THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION.

United States of America, State of Louisiana, Executive Department.

However widely the people of this great country may differ in matters, social, political and economical, there is one altar around which all may meet in fraternal communion—the altar of Almighty God, the Creator and Ruler of the Universe. The custom of annually setting apart a Day of Thanksgiving on which all may gather in their homes and places of worship and make acknowledgments to Him for His manifold blessings and benefactions to mankind constitutes not only a tribute to the omnipotence of God, but a recognition of His directing influence in tracing the destiny of the world.

During the past year Louisiana has been singularly blessed by Providence. The richest gifts of the soil have been hers; business has prospered within her borders; labor has reaped the just reward of honest toil; there has been increased production in factory and field, and her people have made gigantic strides in the march of human progress.

In all this we can distinctly trace the hand of Him who "doeth all things well." It is eminently fitting, therefore, that in addition to keeping Him "remembered within our hearts," we should give proper public expression to our gratitude for His goodness and mercy.

In conformity with the proclamation of the President of the United States, and by virtue of the power vested in me, I, Newton Crain Blanchard, Governor of the State of Louisiana, do by these presents, designate Thursday, November 24, 1904, as Thanksgiving Day.

And I earnestly recommend that during the whole of that day the people of Louisiana suspend, as far as practicable, their usual business avocations, and, in their homes and houses of worship, devote themselves to such services and ceremonies as will appropriately express their thanks to God for His many and gracious gifts vouchsafed us during the past year.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused to be affixed the great seal of the State of Louisiana, Witness, Newton Crain Blanchard, Governor of our said State, at the City of Baton Rouge, this 7th day of November, in the year of Our Lord, Nineteen Hundred and Four, and of the Independence of the United States the One Hundred and Twenty-eighth, and of the State of Louisiana the Ninety-third. (Seal.) NEWTON CRAIN BLANCHARD.

Has Stood the Test 25 Years

The old original GROVE'S Tonic. You know what you are taking. It is iron and quinine in a tasteless form. No cure, no pay 50c.

A special from Orange says: "J. W. Link, president and Dr. E. W. Brown, a director, of the Orange Paper Mill company, returned from New York last night, where they secured additional machinery that will be installed during the coming winter, with which it is practically certain that paper making at this place will be profitably and successfully presented and will lead to the utilizing to advantage the waste that now come from the saws and planers at great lumber manufacturing centers." The American is firmly of the opinion that these Orangemen are going to run that paper mill even if they are obligated to set out spruce forests to get suitable raw material.
