—From what we can learn the effort will be made in the course of the next few weeks to interest the boys of the Parish into the formation of a Boy's Corn Club, a suggestion of Prof. Roy of Baton Rouge State University, who has done much in this respect to encourage and organize the farmer boys in this laudable work. Should the organization be formed we sincerely hope that it will result in a good strong organization in Iberia Parish that will not only stimulate the raising of corn, but be instrumental in the raising of hogs and chickens. Iberia Parish is now only one of the few in the State that has not a Boy's Corn Club, and the rivalry created among the members to capture the prizes offered will mean not only larger crops, but a better variety of the grain.

According to press reports from Jeanerette, Mayor John Duracher of that enterprising little City will have no opposition for reelection this year, which speaks well for Mr. Duracher and will save the citizens of that community from the necessity of the usual bitter campaigns to fill that office. If the citizens of New Iberia could so harmonize things as to avoid these bitter contests, New Iberia would also profit much, as after all the bitterness displayed in these contests does much to injure the community and our City has suffered more from these political squabbles than many of our people realize.

—Our energetic young friend and citizen, Mr. Paul Doerle, engaged on an extensive scale on Charles Street, will from what we understand, very shortly erect a cold storage plant of considerable capacity, which he has found necessary for the success of his business. His intention being to put in cold storage hundreds of chickens which will be bought by him and slaughtered as is done by Western packing houses very successfully. Mr. Doerle ships daily hundreds of dozens of eggs gathered from all over the Parish to markets found by him as far off as Cuba and has done much to stimulate the price of eggs and fowls, and consequently our farmers have been much benefited by his thrift and industry and should encourage him by raising chickens and eggs sufficient to supply the demand as created by him. His success means also the success of our small farmers, they should encourage an enterprise of that nature.

—We are pleased to note the fact to our readers that Mr. Alphonse Davis, real estate agent, is not content to wait for immigration to come this way, but is preparing to go after them, our press reports have been quite busy the week getting out advertising matter which he will distribute where he thinks there is a chance to interest families in Iberia Parish lands. These circulars, advertising the resources of the Parish will do much to make known what we have to offer to those seeking homes in the South. It is a pity that real estate dealers of Iberia would not work together and advertise what lands are really on the market on a large scale, preparing the cost between themselves, as we believe a good strong advertising campaign, judiciously done would be of much benefit to result in not only a better settlement among us that would get from the soil all that it would produce and at the same time stimulate our own people into practical, diversified farming.

—Preparations galore are being made by the committee of ladies of Loreauville for their Church Fair to-morrow evening for the benefit of the Catholic edifice of that place. The officials of the New Iberia & Northern Railroad have consented to run out two excursions so as to enable our citizens to attend the different amusements arranged for their special benefit. The first train will depart from here at 7:45 o'clock a. m. and return at 5 p. m., the second leaving at 3:25 p. m. and returning to New Iberia at 10 o'clock, Sunday, at the low rate of 35c for the round trip, consequently the citizens of that enterprising little town will expect a good number of Iberians to be in attendance on the occasion. Refreshments and dinners will be served by the ladies at most reasonable prices. This is an opportunity for Iberians that have not visited Loreauville for years to make an outing over the new road and at the same time lend their assistance to our neighbors in improving their place of worship.

An energetic effort is underway to secure in the Claims committee a reconsideration of the vote on which in the committee last week the omnibus claims bill was laid on the table. Some members of the committee were absent and figuratively speaking were caught asleep at the switch when the motion was made to table the bill, setting it for this session, unless a reconsideration was had. Advocates of the measure believe that the reconsideration will be obtained before the end of the session and that the bill will pass.

The Rules committee in the next House will be composed of six Democrats and four Republicans reversing the party complexion of the committee in this House.

According to the Democrat decree for the next House, the Ways and Means Committee members cannot be members of other committees. Accordingly Oscar W. Underwood, who is to be chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, and Lincoln Dixon, of Indiana, will not serve on the Rules Committee. Only three of the present six Republican members of the Rules Committee, Dabzell, Lawrence of Massachusetts, and S. C. Smith, of California.

The Commerce Committee of the Senate has completed the River and Harbor bill which will be taken up in due season and passed. Throughout Congress there is a growing feeling that there should be an annual River and Harbor Bill and both Committees stand pledged to this policy which has been the slogan of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress, since its organization more than ten years ago. The River and Harbor Bill it is believed will be perfected in Conference to guarantee its approval by President Taft.

SOMETHING INFLUENCES OF THE RAIN.

We presume every one has periods of depression, when the mind will not respond to the demands of the body, and it is impossible to fashion thought in attractive raiment. Frequently, when the "editorial mind" is harassed by the conflicting problems of business and politics, social reforms and progressive agricultural methods, it is something just to sit calmly by the window and listen to the rain as it gently falls against the window pane, or watch it as it trickles through the branches of the trees and run in rivulets down the walk.

Such was the condition of the writer last night, and for the nonce, we forgot that there was such a thing as a municipal campaign or anything of such an ordinary nature. We could only recall the little verse:

"Hear the music of the rain,
On the roof and window pane,
Falling down,
Falling down,
Oh, the comfort, once in a while, of a good, long rainy day!"

"WILD MAN" IN JAIL.

Pearl Wilson, colored, was arrested last week in New Iberia by Deputy Sheriff J. B. Frederick on a charge of petit larceny, and lodged in jail. The warrant was sworn out by C. P. Hamilton, a showman, connected with Lechman's tent shows which exhibited here two weeks ago. Wilson is charged with stealing a set of false teeth and a coat.

Wilson, the "wild man," was one of the "attractions," being secured with a chain around his neck. In the same tent were "Aunt Jane, the witch," said to be 103 years old, and burned severely for witchcraft; also, the "spider man," a repulsive deformity. The "wild man" wore a wig and with false teeth, or large tusks protruding from his mouth uttered savage yells. It was these teeth that he was accused of stealing when he quit the show.

When arrested in New Iberia by Deputy Frederick the "wild man" showed no indications of savagery but tamely submitted. Wilson is about 27 years of age, and evidently of considerable strength. When questioned in jail about the affair, he said:

"Boss, it's just like this: I didn't steal that coat, and dem teeth; they just got mixed up among things; I wore de false teeth when I was chained in de pit, and a wig. All I had to do was to holter, jes' like a wild man. No, sir, I ain't wild, and never was. I used to work in a factory in Portsmouth, Va., and den I went with this show as a tent man, and then I went in the pit as a wild man."—Abeville Mercantile.

CONVENTION OF SOUTHERN MERCHANTS.

Nashville, Tenn., Feb. 17.—Practically every trade paper of importance in the entire country is in harmony with the purpose of the Convention of Southern Merchants to be held in Nashville, February 28, and the three succeeding days, in opposition to the passage of the parcel post law by Congress. Among the more prominent Journals in line with the purposes of the convention are the American Artisan, Chicago; Merchant and Manufacturer, Nashville; Iron Age-Hardware, New York; Hardware Reporter, St. Louis; Hardware Dealers Magazine, New York; Dry Goods Economist, New York; Dry Goods Reporter, Chicago; Drygoodsman, Chicago.

Expressions of appreciation have been received by the executive committee from men of national prominence, among them Gov. Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey; Gov. Judson Harmon of Ohio; Gov. Lee C. Case of Oklahoma; Gov. O. B. Colquhoun of Texas and Governor Noel of Mississippi.

Among the commercial bodies that have lined up for the movement during the past week are: Augusta (Ga.) Merchants and Manufacturers Association; Austin (Texas) Business League; Little Rock Board of Trade; Chattanooga Chamber of Commerce; Frankfort (Ky.) Business Men's Club; Arkansas Retail Merchants Association of Fort Smith.

One of the most interesting features of the gathering, aside from the discussion of the parcel post bill, will be the school of window dressing and decorating, which will be carried on throughout the four days of the convention and will be open to all merchants without cost. The school will be in charge of some of the most successful decorators in the country.

At the last meeting of the committee on entertainment, it was decided to provide some form of entertainment each day, especially for the ladies who accompany merchants to Nashville.

T. S. Hostetter, Proprietor, Worcester, Mass.

There are wonderful stories about the wind's little boy who lives up in the clouds and who's so homesick that he's always coming down and hanging around the houses trying to get the children to come out and play with him. That's his father that you hear whistling around in the branches of the big oak by the door.

"Come home, come home, little boy," says the wind, but the wind's little boy will not go home to the lonely clouds in the gray sky. He likes to stay down where the grass is green and play among the lilacs and poppy out from the bridal wreath bushes and beckon to the little boy up there in the house, and try and coax him out in the rain with him, but the little boy knows better than that. He laughs and shrugs his fat shoulders and cries out of the window, "Tum in, little boy, tum in," and laughs again to think how full the world is of friends and loving thoughts.

At home with the little girl. Just last her very best tooth has the little girl, and she's a little sensitive about it, but her eyes are soft with the mystery of the life that is just opening out before her, and she has so many little secrets to tell and so much love to give.

At home with the big boy. Busy with his books and his plans for the summer vacation—a little large for his age; not always quite sure of himself. Would you trade him for anybody else's boy on earth? And in the evening, just when the rain comes down, the yard's there's a step on the porch. Yes, he's home. Now all the fun begins. The sitting, and the retelling, and the laughing, and the corn popping, and the candy making—home, home, in the rain.

People who live in the eternal sunshine don't know anything about the beauty of home.

"Hear the music of the rain," It falls perhaps on a new-made grave or one that has been grass-grown for many a year. Hark, who's voice was that at the window?

"On the roof and window pane,
Falling down,
Falling down,
Oh, the comfort, once in a while, of a good, long rainy day!"
