OPELOUSAS, OCT. 21, 1905.

Salutation.

Standing upon the threshold of a new season, we extend a greeting to our friends. For the many kind words of appreciation spoken of us, and for the liberal patronage accorded us, we are truly grateful.

Yours for business, B. BENNETT.

Married.

In Washington, La., on Wednesday evening October 11, 1905, at 8 o'clock, Mr. Aaron Prescott to Miss Amelie Rochelle. The ceremony took place at the Catholic Church, after which the couple with their many friends repaired to the residence of Mr. Marshall Prescott and were served with refreshments.

Civil District Court.

The following is a continuation of the report of the proceedings of the Civil Court, from Wednesday, October 11:

Opelousas Mercantile Company vs. A. B. Chachere—default confirmed; judgment.

Oscar F. Jackson, Tutor, vs. Geo. H. Brower, Absentee—default confirmed; judgment.

Massoline Engine and Thresher Co. vs. W. A. Reed—dismissed on motion of plaintiff's counsel, and at their cost.

Thursday and Friday there was no session of the Court.

Killing at Palmetto.

Palmetto, the stirring little village up in the northeastern corner of the parish, on the Texas and Pacific, comes to the front this week with another killing.

This time it was a negro row, and the result is one dead and the man who did the shooting is now in the Bastille, awaiting the action of the Grand Jury.

The dead man is named, or rather was named, John Pierre, while his slayer is Adam Malveaux. We were unable to learn the exact particulars of the shooting, or what led up to the trouble, but these killings are getting to be of weekly occurrence in this parish, and by the time the court meets there will be such a heavy docket of murder cases that it will consume all the time of the tribunal in disposing of the cases of that class.

As a rule, court is only in session two weeks with jury term, and one week after for the trial of petty cases before the Judge. Two weeks of jury term is hardly time enough in which to dispose of the murder cases, not counting the great number of other cases which have to be tried by a jury.

Melville Wants the Road.

The following despatch appeared in the Picayune of Friday of last week, and indicates that our friends over in Melville, that stirring little city over on the Atchafalaya river, want the Opelousas, Gulf and Northeastern Railroad, and mean to get it if hustling and push will get it for them.

The Melville folks recognize the advantage that will accrue to their

A Progressive League is Organized in the City of the Plains. ARE AFTER THE N. C. S. RAILROAD. One Death and Two Cases of Typhoid—Other Local News From Our Correspondents.

Oct. 15, 1905.—At a well attended meeting of citizens of Ville Platte and vicinity a Progressive League was organized last Thursday night, October 12.

The following officers were chosen: R. L. Derouen, President; Prof. E. E. Ortego, Secretary and Treasurer. Mr. Derouen, in a few well chosen words, addressed the assembly. He pointed out the necessity of co-operation of the members to induce the officials of railroads now contemplating building roads in our neighborhood to pass through our little village.

Mr. Derouen was followed by Prof. E. E. Ortego, who eloquently touched on the same subject. Prof. Jos. Mouillard spoke on music, and offered his services gratis as teacher to all who wished to join in the organization of a brass band. He said that Ville Platte had plenty of good material to have a first class band. That it was essential in any progressive section that music and harmony should exist.

The surveying party of the Kansas City Southern is camping near Mr. Ernest Sollean's place, about two and a half miles south of this place.

A delegation of the League is going to have a friendly chat with the engineers this afternoon. The engineers of the Kansas City Southern have expressed their opinion that a curve to take Ville Platte in would incur very little extra cost, but of course they could do nothing without orders from headquarters.

Mrs. Joseph Lemonie died in Tate Cove yesterday afternoon and was buried this evening in the Catholic Cemetery of this place. We have two cases of typhoid fever in our midst. The little daughters of Messrs. A. M. Lafleur and Charles Savant are the victims.

Messrs. Dudley Dunbar and Davion, of Oakdale, were among us a few days ago. Mr. Dunbar was formerly a resident of Grand Coteau. JAKE.

"Push" to His Friends of Opelousas.

Editor Clarion.—If you who oppose sewerage feel the least hurt by any expressions of mine in trying to bring before the citizens of Opelousas this important and necessary question of sewerage, I can do no more than offer you my sincere apologies. I think it is right to be conservative, and to accord the right of American citizenship to all. I feel that Opelousas is our little temporary home, and one that is blessed in many ways with natural advantages bestowed upon us by the Divine Providence alone, and for this reason, if for no other, it should behoove us to perfect it.

When our Lord came upon this earth to teach us Christianity—things more elevating and uplifting, the necessity of perfecting this world in order to avoid more suffering and to enjoy more happiness, He was put to death. But a proof that it was the work of God, His teachings have predominated over the world; and that energy and ambition has been instilled in man ever since, and it is gratifying to note the improvement in every sphere of life, when man has devoted his energies and talents.

That you who oppose sewerage are as good as I am, or even better, I do not venture to question; I do not wish to pose as an immoderate, have no selfish ends, or greed of gain, and all who know me ought to know that there is not money enough in Opelousas to induce me to hold public office of any kind, I am simply trying to do that which I think is a duty allotted to me and as a citizen of Opelousas. My time is so much taken up in other duties that I can not give this vital question of sewerage the attention it deserves. Now, my dear friend, think with me and if convinced against your will, don't be of the same opinion still. Let us philosophize this question of sewerage—financially and otherwise. I must concede the fact that Opelousas has a most perfect drainage system, given to us by Nature. It has little or no environment, situated upon beautiful rolling tables of land, and adorned with numerous and majestic shade trees, at a glance would suggest to the most learned sanitarian that of the healthiest towns in the world. It ought to be, but when we question the reason of the presence of typhoid and its kindred fevers that visit so many of our homes every year, and which has proven fatal in many instances, taking away from our family circles some of our brightest and most promising youths, and saddling upon those who are fortunate enough to escape the results of the dark shadows of death—doctor and drug bills enough to pay a special sewerage tax on a half dozen homes. Situated as I have said we are, what else can we attribute this unfortunate condition of affairs to but our upper ground privies, refuse water from bath tubs, wash tubs, dish water, etc., that never reach our drainage mains, and our impure water?

Death of Miss Lizzie Slane.

The Clarion has received the following communication from a correspondent in Chataignier, which we gladly publish. We will state for the benefit of that correspondent that we were not aware of the death of Miss Slane until we read the clipping in the Alexandria Town Talk, and thinking that it would be an item of news, which would be of interest particularly to Miss Slane's relatives in this parish, we republished it in its entirety. Here is the obituary, which our correspondent was so good as to send us last Monday:

Died, at the residence of Mr. A. Guillet, at Chataignier, on Oct. 3, at 9 o'clock, Miss Lizzie Slane, from Alexandria, aged 19 years.

After the Institute closed at Opelousas, Miss Lizzie Slane being unable to return home at Alexandria, on account of the quarantine, called on the Misses Guillet and returned with them to their home in Chataignier to take a few days rest, having been slightly sick for some time. After her arrival at their home she was taken sick and had to be confined to her bed. She died from an attack of the typhoid fever after an illness of sixty days. She was a member of the Christian Church and was buried here by the care of Mr. A. Guillet. A FRIEND.

There can be no doubt as to this being the cause. Then why the delay? One life is worth all the tax. Refuse it, and death may visit your home next. You are paying the tax doubly, indirectly. Some of you claim not to live in the midst of this trouble and don't need sewerage. You say you live in the suburbs. You do, my dear friends, when you are at home; but how many times are you and your dear ones attracted to the center of the town and detained for hours, both night and day, drinking and breathing this deadly poison. Your beautiful and blooming youths are not responsible, but you are, and they feel perfectly safe, because they look to you for protection. Are you protecting? I know it is an error of the head and not of the heart, and with this light upon the subject, wise men, men of conviction, change your minds and battle for sewerage. Sewerage added to our other prosperous conditions will invite capital, create labor, put us in a healthier condition to labor, and with the rush of business and demand for labor, higher wages. Our legal lights tell us we can have sewerage without one extra cent of tax. Our ad valorem, or regular, tax is ten mills, says our friend, Mr. R. Lee Garland, and that we have a right to reduce it to five mills and then vote back a five-mill tax for sewerage. Is this correct Mr. Garland? We implore you and other friends who are able to finance this question further to help us push it on to victory. PUSH.

Mr. Bercier Talks Business. Opelousas, Oct. 16, 1905. Editor Clarion: I am much pleased to note the interest you take in enterprises concerning the welfare of Opelousas, and in calling attention through the columns of your paper to the Progressive League, and recognizing it as the proper channel for these enterprises to pass. Some time ago you called attention to rural free delivery. I at once wrote our Congressman, Mr. Pajo, and he has since been in correspondence with our Secretary, Mr. H. E. Estorge, and he has been instructed what course to pursue. The matter is being worked up, and in due course we will have rural free delivery, if the people of Opelousas want it.

In your issue of the 14th you call attention to the Santa Fe Railroad. I will state that about a month ago my attention was called to this matter by our wide-awake member of the advisory committee, the Hon. F. M. Welch; and we have written the President of said road fully concerning the matter, and his reply was in substance that he was proud of the interest we took in his road, but at present had no intention of going any further east than Oakdale. We appreciate your courtesies very much, and hope that every citizen who knows of anything that will redound to the good of Opelousas, that comes within the jurisdiction of the Progressive League, will call our attention to it, and I assure you that Body will give the matter its most careful attention. We realize, Mr. Editor, that the railroads are going to offer us many opportunities for enterprises of various kinds, but if we are not strongly organized and quick to take advantage of these opportunities, we will not reap much good, for we must know that other places on these lines are organized and will beat us out if we are not. It should behoove every citizen, and particularly the business men, of our town to be members of this League. The ladies should also organize an auxiliary League. We are working good to all of you—our aim is to build up this town, to bring in more capital and more trade, to induce factories, such as wagon and carriage factories, furniture factories, saw mills, rice mills, cotton factories, a sugar refinery, soap and broom factories, canning factories, etc., etc. We want a payroll of several thousand dollars per week. Our business men ought to know what this would mean to them, and only at a cost of twelve dollars per year to each. This is the amount of dues you owe the Progressive League, and don't be afraid that your money will not be well placed. You have my services free, but it takes some money to run the League. Our secretary must be paid to keep a record of the minutes, attend to the correspondence, buy stamps, letter heads, telegrams, telephone service, subscriptions to periodicals, etc. If you want your business increased, don't hesitate, but send in your check for twelve dollars for a whole year's dues, to H. E. Estorge, Secretary, and he will enroll you a member and turn over the cash to our Treasurer, Mr. Leon Haas, and you can sleep easy for twelve months, and rest assured we will increase your business. How many of our citizens will respond to this call? We need money now to have a write-up of this parish, put in pamphlet form, so we can all mail them out to the world, and have them distributed in other States at their State Fairs.

We don't want our sons and daughters to leave their homes to seek employment in some distant enterprising place. We want to create that demand here; we want to give them occupation here, where they can be sheltered under your roof at night, at your happy fire-side, and under the influence of their mothers—the greatest influence of all. Sincerely, A. J. BERCIER, President of the Opelousas Progressive League.

BAYOU CHICOT DOTS. "Picked Up on the Wing" by Our Correspondent. October 14.—Good bye, yellow fever. All glory to old St. Landry! Mr. Louis Sylvester, a prominent planter of Plaisance, gave us a pleasant call last Wednesday. Ditto Major Wharton, of Gold Dust.

Light frost was seen here on morning of October 12. Keep the good work up. No railroads started yet. Come, gentlemen now that all danger of yellow fever is over "whoop 'em up" and let us at least have one road started before 1906.

We trust the editor, Brother Breaux, has returned home and is feeling O. K. once more. One or two sugar mills have started in our section and are making fine syrup.

The cotton crop is being rapidly gathered and will be very short—in fact fully 50 per cent short of last season. As some persons would no doubt like to hear the story of the Erlich-Clark eye solution, we will merely say that Clark recommended a certain eye salve to Erlich, and even went so far as to purchase it for him. But getting the salve kind of mixed up, he got the wrong box, which was intended—well, it wasn't for the eyes. And that is the solution of it.

The story of "Evangeline" has almost died in its infancy. Prof. L. L. Singleton, of Dossman, gave us a pleasant call last Saturday. We are proud to hear of the safe return of Hon. Thomas H. Lewis, and as Mr. Lewis never undertakes anything but what he accomplishes it, we hope soon to see a boom in railroad circles.

We hear it rumored that the parsonage is leased for next year to a young gentlemen. That's right friend. We must again boast of old St. Landry, with Doctor Buster Littell at the head, associated with such a good Board of Health and her quarantine officers, and we trust they will be vigilant to the last, until the last germ is stamped out. Don't be hasty. Look at New Iberia and Franklin, where the fever has just recently been announced.

Mr. H. L. Erlich, Miss Lillian Daniels and Miss Cammie Erlich took a trip to Turkey Creek on Sunday evening. October 16.—Brother Bennett, postmaster and merchant at Turkey Creek, was baptized in Turkey Creek last Sunday evening. CHICOT.

Haas-Littell-Drug Co., Ltd. New Quarters. Haas-Littell Drug Co., Ltd., has moved into the building next to Winsberg's new store. Come and see us—we will treat you right. In the line of Toilet Articles, such as Soap, Tooth Brushes, Hair Brushes, etc., we have some especially good values at low prices. As to Stationery, Box Paper, Tablets, etc., we have a complete stock, and there isn't a bit of doubt but that we have what you want. Haas-Littell Drug Co., Ltd. NEXT TO WINSBERG'S. Please "Tote" Fair. In going over the list relative to the prices being paid for seed, I am sorry to see that Opelousas and Sunset are the only places where only $8.00 are being paid. There is only one State which pays as low as $10—all other States are paying from $11.00 to $14.50. The highest is North Carolina. Including this list Tennessee is the only State which pays as low as $11.00. I was told some time since, by a party who I know is thoroughly posted in the matter, that with seed at $10.00 per ton the mills could realize at all times as handsome profits as any enterprise should desire. Don't rob your neighbors, and only those upon whom you can rely for support. F. E. STOKES. The Thompson Brothers' Preliminary Trial. The preliminary examination of Dougall and Chester Thompson, for the killing of Dr. Z. T. Young at Ville Platte two weeks ago, began in the District Court last Wednesday, and two days were consumed in the examination of witnesses, the argument of both sides being made Friday morning, and up to the hour of the Clarion going to press it had not yet been completed. Consequently we are unable in this issue to furnish to our readers what disposition will be made of the case.
