HERE'S RECIPE HE KNOWS HAS KICK

New Orleans.—Leo. Brosset awoke in a cot in Charity hospital gazed bleary-eyed about him, felt of his body for broken bones, and, finding none, looked into the face of his pretty nurse.

After being unconscious for 24 hours and awakening to find himself in a hospital one would naturally suppose Leo would have asked "where am I?" Instead he appeared disinterested with his surrounding, but murmured audibly, "Never again!"

Whereby hangs a tale. The police reported Brosset's misfortunes thusly:

Three weeks ago a friend gave him a recipe for a concoction that he was fondly assured would make Canadian Club taste like near beer. The ingredients, Brosset hazily remembered, were yeast, Irish potatoes and a mixture of fruit juices. The liquid was to be stirred thoroughly and then placed in a cellar to age. Brosset obeyed instruction to the letter.

Sunday morning, believing his home-brewed beverage ready for consumption, Brosset filled a pint bottle and strolled along the river bank, imbibing freely. After several drinks he turned his footsteps towards the center of town, reaching Thalia and Camp street, he claims the sidewalk stepped up and struck him a resounding whack on the forehead. He regained consciousness just 24 hours afterward.

Brosset was picked up by the patrol wagon of the Seventh Precinct station, which took him to Charity hospital. A stomach pump was used to good effect but efforts to revive him failed until this morning.

He is a longshoreman and lives at 2364 St. Thomas street.

COLORED ADULTS REMEMBER MRS. J. H. DESHOTELS, SR.

Dear Teacher:—We the adult classes are going to make you a present this p. m., and I for one think you deserve it. Our school has the reputation of being a live one, and it is because we have a live woman at the head of it. In the past five months that you have been teaching us I know your patience must have been sorely tried. As adults are not easily taught books. Therefore it is our delight at this season of gifts and good will, to present you a pair of gold ear-rings and this purse, as a slight token of the esteem in which you are held by your school. To say we all love you is to repeat what you must already know. Out of the fullness of the heart the mouth speaketh, but words do not always answer our purpose. We should like to put them into some tangible form. Dear teacher we ask you to accept this not for its value, but as a gift from loyal scholars. We appreciate your untiring efforts to minister to the needs of your race in every way—and at all times. Through your leadership we now have this beautiful school house of our own. And for the first time in the history of Opelousas has an adult school been conducted. Do not thank us, for we are only discharging but a mite of the indebtedness we owe you. We truly hope the token will be a constant reminder of our interest in you, and your work. Words seem such poor vehicles through which to express ones worth to their face. I feel if we had at our command the poetry of Longfellow and the Philosophy of Socrates all of these would fail to express our love for you and your leadership. And we truly feel that when the great Heavenly Father his children is calling, and faithful ones rewarding you will be there robed in service garments bright and fair.

Respectfully submitted, Edolia Guillory, Sarah Veigne, Julia Wilson, Viviora Arceneaux, Bella Brown, Ada Crowder, Secelia Washington, and others.

A few words of thanks from the teacher to the adult illiterate classes. Dear pupils:—You say do not thank you, but how and where can I find words to express what I felt at the sight of these presents; they will always be dear to me, as long as I live this act will occupy a place in my heart, not so much for its value but for the spirit in which it was given, and by loyal scholars. My dears may the time never come when you will be lacking in the proper reverence for God or cease to say Hallowed be Thy Name. You know I love you by the experience undergone. Only through God's goodness and our friends that we have labored there five months. I am glad to know that by serving you that I have gained not only a few dollars that is so soon gone, but I have gained something that I prize higher than anything on earth, and that is love and appreciation. This makes me feel like striving harder for God and humanity's sake. I shall ask God to let me serve a little better. Those that I am striving for.

Again I thank you, yes, a thousand times.

Yours truly,
MRS. J. H. D.

A paper why adults should attend school. Ladies, gentlemen, teacher and school-mates, I am going to read a paper of the most important reason I think why adults should attend school. These are many reason why adults should attend school, but I am only going to tell you of those that I think are most important.

Of course, when I speak of adults attending school I mean those who have never had a chance to attend while young, and those who have never learned to read and write. How many of you have children who have been going to school several years, and who now can read and write. Does it not make you feel that you should be helping them, and yet how can you when you, yourself can not even spell your own name. Then there is the pleasure one gets from reading. A pleasure that you can only get from education. Suppose you should get a letter and there no one around you who can read, then will be one time that you will regret that you cannot even read your own name. Another thing that education does is to learn one to speak correctly. How can you hold a conversation unless you can in correct grammar. Of course you can talk all right, so you think to your own self, but if you knew the way you incorrect English sounded to others ear, perhaps you'd try to change it, and there is but one way to do it and that is by attending school.

Don't you want to know as much as your children do? Do you want them to feel ashamed of you? And surely they must when they see that they know far more then you do. Perhaps you may say, I never had the chance that they had, but now that is past, and you are having your chance as well as they are, and don't let the chance pass by but make up your mind to attend school and learn all that you can.

PURCHASING POWER OF DOLLAR NOW AS COMPARED WITH 1913 IS SHOWN

Washington.—The man with an income of $2,000 is now actually drawing $870 upon the basis of dollar value in 1913, according to a statement to congress by Harold N. Lawrie, economist for the American mining congress. The purchasing value of the ounce of gold, which under statute cannot bring more than $20.67 has, Mr. Lawrie claims shrunken through inflation of currency until it is not longer possible for gold to be profitably produced.

Lowers Purchasing Power

The expansion of the national credit has lowered the purchasing power of a dollar through increasing all commodity prices. Bread upon the pre-war prices of 1913, these prices gradually advanced from 100 per cent in 1913 to 223 in October, 1919. Each increase in credits has been absorbed by a corresponding increase in commodity prices and has resulted in placing the nation upon an artificial plane of living. The gold producer finds the purchasing power of his ounce of gold is now $9 instead of $20.67.

Gold mines of the United States are being closed down at an alarming rate. Many of these can never be repend owing to the prohibitive costs of retimbering and unwatering. Cripple Creek, the greatest American gold camp, is taking on the appearance of a city of dead hopes. Whole cities are being deserted and thousands of skilled miners are being forced to seek new camps because gold—the basic monetary metal of the United States—cannot longer be produced at a profit.

Jewelers Make Millions

The manufacturers of the United States used $21,848,800 more gold last year than was produced in the United States. The gold producer lost millions during the year. The manufacturing jeweler made millions because, while his goods mounted in value, he secured the gold at coinage price of $20.67 per ounce, less than the cost of production. Seventy-five years ago the world produced but $30,000,000 in gold per year. In 1915 the world produced $469,000,000.

The gold stock of the United States suffered a loss in 1919 of $292,796,000 by the excess gold exports over imports. The government has allowed vast shipment of gold for export. Meanwhile the production of the American mines has fallen from $101,000,000 in 1915 to $53,500,000 in 1919, a loss of 42 per cent.

At the beginning of the war, England arranged protection for all of the gold produced by British mines. This protection is still maintained and the gold reserves of England are being increased by imports from the United States, and their own heavy production of new gold.

CALLED HER FAMILY TO HER BEDSIDE

Six Years Ago, Thinking She Might Die, Says Texas Lady, But Now She Is a Well, Strong Woman and Praises Cardui For Her Recovery.

Royse City, Tex.—Mrs. Mary Killman, of this place, says; "After the birth of my little girl...my side commenced to hurt me. I had to go back to bed. We called the doctor. He treated me...but I got no better. I got worse and worse until the misery was unbearable...I was in bed for three months and suffered such agony that I was just drawn up in a knot... I told my husband if he would get me a bottle of Cardui I would try it... I commenced taking it, however, that evening I called my family about me... for I knew I could not last many days unless I had a change for the better. That was six years ago and I am still here and am a well, strong woman, and I owe my life to Cardui. I had only taken half the bottle when I began to feel better. The misery in my side got less... I continued right on taking the Cardui until I had taken three bottles and I did not need any more for I was well and never felt better in my life... I have never had any trouble from that day to this."

Do you suffer from headache, backache, pains in sides, or other discomforts, each month? Or do you feel weak, nervous and fagged-out? If so, give Cardui, the woman's tonic, a trial.
