Porto Rico's New Wonder.

From far away Porto Rico come reports of a wonderful new discovery that is believed will vastly benefit the people. Ramon T. Marchan, of Barceloneta, writes "Dr. King's New Discovery is doing splendid work here. It cured me about five times of terrible coughs and colds, also my brother of a severe cold in his chest and more than 20 others, who used it on my advice. We hope this great medicine will yet be sold in every drug store in Porto Rico." For throat and lung troubles there is nothing better. A trial will convince you of its merit. 60c & $1. JUDGE E. T. LEWIS
OPENS OFFICE AT JENNINGS.

Judge E. T. Lewis, the latest addition to the legal fraternity in Jennings, has opened his office on the second floor of the State National Bank building.

Judge Lewis will practice law in the future in the courts of this and the adjoining parishes. His library and furniture arrived the past week from Opelousas, and the Judge and his estimable wife have gone to housekeeping, and the former has begun the practice of his profession here in his new home.

The distinguished jurist comes to this community well and favorably known, and he will no doubt enjoy a full measure of the legal practice after the new parish takes over its reigns of government next January.—Jennings Times-Record.

Sulphur Company Pays State
Quarterly License of Over $10,000.

Baton Rouge, La., Dec. 28.—Under the terms of the new act taxing natural resources, the Union Sulphur Company will pay to the State a license tax of $10,099.12 for its first quarterly output of the Calcasieu mine. On this basis, the State would derive from the sulphur output $80,000 per year in license taxes, as the first quarter ended September 30th, and covers only a month and a half from the date the act went into effect. This is independent of the ad valorem tax on the mine property, which is assessed at $10,000,000.

The attorney general decided that the license tax must be paid on the actual market value of the sulphur, and not on the basis of the mine's assessment. The license paid, therefore, was on sulphur valued at $2,000,000, mined within a period of a month and a half.

During the State-wide discussion on the segregation amendment, it was claimed by opponents of the scheme that the basis of arriving at taxation of the sulphur mine was inadequate when compared with other proposed corporation bases, and that the State would lose revenue to which it was entitled if the revision plan carried. The basis of contention was the value of the mine and its product. It now appears that this is even greater than opponents of segregation claimed.

The Frisco's Immigration
Work.

From an agricultural and industrial standpoint nothing could be more heartening to those who are working for the settlement and cultivation of the idle acres of Louisiana than the announcement that the Frisco Railroad has decided to establish on January 1 a Department of Development, with headquarters in New Orleans, whose immediate activities will be in the territory traversed by the Louisiana Southern, recently acquired by the Frisco interests and now in process of rehabilitation.

Saturday, on the invitation of General Agent Lightner, a number of business and newspaper people accompanied Sam A. Hughes, immigration agent of the company at St. Louis, on a trip in one of the Frisco's new steel motor cars into the heart of Plaquemines parish to inspect the lands which are to feel the impulse of the Frisco's energizing influences.

No railroad has done more to create agricultural and industrial enterprises along its lines than the Frisco and the South and West owe much of their development to its enterprise. For the country south of New Orleans the Frisco now hopes to do what it has already done for the Brownsville section of Southwest Texas. In the latter enterprise it had great natural disadvantages to overcome, including the arid character of the country. Here nature has provided almost every advantage which the company might ask in carrying out its ambitious plans.

By intelligent and aggressive use of the machinery of its immigration department of the Frisco tempted thousands of settlers to locate in the Brownsville section, which is now dotted with scores of thrifty and enterprising towns and villages, each the center of a highly cultivated agricultural area. There is no reason to doubt that a similar condition will be brought about in the Louisiana Southern's territory if, as we are assured, the Frisco is to use the same methods that brought such potential results in Texas.

To Mr. Yoakum, we believe, is due the credit for this new undertaking. Louisiana ought to be grateful for the evidence he is giving of his faith in her future. It was his keen vision which years ago forecasted the early building of the Panama Canal and set in motion the efforts which brought the Frisco to New Orleans to share in the city's commercial prosperity with the opening of the waterway. Of scarcely less importance, as an agency to develop the latent wealth of the State, is his decision to use all the powers of his great organization to make South Louisiana an object of attraction to home-seekers.—Daily States.

THE SHREVEPORT
TIMES IS SUED

A suit has been filed in the clerk's office against the Shreveport Times on the part of J. G. Addington, police detective, who alleges slander arising from the arrest of J. C. Wallace for attempting to pass a worthless check as alleged.

In his bill of complaint Addington declares that in the Times publication he has been styled "a fly cop," that "he pulled off a bonehead stunt" in referring to his arrest of Wallace. That the publication is vindictive and intimated that he had trumped up the charges against Wallace for the purpose of revenge.

The Times will be required to sustain these allegations and in default will, if so decreed by a trial jury, have to fork over $5,000 or less for having insinuated that Police Detective Addington is "a fly cop" and that he "pulled off a bonehead stunt."

It is not every newspaper that attains the distinction of being sued for $5,000. The case will be watched with general interest.—Weekly Caucasian.

Wilson's Cabinet

It is stated in a telegram from Washington, D. C., that President-elect Wilson already has practically selected his Cabinet. The men who will be asked to serve in the new Cabinet have been decided upon, and tenders of portfolios will soon be made to them.

The name and the positions they will occupy was learned here today from a confidential source closer to Governor Wilson than any other. The Cabinet slate is:

Secretary of state—William J. Bryan of Nebraska.
Secretary of the Treasury—Henry Morgenthau of New York.
Secretary of War—Representative Mitchell Palmer of Pennsylvania.
Secretary of the Navy—Harry S. George Tucker of Virginia.
Attorney General William F. McCombs of New York, or W. A. Glasgow Jr., of Philadelphia.
Postmaster General—Jos. Daniels of North Carolina.
Secretary of the Interior—Ex-Governor Osborn of Wyoming.
Secretary of Agriculture—Representative Burleson of Texas.
Secretary of commerce and labor—Representative Redfield of New York.

This list is, of course, subject to change but it is substantially correct as far as the offers to take places in the Cabinet are concerned. Whether or not all of the men offered portfolios will accept is problematical.

The same informant says that should Representative Redfield decline to serve as Secretary of Commerce and Labor, the place will be offered to Senator Gore of Oklahoma. If Representative Burleson should decline the position held for so many years by "Tama Jim" Wilson, it is said Governor Wilson has resolved to offer the portfolio to a young Alabama business man who has been engaged in constructive work of national character for some time and who is a personal friend of the Wilson family. The name of this man is not stated.

Sugar's Prospects

Senator Foster, who is a close observer of public affairs, states that there is a possibility of sugar suffering a reduction in tariff duties of about 33 per cent, which will diminish the earning capacity of those engaged in the business, and still fail to lessen the price to the consumer. The proposed scheme will be ruinous to this section of the state, or it will place labor on the basis of starvation salaries, and thereby contribute another burden upon the man who has to work for a living.

The politicians succeeded in the last campaign in convincing the people that they were being robbed, and that their only hope of salvation was to demand free sugar, when in fact, it is the least expensive of all articles in household necessities. Instead of paying the difference in value to the government, we will now pay it to the trust and thereby separate it from the manufacturers, who may have returned a part of it to the agriculturist in the purchase of raw material.

But the sugar industry will never be annihilated, even if we have no tariff at all. As a substitute for present conditions, the big land owners will squeeze the small holder, take his possessions, and organize on a larger scale with small pay, on the same principle that the English held the lands of Ireland and forced the tenants to pay such rents as to render it impossible for the laborer to get a living out of the soil.

We are drifting towards this prospective condition of affairs every day. Prosperity seems to bring its disturbances by the creation of explosive opinions among the people, and right here is where this unfortunate condition is coming to a head. The people wanted what they are going to get, and they are going to get what they do not want.

How Would You Like It?

Any man who wishes he was a woman should try it for a day.

Fasten a counterpane and a blanket 'round your legs; buckle a strap around your waist so tight you can't draw a full breath or eat a hearty meal; have your hair all loose and fluffy so it keeps tickling your ears and getting into your eyes; wear high-heeled shoes and gloves a size too small for you; cover your face with a veil full of spots that make you squint; fix a huge hat on pins so that every time the wind blows it pulls your hair out by the roots, and then without any pockets and with a three-inch square of lace to blow your nose with, and short sleeves, and openwork stockings, go for a walk on a winter's day and enjoy yourself. Oh, yes, you'd like it, all right.—T. & P. Quarterly.
