$160,000,000 SPENT FOR GOOD ROADS IN 1913.

Farm and Fireside says:
"The good-roads movement has resulted in the expenditure of a greater amount of money on the roads in the last year than ever before. In 1904 the total sum expended on public roads in the United States was about $80,000,000. In 1913 it was more than $160,000,000. The greatest progress in road-building has been made in states in which a part or all of the money is drawn from the state treasuries. The great problem from now on is to see that the money is wisely expended, without waste and without graft."

WHY FARMERS OUGHT TO BE CONTENTED.

In the current issue of Farm and Fireside a contributor, writing about the bulletins which the experimental stations are sending out all the time, says:

"What gives farming its worst black eye is so many farmers being discontented with their lot, especially young farmers. What they need is to be shown that they've got a good thing—a mighty sight better thing than most men. Why can't we have some bulletins along that line? I don't mean so much bulletins full of figures as bulletins with pictures in them. And by pictures I don't mean so much drawing and photographs as writing that is alive with sympathy and feeling, all about the conditions in cities, what people put up with there, how they have to pinch and scrape and do without so much that a man was never made to do without. It seems to me one of your clever pen-pushers might go down into almost any city and by reporting only what he sees there get up a bulletin that would make the average farmer think he was just about in heaven after all."

their feed. When the boy was sixteen the colts had grown into a fine team of work horses. The boy now had some pigs, calves, etc., besides the team, and took a real interest in the farm and the work. By the time he was nineteen years old he had nearly enough equipment to farm for himself. He bought another horse with money he had made working for neighbors, got some tools and sets of harness, and rented twenty-five acres of land from a neighbor. He helped with the work at home, and farmed a little for himself. Later he rented a quarter section of land. At twenty-one he has a full set of farming tools, horses, etc., and has landed squarely on his feet. Next year he will farm the home place on shares. Here is a good example of how Kansas farmers save their boys."

SIMPLE RULES FOR SELECTING MILK.

In the current issue of Farm and Fireside D. S. Burch, associate editor of that publication, writes another article in his series on milk. To the consumer he gives the following simple rules for selecting milk:

"A visit to the dairy is enlightening, but is seldom indulged in. People are too busy, and, as one housewife told me, 'I hate to meddle in the affairs of people. I don't know very well.' The best substitute for a visit to the dairy is to see whether the milkman is personally clean and particular. Does he wipe his feet in the mat, does he keep his hair brushed and are his teeth clean? Is his horse well groomed and well fed? If he seems to pass muster in these things and the milk keeps well, you are fairly safe in patronizing him. If he Pasteurizes his milk you are doubly safe. The production of clean milk is a matter of personal habits rather than of fine equipment."

OPEN LAW OFFICE IN THE TWO PARISHES

Form Co-Partnership To Practice In St. Landry and Evangeline.

Hon. L. Austin Fontenot, a well known attorney of this city, and Mr. J. Hugo Dore, a popular young lawyer of Ville Platte, have formed a co-partnership to practice law in St. Landry and Evangeline parishes.

Mr. Fontenot is a very competent and successful young lawyer having only recently completed a course in law at Georgetown University, one of the foremost law schools of the United States, whilst Mr. Dore has only been out of the Louisiana State University two years and has been enjoying a substantial practise.

Mr. Fontenot is known throughout the two parishes and has a large clientel. Mr. Dore will take care of the Evangeline office, whilst Mr. Fontenot will reside in St. Landry.

The friends of both lawyers wish them success in their co-partnership as well as the Clarion.

HUSBAND RESCUED DESPAIRING WIFE

After Four Years of Discouraging Conditions, Mrs. Bullock Gave Up in Despair. Husband Came to Rescue.

Castra, Ky.—In an interesting letter from this place, Mrs. Bettie Bullock writes as follows: "I suffered for four years, with womanly troubles, and during this time, I could only sit up for a little while, and could not walk anywhere at all. At times, I would have severe pains in my left side.

The doctor was called in, and his treatment relieved me for a while, but I was soon confined to my bed again. After that, nothing seemed to do me any good.

I had gotten so weak I could not stand, and I gave up in despair. At last, my husband got me a bottle of Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I commenced taking it. From the very first dose, I could tell it was helping me. I can now walk two miles without tiring me, and am doing all my work."

If you are all run down from womanly troubles, don't give up in despair. Try Cardui, the woman's tonic. It has helped more than a million women, in its 50 years of continuous success, and should surely help you, too. Your druggist has sold Cardui for years. He knows what it will do. Ask him. He will recommend it. Begin taking Cardui today.
