CIRCUS DAY

Circus day is here. the denizens of the Tented City are with us, and they are assisting in making the event a Red Letter Day in the lives of the little ones, and some older ones, too. It hasn't been so many years this writer recalls, since his heart thrilled with delight at the promise of the "older ones" to take him to town to the circus. The meaning of the word is with me yet, and may the Good "Lord keep my memory green" The playful antics of the monkeys, the marked gracefulness of the Tigris; the dignified men of the shaggy lion; the clumsy movements of the camels; the familiarity of the bulky elephant begging for peanuts; and the quiet demeanor of the Rhinoceros—all form a part of an interesting day spent among the people.

Who cannot remember how interesting it was to purchase peanuts for the elephants, whose large trunks seemed never to fill? Who does not recall the first sight of the "longest and largest snake ever before seen?" Who has not given more than a passing look at the beautiful Shetland ponies, wishing that she or he had one? Who has not admired the strong Belgian mares as they drew the huge cages thru the streets as if they were pulling toys? Certainly none of the Kindergarten class may be accused of neglect of any of these.

I have sat night after night listening to the greatest artists the world has produced, as measured by man's opinion; I have seen and listened to the greatest of dramatists portray their favorite characters; have studied with care in several of the finest art galleries in this country; have looked on while oriental beauties have indulged in the terpsichorean festivities to the delight of their audiences; have listened to orators of international fame. All these in time pulled upon my taste, as they become tiresome to many, but I have never yet become tired of observing the characteristics of God's creatures in the lower animal kingdom. Like a little child, their antics are always Circus Day is an annual event in the lives of many. The educational advantages derived by the young are not to be considered lightly. So, if you did not take the small one this new and interesting afternoon, get on your hat at once and hurry to the big tent. You may not be late. Don't let your little ones grow up without the sentiment connected with Circus Day.

Sam Jones, the Evangelist, pictured the typical circus crowd as consisting of a one-armed poor white man, a small, barefoot, half clad boy, and a negro. I have always desired to be in the circus crowd, and have man, a small, barefoot, half clad boy since I was sure I was not the black, and since I have not lost a limb. Sam was a good preacher, but he had human nature down wrong. I have never been able to see anything wrong in occupying the "amen corner" at every circus that comes to town.

It has been stated that the Circus folk takes several thousand dollars away from a town, which dollars seldom return. To these sordid seekers after the gilded gold I have no reply. The Circus people are welcome to my fifty cents, in addition to two-bits each for the kiddies. If it takes the hoarding of such items as these to extend my existence on this mundane sphere, I see no reason why Dr. Osler was not right.

If there is any one in Morgan City who is not able to go to the Circus, this writer will undertake to finance such person or persons. It's true white beans have gone up to 13 cts. a pound, but we have yet with us the black-eyed peas. The price of a ticket may be saved by economical buying.

A COW TALE

LOST: $15.00:

Finder will please return to "Charley" Francioni, the popular rate clerk in the local freight office, and receive reward.

Of course "Charley" does not expect to ever get the money, but The Review is offering its assistance in an effort to keep "Charley" from losing any more bunches of coin like that.

The story is an old one and deserves considerable more snare than the composing room will allow today, especially since the Circus is in town.

The "fifteen" was not actual cash in the hand, but the equivalent thereof, and hereby hangs a tale, and possibly the tale of a cow. Since the tail of an ordinary cow and the tail of this particular cow are two separate and distinct things, it is hoped readers will not get the two confused.

First, "Charley" had in his possession a cow, a cow with a tail, and a long one, too. She gave two gallons of pure milk each day, which served the Francioni family in good stead. The cow had a fine pasturage in the big lot down on Railroad Avenue, where "Charley" formerly lived, and it is little wonder that the animal produced such liquid. The little Francioni's had to be sent to school, and thereby hangs the tale of the cow. "Charley" moved into town, and the cow had to be sold, tail and all. And she was for the measly sum of $40.00.

The point in this story of "tails" is that the Review had a purchaser on its "waiting list" whose mouth was watering to get hold of a two-gallon animal, and was ready to shuffle out fifty five shekels for the privilege of "calling her his own." Hence, the loss of the "fifteen."

This is not a "tale" taken from the Saturday Evening Post, but an actual happening in Morgan City. If you don't believe it ask "Charley", and then ask the Review "Man-in-the-Street Reporter."

ALEXANDER RETURNING TO OPEN GOOD ROADS CAMPAIGN

What with the Jackson Highway from Chicago, the Jefferson from Winnipeg, Canada, the Spanish Trail for Los Angeles, the New York-New Orleans Highway and the Jacksonville-New Orleans-Road all converging at New Orleans, the progress of five great trunk lines of highway running fanlike out of New Orleans, is giving great stimulus to the good roads movement in Louisiana. Further activity will take place when Representative J. W. Alexander of Rapides reaches Alexandria from New York on the 15th of October, he having made the long journey there and back entirely by motor.

Representative Alexander has announced his attention to lead the fight in Louisiana for the Twenty Million Dollar Bond Issue for Good Roads and the next session of the legislature anticipates success. He has been gathering good roads data on his long motor journey, which will be used effectively when he gets started here. He estimates Louisiana loses millions of dollars annually which would come here if the state was supplied with good roads, not to speak of the millions saved and added to the produce of farmers by their ability to get to market quickly and cheaply.

FAMILY AVOIDS SERIOUS SICKNESS

By Being Constantly Supplied With Theford's Black-Draught.

McDani, Va. "I suffered for several years," says Mrs. I. B. Whitaker, of this place, "with sick headaches, and stomach trouble."

Ten years ago a friend told me to try Theford's Black-Draught, which I did, and I found it to be the best family medicine for young and old.

I keep Black-Draught on hand all the time now, and when my children feel a little bad, they ask me for a dose, and it does them more good than any medicine they ever tried.

We never have a long spell of sickness in our family, since we commenced using Black-Draught.

Theford's Black-Draught is purely vegetable, and has been found to regulate weak stomachs, aid digestion, relieve indigestion, colic, wind, nausea, headache, sick stomach, and similar symptoms.

It has been in constant use for more than 70 years, and has benefited more than a million people.

Your druggist sells and recommends Black-Draught. Price only 25c. Get a package to-day. N. C. 423

One Experience Convinced Me of its Value

"One of our salesmen demonstrated the value of the Long Distance Telephone to us. He was at Huntsville, Ala., and upon his own responsibility put in Long Distance calls for fifteen merchants within a radius of several hundred miles.

"In less than one hour he had sold 2100 barrels of flour at a total cost to us of less than six dollars.

"Since then we have applied the Long Distance Bell Telephone to every feature of our business with most profitable results. The service is fine, the rates are reasonable and there is more satisfaction in one Long Distance Telephone talk than in half a dozen letters".
