Joe Brown was the porter at a little bank in southern Kansas. One spring day he rested on his broom and looked outdoors where nature beckoned him down to the river, where he might doze and wait for a catfish nibble on his line.

"Gee, boss," he declared fervently, "I suttally do wisht Ah had a million dollahs!"

"A million dollahs, Joe?" the cashier said, smiling. "What would you do with a million dollahs?"

ASSERTS "RED" PROPAGANDA

Veteran Leader Declares Millions of Dollars Are Being Spent in This Country to Undermine Loyalty to Institutions.

President Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor delivered a smashing attack on Bolshevism in America. He charged that Reds here were determined to corrupt labor organizations and undermine American institutions and declared that propaganda is being furthered by a fund partly in cash and partly in jewels taken from the nobility of Russia.

President Gompers based his attack on the activities of the Russian soviets at the Genoa conference.

"I can think of nothing that would constitute a more needless and base betrayal of civilization than American recognition of the Bolshevik tyranny," Mr. Gompers declared in his prepared statement.

"I can think of nothing that would be more fraught with disaster to humanity than American recognition of the Bolshevik power in any form. Russia herself, is on the bargain counter, behind which stands Lenin as a bandit merchant. The Bolshevik propaganda fund in the United States amounts to many millions of dollars."

Mr. Gompers arraigned members of the American Federation of Labor, whom, he charged, had been touched by Russian gold, naming W. Z. Foster as plenipotentiary of Lenin in America.

"If it were possible to despair of the sound democratic faith of the American people," Mr. Gompers concluded, "the situation today in relation to Bolshevism would be most discouraging. It is not despair, but never since the assumption of power by the faithless, ruthless, adroit and conscienceless Lenin conspiracy, has the situation in America been so filled with peril."

The wage reduction announced recently by the Kansas City Builders' association, was rejected by a majority vote of 500 members of the Hod Carriers and Building Laborers' union.

Thousands of Indian laborers in the Fiji Islands are starving and total loss of the sugar and coconut crops is threatened as a result of the strike of 60,000, protesting against a 20 cents a day wage cut.

The National Industrial Conference board, an organization of employers, in a statement asserted that, for the first time in many months, slight wage increases had been reported in several industrial centers.

Gen. Freire d'Andrade will negotiate with the union government for a renewal on modified terms, of the Mozambique convention, which, among other things, provides for the recruitment of native labor for the Rand (South Africa) mines.

A strike of the union paper mill workers was temporarily averted when the mill owners intimated they would drop their wage cut demands so far as the skilled workers are concerned if the latter would not object to the mills being operated as "open shops" in the employment of unskilled labor.

The Socialist party of the United States broke away from its traditional policy of standing aloof from alliance or affiliation with other political organizations by authorizing its state organizations, if they so desire, to cooperate with labor and other organizations in political activity.

The wage scale of union carpenters of St. Louis was fixed at $1.10 an hour by the Rev. Timothy Dempsey, who has served as arbitrator in 30 labor disputes. The decision ends a strike of several weeks and it is expected to allow work to begin on a $15,000,000 building program.

"Let there be light—"

For years and years the practical meaning of this Biblical expression was lost to the farmer. True, he may have got some spiritual consolation from it, but there was a significance that had not dawned upon him. He kept hard at it, working his long hours each day and far into the night with plans. It is not at all elaborate, being of the familiar, practical and economical square or box type, as it is often called, frame exterior set on a firm concrete foundation with high cellar for heating plant and storage room. A farmhouse without plenty of room for a large laundry, vegetable store room and modern heating plant, is not worth while and certainly not practical.

Across the entire front extends a wide, open porch, an ideal recreation place for the family in the warm weather and cool evenings. In the summer it can be screened in to keep out pests and dirt.

The front door opens into a small vestibule in which there is a clothes closet for outdoor clothes, umbrellas, etc. The reception hall opens into the large living room, 13 by 16 feet 6 inches, arranged in the manner in which modern buildings are, with fireplace and side wall bookcases. Windows in front and side provide plenty of light. It is also important to note in these floor plans that all electrical fixtures and outlets are indicated.

From the living room, one enters the dining room through a door opening rather wide and plain. In dining room provision is made for a central lighting fixture over the table, and smaller wall fixtures around the room. This room gets light from a triple side window. Crossing over, we find the door to the kitchen, a small, compact room of modern design and arrangement.

little of the comforts of home that make it a solace and comfort after the day's work is over. His first consideration was a barn. And after he had built a structure that was not to be excelled in the neighboring country, he built a hoghouse or sheep barn. All the while he was living in a makeshift shelter which he called home.

But the light was coming, coming to show the way in the darkness. The light that showed the real value of a home, the absolute economy of the idea, and its influence on the future of the boys and girls who were growing up. As they began to desert the farms, to leave their parents to go to the lights of the city, the farmer began to think, and as he thought, he began to see the gleam that was to enlighten him. He realized that to keep his boys on the farm, to get the maximum joy out of life, he would have to build a regular home as well as a substantial barn.

And with the home came many of the conveniences that are now available in the city. With the home came running water, bathrooms, and electric light, the light that was to lead the farmer down the road to ideal home life.

You would have to travel far and long to find a modest farm home that embodies more real comfort, more convenience and labor-saving inventions than the house shown here with floor

DAIRY POINTS

GIVE PUREBREDS MORE CARE

Dairyman Often Takes More Interest in High Class Stock Because of Possibilities.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

There is no good reason why it should cost more to care for a good herd of purebred dairy cows than it costs to care for the same number of good grades, although farmers sometimes believe that the purebreds are more expensive to keep. However, says the United States Department of Agriculture, the dairyman often does spend more on purebreds because he sees greater possibilities in them, and consequently takes more interest in them, feeding them better and building better barns to house them. He does not need to do this, but usually he finds that it pays him in gross returns and in net returns.

The results would have been the same, though possibly not in the same degree, if better care and feed had been given to a good grade herd. But it sometimes takes the stimulation supplied by the ownership of a few purebreds to induce a man to improve his practices.

TREATING STERILITY IN COW

Most Cases Become Chronic or Permanent Unless Properly Handled by Veterinarian.

In many herds where abortion disease is present, from five to ten per cent of the cows become sterile or barren, and most cases become chronic or permanent unless they are treated by a qualified veterinarian. Dr. W. L. Williams of the New York State Veterinary college is to be given credit for the plan of procedure in handling these cows. The treatment should not be neglected too long after the cows manifest this symptom.

A thorough examination of the patient is necessary to locate the trouble either in the uterus, ovaries or fallopian tubes, and treated accordingly. It is not uncommon for a skilled operator to restore five out of six cases to a reproductive state under favorable conditions.

Cases of long standing should be sold to the butcher, as the treatment fails to help them. A case of more than eight months' to one year's standing is very discouraging to the operator, for he realizes that functional changes have taken place in the reproductive organs that will be difficult to correct by treatment. Therefore do not delay having an animal examined and treated in the beginning of the trouble instead of waiting until it is too late. The annual loss caused by sterility would be surprisingly high if survey could be made and accurate data obtained from the cattle breeders.

RATION MUST BE ATTRACTIVE

Dairy Cow to Do Well Requires Feed Containing Proper Elements for Milk Flow.

Cows won't do well on food that isn't palatable, say the feeding men at the New York College of Agriculture at Ithaca. Not only must the dairy cow's ration contain the proper elements if she is to be "worth her keep," but it must be so attractive to her that she will eat plenty and keep up a good flow of milk.

On the other hand, say the dairymen, it isn't wise to change a ration suddenly even to make it better. A cow is a delicate milk-producing machine, and sudden changes in her food are quite likely to upset some part of the machinery, with a resulting loss of milk.

The condition of the food probably has most to do with its palatability; moldy grains or roughage don't appeal to any self-respecting cow.

COWS ON PASTURE TOO SOON

Many Owners Expect Animals to Thrive on Thin Grass—Grain Must Be Supplied.

Owners of cows usually put them out on pasture too soon, expecting the cows to get all feed necessary from scant early pastures. Until the pastures have made a good growth, cows will need about a pound of grain for every six pounds of milk as well as some dry hay.
