LOCAL MELON CROP BIG ONE THIS YEAR

FINEST QUALITY WATERMELONS AND CANTALOUPES GROWN IN THIS SECTION

Opelousas has been literally flooded with home-grown watermelons and cantaloupes this season and while the latter have been sold at very low prices the former has brought big returns to those producers who planted the crop in quantities large enough to market locally. The soil in the Opelousas country grows as fine as melons as are grown in Georgia, Florida and Texas if the growing season is fairly dry. The newspaper reporter saw and sampled as fine melons as were ever grown, and the size looks and quality indicate that farmers are interested in growing melons of quality rather than what was formerly known as "just watermelons."

The quality of the Rocky Ford cantaloupes was right up to standard, and while they brought good prices at the beginning of the season, of late they retailed on the streets at twenty-five cents per dozen for fine specimens of the fruit.

The gardens have also produced a bountiful harvest of "sassa" all season, the eggplant crop being especially fine. We noted some growing in the city limits that to give a description of their enormous proportions would cause some of the doubting ones to think we had seen things through a magnifying glass.

While money is undoubtedly scarce, there isn't anything like starvation in this country and we haven't heard of anyone suffering for the want of the necessities of life.

AUTOS COMPETE WITH RAILS IN PHILIPPINES

In the far-away Philippines the automobile as a means of transportation is making hard competition for the railways, according to Harris Waite, of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company, who has just returned after two years spent in the islands. American built goods is the answer.

There are only three islands in the Philippine group with any railroads at all, on these the highways cover a great deal more territory. Trucks hook back and covering routes of 150 miles and more. These buses are equipped with pneumatic tires. Truck hook back and between the plantations carrying sugar, hemp, copra, tobacco and passengers.

In the island of Leyte an enterprising truck owner has a fleet of sixty two in operation, all running on big Goodyear pneumatics.

Even in Mindanao, the most backward of the islands and largely inhabited by wild natives, many miles of good roads have been built, especially leading out from the port town of Davao. And the natives will carry their hemp into market, sell it, for a few clothes and provisions and then have a glorious time with the rest of their earnings riding back hand forth in auto busses over the macadam stretches.

The sultan of Sulu has a car or two to tour through his kingdom, although he is more apt to come into Manila where he can go farther for his money. His car are Goodyeod equipped.

There are about 8,000 foreigners on the islands, excluding the Chinese who do 85 per cent of the retail business on the islands. But the native Filipinos are also good customers for automobiles and tires.

KEEP YOUNG

People with bad backs and weak kidneys are apt to feel old at sixty. Many old folks say Doan's Kidney Pills help them keep young. Here's an Opelousas case:

Mrs. A. St. Cyr, 220 N. Walnut St., says: "I have great faith in Doan's Kidney Pills, for they have done me more good than any medicine I have ever taken. Whenever my kidneys cause me any trouble, I get a box of Doan's and a few always give me quick relief. At times, I am troubled with rheumatic twinges in my muscles and my kidneys don't act right. After using Doan's Kidney Pills, the trouble passes away."

Relief On Doan's After four years, Mrs. St. Cyr said: "Any time I need a kidney medicine, I use Doan's Kidney Pills and they never fail to bring me quick relief." 60c, at all dealers. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.—adv.

Theophile Fontenot, Opelousas boy who is employed with the American Railway Express company in Alexandria, is here on a vacation and is visiting his mother.
