The singing of the Christmas carols, by the Waite (Episcopal choir), was thoroughly enjoyed Christmas Eve night by all who were complimented by a visit from them, as the sweet voices blended well in the old songs that have been sung for generations on similar occasions, and gave delight to many.

The festive spirit ran high Christmas eve and day in Natchitoches when family reunions were in order and because of the beautiful weather, bright, crisp and cold, everybody was able to get out and enjoy themselves to the utmost. The churches all had trees and exercises of some kind while the regular services were unusually well attended. The day was notably free from accidents of any kind, not one serious case being reported and Christmas 1921 was one of the brightest and happiest that old Natchitoches has recorded in many a decade.

Two good friends of the Mutual Aid played Santa Claus in the true Christmas spirit to that organization by sending one, a $10.00 and the other a $5.00 check to its president knowing the demands at this season which was a most gracious and thoughtful act on their part. Apropos of the needs, a request is made for any old clothes or bed covers that can be spared as there is scarcely a day that a pitiful appeal is not made for some, so it will be a good deed indeed, if you will send what you can spare to Mrs. E. Phillips for distribution.

Piedmont Pedigreed Big Boll Cotton
Piedmont Pedigreed Big Boll Cotton has proven to be the best by test. It was the winner of $1,000 prize for producing the most cotton on five acres, the yield being 1,360 pounds per acre.

In tests made at the Georgia State College of Agriculture and the Georgia Experiment Station, Piedmont Cleveland showed 100 pounds of lint better on the average than any other cotton shown, and is nearly 100 pounds of lint earlier than any other cotton shown. On the basis of percentage it 12 1-2 per cent better than the one closest.

Why not increase your cotton yield 12 1-2 per cent by growing Piedmont Pedigreed Cotton? It leads the list in staple, yield, earliness and health of plant.
