DR. LAZARO MAKES SPLENDID APPEAL FOR FEDERAL AID

Federal Good Roads Bill at Last Passed—Differences of House and Senate Overcome

The Clarion is just in receipt of a letter from Congressman Lazaro, advising that the Federal Good Roads bill has passed. The conference report which settled the difference between the house and senate in this vital question was finally reported to the house on November 1st and passed.

This Federal Good Roads bill was of utmost value to every state in the union and as the congressman from the seventh district, always alert as to any project that might vitally affect his constituents, and knowing full well what good roads mean to the development of this country, he made a splendid appeal for the passage of this bill and we are glad to quote part of this speech because of its thoroughness on the subject.

Dr. Lazaro's speech before the house is in part as follows: Mr. Lazaro. Mr. Speaker, I am glad that the house and senate committees have at last agreed to report the federal good roads bill, and I hope that it will soon be enacted into law. It would have been false economy to have discontinued Federal aid to the states, which began five years ago.

If there is one problem that is vital to all the people of the United States today, it is the problem of transportation. Adequate transportation facilities are absolutely necessary if those who produce and those whose consume are to get the benefits of our unlimited resources in the United States. It is very evident that the people throughout the country are realizing the benefits of good roads as one of the most important links in the entire system of transportation.

In connection with the building of good roads the people are demanding four things. First, Federal aid; second, the wise and economical expenditure of the money from the state and federal governments in the building of good roads; third, a permanent maintenance fund to maintain the roads after they have been built; and fourth, that the roads be built where they will be of the greatest advantage to the people.

I want to call attention to what I consider the main provisions in this federal aid law. First, it will be administered by the department of agriculture, under the bureau of Public roads. Second, that the initiative in locating the roads to receive federal aid shall remain in the states. Third, that the several state highway departments (with the approval of the department of agriculture) shall lay out a system interstate and intercountry in character and not interstate lone. Fourth, that the funds from the several states to be put up to match federal aid shall be subject to the direct control of the highway departments of the several states.

Those essential provisions of the bill were incorporated in the bill as it passed the House. The people need good roads and they want federal aid. Therefore this bill, carrying an appropriation of $75,000,000, should be enacted into law as soon as possible.

HOME AGENTS BUSY DURING WEEK WITH FALL GARDEN

A number of people in Washington parish have planted fall beans which they are going to can on extensive plans. Miss Martha Crouse, agent, has given them a demonstration in canning beans in tin and using the Burpee sealer. The agent has visited community fairs this week. At one of the fairs the club children gave a very attractive program, after which had been prepared for the occasion were covered with good things to eat. Everyone enjoyed the day at both places and felt like their time had been well spent.

FIRST MESSAGE TO WORLD BY RADIO

Washington, Nov. 5.—"That the peace which blesses our own land may presently become the fortune of all lands and peoples is the earnest hope of the American nation." President Harding declared this afternoon in the first world-wide radio message in history.

The President opened a switch at the white house, which set in operation the radio station at Jerson, L. I. with world-wide transmitting power. After opening the switch which set the station in operation, the President dictated the following mission:

"To be able to transmit a message by radio in expectation that it may reach every radio station in the world, is so marvelous a scientific and technical achievement as to justify special recognition. It affords peculiar gratification that such a message, from the chief executive of the United States of America, may be received in every land from every sky, by peoples with whom our nation is at peace and amity. That this happy situation may ever continue, and that the peace that blesses our own land may presently become the fortune of all lands and peoples, is the earnest hope of the American nation."

FRIENDS OF BOOTLEGGERS ATTACK MINISTER

New Iberia, La., Oct. 31.—an attempt was made on the life of the Methodist minister, Rev. S. D. Roberts, and asked to go to a certain place to see a very sick woman. Being suspicious he gave excuses for delaying.

Falling in this, the would-be assassin drove to his home in an automobile and tried to entice him from the house. When calls for assistance, promptly responded to, a large crowd drove the would-be assassin off.

This is the sequel to raids made yesterday by the prohibition officers in which Mr. Roberts' has been erroneously accused of bringing prohibition officers here.

Four Men are Convicted

New Iberia, La., Nov. 3.—In the court, Fertulle Meyer, Edral Meyer, Albert Landry and Edgar Boutte, were found guilty of conspiracy to assault Rev. S. D. Roberts, and sentenced to 60 days in jail and fined $300 each and 90 days additional in default of payment of the fine.

This is the sequel to the attempt to take Mr. Roberts from his home Saturday night.

The above clippings from the New Orleans Item show how quickly the courts punished certain parties who made an attack on Mr. S. D. Roberts, Methodist minister at New Iberia, supposed to have given the federal authorities information as to two federal prohibition agents working out of the New Orleans office of Mr. Hugh Larre, federal prohibition agent, made a raid about Oct 30th on the Landry Bros. restaurant and the Musameche Oyster Inn at New Iberia. The above dispatches show that the friends of the men raided then conspired to attack a minister supposed to have complained against them, and that their brazen attempt resulted in their immediate arrest, their conviction in November 3rd in the state district court, with perhaps more trouble to follow in the federal courts.

When law violators try to intimidate the authorities and those who cooperate with them, the strike at the base of our government, and speedy justice, such as they received at New Iberia, should be meted out to them.

HOOVER URGES HOME BUILDING PROGRAM

Washington, Nov. 5.—Within the past eight months the American press has again demonstrated every strikingly the power of concerted action in forwarding constructive governmental policies. Of course the quick responsiveness of the whole country to the exigencies of war will probably remain without parallel, but there are services as well as victories in peace, "no less renowned than war."

Secretary Hoover took office with one great thought in his mind. He conceived it to be the chief function of the Department of Commerce to foster American industrial stability. Upon business as such—and this included agriculture as well as manufacturing and commerce—depended the safety of the republic.

Establishing the principle of a broad and tolerant interpretation of industrial laws and regulations, Mr. Hoover gave all proper encouragement to business. He emphasized the imperative need for confidence in investment, adequate rewards of industry and a return to the normal status of wholesome development in our national life. Mr. Hoover recognized early in his official experience that America must build homes for its people. He pointed out the dangers of a nation of tenants and it was very largely upon his earnest representations that the American newspapers and magazines began advocating home building. Upon the heels of the press in urging home construction came the great volume of industrial advertising in which the lumber industry took the lead, and the result of the combined efforts of all these potential forces has been a remarkable revival of building.

In every part of the nation the newspapers have been urging home building day after day and week after week. They preached sound economic and patriotic doctrines of thrift and good citizenship, and public response has been remarkable. All over the country home building is going on upon an increasing scale. The newspapers have been impressed by the reiterated fact that lumber at the mills is cheap. Materials generally are being sold at prices that warrant full confidence in building investments. And the prospect of increasing building activities grow brighter every day. It is a wonderful tribute to the power and patriotic influence of American press.

One week before the parish rally last year, and just after a six weeks' epidemic of smallpox, we called a meeting of the members of the various clubs in the Lawtell school and passed a resolution that regardless of conditions we were going to reorganize and make our club one of the largest and strongest in the parish. As a result enrolled thirty-one members and with all thirty-one strong, we came out in full force. Since then our club has steadily grown, working to accomplish all those things which we are undertaking. Realizing, "Diligence Leads to Victory," we are going to make ourselves known to you at our next parish meeting.
