killing of Lyons was most cold-blooded, and the punishment justly meets the crime.

CARD OF THANKS.

I take this method of tendering my heartfelt thanks to the many friends of myself and my late husband for their kind and untiring attention to him during his illness. Mrs. E. J. CHACHERE.

Marriage Licenses.
