The death of Edgar, the little sixteen-month old son of Mr. and Mrs. Eliza Levy on Saturday morning after a three weeks battle with pneumonia was inexpressibly sad, as a desperate struggle had been made with death and it was thought that it had been vanquished but the beautiful little baby succumbed at last in spite of love and science.

The funeral on Sunday at one o'clock was attended by a very large crowd of sympathizing friends who had known and admired the little boy who was a magnificent specimen of babyhood precocious beyond his age, one of those lovely and lovable babies that appeals to everybody.

No words can heal the aching hearts of those who loved him, but they may in time find comfort in the thoughts that of such is the Kingdom of Heaven.

"Clansman's" Perennial Success Has Toured For Six Years To Ever Increasing Popularity.

"The Clansman," Thomas Dixon's dramatization of his two famous books, "The Leopard's Spots" and "The Clansman," is destined to enjoy perennial success and popularity.

For six years it has been the dramatic sensation of the age and remains to-day without an equal in the theatre it created throughout the entire United States. It has always played to record-breaking business in Northern as well as Southern cities.

Though playing continually in other sections of the country, "The Clansman" has not been seen in the South for three years. It is for this reason that the Southern Amusement Company has made an elaborate revival of the great drama for a special tour of the South this season, which will mark the seventh triumphal year of its success.

This great play is now being played in the smaller cities for the first time and will be seen here in Natchitoches on Sunday Jan. 12.
