WANT FLAGS DESTROYED.

Ohio Camp of Union Soldiers Want the Stars and Bars Put Out of the Way.

Columbus, O., Jan. 22.—Memorial Post 141, G. A. R., Department of Ohio, no doubt stirred up somewhat of a hornet's nest by its action at its last meeting in passing the following preamble and resolution, although it may be said in all fairness, that the matter when under discussion was referred to without the least apparent feeling of bitterness or resentment.

"Whereas, there are now in possession of a number of States rebel flags captured by the Union army during the Civil War from 1861 to 1865, and it is not the desire of the Union soldiers to have these flags retained or in any way to flaunt their victories over the Confederate soldiers; and, "Whereas, we believe that the sooner every physical sign or token which tends to perpetuate the thought that the rebellion of the Southern States was right, the better it will be for the whole country; and, "Whereas, it is often urged by designing politicians for political buncome that the rebel flags captured during the Civil War and now in possession of the different States, should be returned to those who formerly fought under them and against the Stars and Stripes; therefore, be it

"Resolved, That the delegates from Memorial Post 141 to the next department encampment to be held in Xenia, be and are hereby instructed to present and insist upon the passage by the Department of Ohio of an appeal to the national encampment, G. A. R., in Atlantic City, in September, 1910, to urge upon all governments holding captured Confederate flags to have the same burned and forever destroyed, thereby eliminating the possibility of ever having the subject brought up to discredit the memory of our dead comrades, who gave their lives to capture these flags, just to satisfy some designing politician anxious for political notoriety."

WITH THE WITS

Collector Loeb, at a dinner in New York, said of a customs criminal:

"He was taken aback when we produced our proof—as much taken aback as the Washington father.

"A Washington man took his little boy to church one Sunday morning. A missionary preached, telling about the nude heathens in the tropics, and after the sermon a missionary collection, his father put in a suspender button.

"He said to his father on the way home:

"Didn't I understand the preacher to say that those savages went naked father?"

"Yes, my son," was the reply. "I'm glad to find you were so attentive."

"Then father," said the boy, "why did you put a button in the plate?" —Exchange.

When automobiles choke the ways And aeroplanists cloud the blue, Pray tell us, in these coming days, What will the water wagon do? —Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Wilbur Wright was discussing in Dayton a very imaginative story about aeroplanes.

"The story," he said, "was full of errors. Aeroplanes can't do what the chap claims." He doesn't understand them.

"In fact, he's like old George Kettle of Trotwood. George rushed into the telegraph office the other day with a small package wrapped in a newspaper under his arm.

"Telegraph this to my wife down to Dayton Harvey," he said to the telegraph clerk, thrusting the package through the little window.

"No, no, George, we can't do anything like that," laughed the clerk.

"Dat ye," said George, angrily, "ye got to do it. It's my wife's teeth." —Kansas City Star.

"These," said the lecturer, indicating them with the pointer, "are the movable bathhouses. Thousands of people congregate here during the summer season. Over here on the left is the hotel at which I stopped, and an exceedingly homelike place it is. I shall give you a nearer view of it presently, although I was there a week or two, and would gladly have spared the time, I did not take any baths, for the reason—

(Loud and prolonged laughter.) "I meant, ladies and gentlemen, he resumed, after the merriment had subsided that I didn't take any baths down at the beach. The audience is altogether too smart." —Baltimore American.

"I ate my breakfast this morning in a market street restaurant," said a down town business man yesterday, "and something occurred that particularly appealed to my sense of humor. A man and a woman were seated opposite me, and the waitress placed a large plate of biscuits between the two. 'I prefer bread,' said the woman. In a jiffy the biscuits were whisked away and replaced with the staff of life. I noticed a wistful sort of expression on the man's face as the biscuits disappeared, but he made no remark. 'I guess she's the boss of that ranch, I thought, and then the woman turned and said: 'I believe the girl thinks we are together.' As the waitress came back to give the couple a check she was just about to punch the amount of two meals on one, when she looked up suddenly and asked if they were together. In one breath they said, 'No! Well, you should have seen that girl's face. She blushed furiously, and then capped the climax by saying: 'Oh you set there so quiet like not speaking. I thought you were married.'" —Philadelphia Record.

Mr. Kojones, who had happened to step into the parlor while looking for a book was just in time to see somebody slip hastily off somebody else's knee.

"Ah, Bessie," he observed pleasantly, "his is a merger, is it? Or is it a limited partnership?"

"Neither, papa," said Bessie, recovering herself instantly, "George is my holding company—that's all." —Chicago Tribune.

TOOLY LAUREL "How far is it between these two towns?" asked the Lawyer.

"About four miles as the flow cries," replied the witness.

"You mean as the cry flows."

"No," put in the Judge, "he means as the fly crows."

And they all looked at each other, feeling that something was wrong—Everybody's Magazine.

THE BACKSLIDER "Brother Gimmet," says the deacon, "I am pained at heart to learn that you have backslidden."

"Well," answers brother Gimmet, "I'm sorry, too. But, deacon, right after I joined church I got a felon on my second finger, then my folks began cleaning house, then four life insurance agents began working on me at once, then I sat down on a hot pumpkin pie while wearing a brand new suit, then our cook quit, then the furnace went out in the middle of the night just when the first cold wave hit us, then my wife bought a new dress and hat, then the children took the new phonograph apart to see what made it talk, and just yesterday the paper hangers came and paped the wrong room. I don't see that I am very much to blame."

A New Pig Tale The venerable classic about using all of the pig except the squell, has been supplanted by a story about the kinks in his tail. It is positively vouched for that the kinks in his tail increase his market value for certain purposes. Here is the schedule:

One kink, actual market value - $12
Two kinks ..... 18
Three kinks ..... 24

Four kinks, almost any price that owner wants.

This condition came about in this fashion: The Government discovered a serum which was an absolute preventative and cure for hog cholera. Statistics show that Kansas farmers lose more than $1,000,000 a year from this most dreaded farm disease. The agricultural college set about making this serum and furnishing it at actual cost to the Kansas farmers.

A pig is useful to the college for producing cholera serum only so long as he has a part of his tail left that can be cut off. When all the tail is gone the pig is useless and is killed and the blood used to inoculate the one to take his place in the special serum producing herd. This shows why a long tailed pig is worth so much more than a short tailed one.

HEED THE WARNING

(Advertisement)

When the kidneys are sick they give unmistakable warnings that should not be ignored. By examining the urine and treating the kidneys upon the first sign of disorder, many days of suffering may be saved. Sick kidneys expel a dark, ill-smelling urine, full of "brickdust" sediment and painful in passage. Sluggish kidneys cause a dull pain in the small of the back, headaches, dizzy spells, tired, languid feelings and frequently rheumatic twinges.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for the kidneys only; they cure sick kidneys, and rid the blood of uric poison. If you suffer from any of the above symptoms you can use no better remedy. Opelousas people recommend Doan's Kidney Pills.

H. B. Metscher, Bellevue St., Opelousas, La., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills live up to the claims made for them. Off and on for several years I was troubled by a pain in my back so severe at times that I could scarcely get around. I was distressed a great deal by a lameness across my kidneys when I first arose in the morning and my back was stiff and sore. If I stooped, sharp twinges passed through my loins, causing me to suffer intensely. I knew that all my misery was due to disordered kidneys and when I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills, I procured a box at Shate's Drug Store. They helped me from the first and before I had finished the contents, my health was greatly improved.

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.
