No Worms in a Healthy Child. All children troubled with worms have an unhealthy color, which indicates poor blood, and as a rule, there is more or less stomach disturbance. GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC given regularly for two or three weeks will scorch the blood, improve the digestion, and act as a General Strengthening Tonic to the whole system. Nature will then throw off or digest the worms, and the child will be in perfect health. Pleasant to take. 60c per bottle.

AIR SERVICE

WANTS MEN

In view of the fact that your paper enjoys a large circulation it will be greatly appreciated by the Air Service if you see fit to furnish the public through your columns the following information. The Air Service was filled to its maximum the end of the year. Since two hundred vacancies have been created due to the appointment of that number of enlisted men as flying cadets. It is expected that several hundred additional vacancies will occur during the year. In view of the fact that there is such a small number of vacancies the Air Service is establishing a waiting list of applicants who desire to join the Air Service. Any man who desires to join should submit a letter to the department air service officer, Southeastern Department, Charleston, S. C. The letter should show the applicant's full name, age, birthplace, occupation and education. All applications will be forwarded to the director of air service for final action. The cadets referred to above are now pursuing the regular pilots or flying course. Upon satisfactory completion of this course, when they have become actual flyers, they will be given a commission as second lieutenant in the officers reserve corps and may be, at their own option, discharged from the service or returned to their previous enlisted grade. The Air Service makes no promises regarding a man's future. His future depends almost entirely upon himself. The present policy is to give flying training to those who are physically, mentally and morally qualified. At present practically all of the flying cadets were formerly regular enlisted men. In addition, the Air Service operates at Kelly Field a training school for mechanics. The present policy involves giving as many men as possible this course of instruction which is most excellent. Within a few years the Air Industry will be one of the largest in the world. Those men who enter it now, in its infancy, will, when it is developed be in a position to demand and receive high salaries. The rise will be as great as the automobile industry. All one has to do is to note the rise of the automobile men within the last ten years. These men went in at the beginning and are now at the top. The same thing will happen in the Air Industry. Now is the time to learn the game. The best place to learn the game is in the Air Service where, in addition to having the opportunity to learn the game, one is also being paid. The grades are from private at $30 to master electrician at $81. Men who are actually doing work in the air receive an additional fifty per cent as also to those who are rated as aviation and balloon mechanic. In civil life every small plane will require at least one mechanic; large planes will require more. The present average pay of these mechanics is about $70 weekly. Their work is light in fact they lead a very easy life most of the time. An energetic man can learn the game during one enlistment (three years). Upon completion of this enlistment he can without a doubt secure a position as airplane mechanic in civil life. Three years hence there will be thousands of airplane in daily operation. The same possibilities exist for airships (Dirigible Balloons). This is a matter that all young men should seriously consider. It will be well worth their time. It is the one game that has the greatest future. The earlier one starts the greater are his chances. The Department Air Service Officer, Southeastern Department, Charleston, S. C., is always more than glad to furnish any one with information relative to the game. H. B. CLAGETT, Lieut. Col., A. S. A.

A COMMUNICATION

Opelousas, La., Feb. 18th, 1920. To the Citizens of St. Landry Parish: You have contributed your mite to erect a monument on the Court House Square in honor of your sons who served in the World War, 1914 to 1918. It was publicly stated that there would be no names on this monument—well it has arrived, and there is engraved upon it a score of names including the names of the council of defense and the building committee, and no dates. The people who saw this became very indignant over the matter, and there were some threats of removing these names. I heard so much complaint and was approached to call a mass meeting to try and have all names erased (which can be done where the monument stands, as we have a stone cutter now located here) so I called in a few leading citizens to see what action should be taken. There was a committee appointed of citizens and ladies of the Red Cross to have the chairman of the building committee call a meeting and take action to remove these names. This engraving was an error, and should be taken up in a respectable manner with the proper committee who are gentlemen and are no doubt willing to do what is right. I took up this matter, because I didn't want to see our boys resort to any rash act. I told them that these gentlemen on the two committees were rightful thinking men and would listen to reason, and if this was going to be an eye-sore as long as the monument lasted—a subject of ridicule by visitors to our city,—the remedy was now. I understand that Mr. Boagni made the remark that I and a few of the Hook Worm Club on the Court House Square are the only ones making the kick, Mr. Boagni is mistaken in this matter and if he will feel the pulse of the people, he will find that I have acted wisely. Respectfully, A. J. BERCIER.

(It is a great pity that a patriotic work of this character cannot be done without dissatisfaction and adverse comment and a greater pity still that those who worked so hard and zealously to erect a monument to our boys should come under the fire of criticism. The plan to erect this monument has been a matter of public discussion for many months, and no one but the council of defense and the building committee seem to have concerned themselves about the matter at all—indeed it must be said to Mr. Boagni's credit that had it not been for his unceasing efforts to collect subscription it is doubtful if we would have had a monument for some time to come. The Clarion hopes that some amicable and just solution of the differences which have arisen over the inscriptions on the monument will be arrived at; one satisfactory to our gallant boys who served in the army, and to the public generally. We are quite certain that none of the gentlemen whose names adorn the monument will object to any sensible and reasonable solution of the matter.—Editor.)
