

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

To those of us who wish to promote Southern prosperity:

Every time you use GOLD DUST, you put money into Southern pockets.

GOLD DUST is made solely from that great product of the South—Cotton Seed Oil.

GOLD DUST has never been made from anything else but Cotton Seed Oil.

For thirty-nine years GOLD DUST has drawn outside money to the South by distributing its product to the four quarters of the Globe.

The excellence of GOLD DUST for the following purposes is well known:

- Cleaning painted and unpainted woodwork.
- Washing dishes.
- Dissolving grease from utensils of all kinds.
- Softening hard water.
- Cleaning bath rooms.
- For all scrubbing.
- Cleaning glass of all kinds.
- Purifying ice-boxes, drain pipes, etc.
- Cleaning mops, brooms, brushes, etc.

GOLD DUST, together with FAIRY SOAP, COTTOLENE and many other household specialties, is made by The N. K. Fairbank Co., a subsidiary of

The founders of The American Cotton Oil Company originated Cotton Seed Oil. The Company took Cotton Seed, formerly a waste product, and made Cotton Seed Oil, Cake and Meal, Hulls and Linters. This opened up for the South a new source of wealth, which today brings annually to the South over five hundred millions of dollars.

What is "Spring Fever?"
It is simply low vitality, a lack of energy caused by impurities in the blood. GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC restores vitality and energy by purifying and enriching the blood. You can soon feel its strengthening, invigorating effect. Price 60c.

Killing.
Discontent is a spur, but discouragement is a halter.

Would Join.
"Are you one of the cognoscenti?" "I'm willing to be. What are they?"—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Roman Eye Balsam is an antiseptic ointment, applied externally and not a "wash." It heals the inflamed surfaces, providing prompt relief.

Killing.
"Ever notice how old Mrs. Blunderer murders the king's English?" "Yes; isn't it killing?"

A NEW REMEDY.

"Oh, dear, we have had such trouble with our son Archibald," exclaimed Mrs. Huppe at the bridge party. "We had to take him out of college because he overstudied."

"And where is he now, Mrs. Huppe?" asked Mrs. Heepsadough, sweetly. "We've started him on the stage, so he could get his health back by understudying."

The Query Department.
Dear Star—Can you tell me what kind of wood these here xylophones that the vaudeville fellers play are made of?—Lumberman.

Labor-Saving Device.
"A motion picture snowstorm is a great improvement over the old-fashioned shower of white paper," remarked the man about town.

Asserting Himself.
"What good does it do you to shake your fist at a reckless motorist after he has nearly run you down? He's speeding on his way and doesn't see you."

Plenty of Room Behind.
A mule was brought and tied near the group head headquarters and some one asked to whom it belonged.

Winged Wonders.
The aeroplane's expense we view with hearts devoid of glee, If it could lay an egg or two, Oh, what a bird 't would be!

One Way to Achieve Success.
"How went the bazaar?" "A great success in one way." "Yes?" "The ladies got so disgusted with the poor business done that they went straight home and touched their husbands for the amount they wanted to raise."—London Answers.

Anyone Could.
Elsie—My grandpa has reached the age of 96. Isn't it wonderful? Bobby—Wonderful, nothin'! Look at time it's taken him to do it.

An Hour of Relief.
"Mrs. Peck's husband told mine that he spends the best part of his life at the club."

Sure It Was His Fault.
"Say, what's the matter with you fellows?" snapped the dance manager. "You've played three pieces all evening. What's the big idea?"

Explained.
"I found your neighbor extremely unattractive. Why did you tell me to beware of her taking ways?" "Because she is a kleptomaniac."

Smacks of Contempt.
"Procrastination is the thief of time." "Maybe so, but you don't want to shoot that around a law court."

Just So.
"I want an actress for vaudeville." "All right." "For a skit?" "Very good." "Not a heavy, ponderous woman—?" "I know. For a skit—something skittish."

Just a Toy.
"What did your wife say, if anything, when she struck you?" "She said, 'Woman is a plaything. Just a toy.' And then she slapped me over, Judge."

THE TROUSSEAU IN CHINA

How It Figures When Plans Are Made for Marriage of Daughter of Family.

When I was ten years old my serving woman made a mark here in the middle of my forehead. It was made with red face paint and had to be renewed every time I went outside the compound. That sign meant that I was old enough to become engaged, and that my parents would consider offers for me. Soon after, an old woman came to see me. She made my serving woman remove all my clothing. Then she looked me over. She made me thread a needle—to test my eyes. She looked at my teeth, and pinched my body all over—to see if I was healthy. Then she went away. One day, when I was twelve, I heard my mother talking about me—with the old woman who had been to see me before. They were talking about my clothing. The middle woman said I should have four pairs of silk trousers and three of cotton. I was also to have six white undergarments of cotton, and four linen for the hot weather. My outer garments were all to be of silk, and all must have embroidery about them. Two heavy garments were to be lined with silk, and padded with new cotton. These were to wear in the cold weather. They talked half a day about my trunks. The middle woman held out that I should have four, all covered with pig-skin, but my mother was determined I should have only two. At last it was agreed that I should have three pig-skin trunks and two boxes covered with plain cloth. When they came to an agreement about anything a teacher wrote it down, so there would be no forgetting after. He would read it over to them often and had to change the writing when one or the others said they did not so understand. The middle woman grew very angry when they were talking about the bedding I should have, and left the court. A servant called her and she returned. All the while they were talking about me I felt most important, for I had never before had a value placed on me. Then I thought I had not understood my mother all my life. She had always treated me with unconcern, because I was not a boy, and now she was pointing out all my good qualities and setting a value on each of them. Then they told me I was to be married. I was to marry a man I had never seen and they would not even tell me his name. I asked my mother if he might come to our court and play with me. She scolded me. He lived eight miles away, and could not come that distance just to see me. Silly child.—Asia Magazine.

Keeping It Up.

A maid servant applied for a week-end off, as her home was distant, for the purpose of being at home on her parents' silver wedding day. The leave was granted, and the maid returned. "Well," said her mistress, "did everything go off satisfactory?" "Oh, yes, thank you, ma'am," said the girl, "and mother told me to say she is very grateful to you for letting me off."

That Friend!

"Mother doesn't think she'll go to the theater with us tonight, Albert." "Is that so? I have got three tickets. What shall I do with the third one?" "Give it to the man you always go out to see between the acts. He can sit with us and you won't have to go out and see him."

Complimentary to Him.

He—But I asked you, dearest, to keep our engagement a secret for the present. She—I couldn't help it. That hateful Miss Oldum said the reason I wasn't married was because no fool had proposed to me, so I up and told her you had.—Brooklyn Citizen.

Mystery Explained.

He stood amid the blaze and splendor of his magnificent mansion, and in his hand he held the portrait of a beautiful woman. His face was pale and haggard, and his lips moved convulsively. What was this mystery. Was this the picture of his departed wife? No. Was it the portrait of his dead but dearly remembered daughter? No. What, then, was the cause of his haggard face? Was it not the same portrait that two minutes ago had fallen from its nail, and raised a lump as big as a hen's egg on his head? It was.

A Diagnosis.

"Oh, doctor," said a worried looking agrarian, "my wife is in an awful condition! From a medium fat woman she has been reduced to skin and bones. She talks incessantly in a loud squawking voice, begins a sentence and never finishes it, and jumps from subject to subject without uttering anything that has the least sense to it."

"I'm! I see!" returned the physician. "Go home, Mr. Gabbieby, and take out your party line telephone at once. Your wife has been listening in on it too much."—Kansas City Star.
