"WHEN DREAMS COME TRUE."

If one wants pleasantly and profitably to while away an evening, one should by all means see "When Dreams Come True." There is so much diversified entertainment in the play that one will readily find something of interest: If one longs for melodrama, see "When Dreams Come True." It is melodramatic. Should one's tastes be inclined to farce, see "When Dreams Come True." It is farcical. Does one's fancy tend to musical comedy of the brightest order, then see "When Dreams Come True," for it is musical comedy of the highest order, an anomaly among usual comedies, inasmuch as it is musical and has comedy throughout the entire action.

"When Dreams Come True" is one of the most adroitly constructed plays that has ever been seen on the stage. Combining in the plot nearly every form of stage entertainment, it is so cleverly done and the sequence of events have such a logical bearing on the whole play that the story works out without one incongruous incident to mar the smoothness of the performance. The music by Silvio Hein, who is well known as the composer of Marie Cahill's greatest successes, and if there are ideals in musical comedy, Mr. Hein is reaching after them in the music of "When Dreams Come True." Several of the songs have become immensely popular, notably "When Dreams Come True," "Come Along to the Movies," "Y-o-u, Dear, Y-o-u." The scenic equipment of "When Dreams Come True" is elaborate to the last degree. The first scene represents the deck of an ocean liner, and shows the wonderful possibilities of the scene painter's art; the second scene shows a wharf at New York City with another view of the liner; the third scene represents the interior of a millionaire's mansion in New York and the final scene shows a ballroom in the same house. This last scene is painted on silk to get a certain lighting effect.

The gowns worn by the ladies are from the Orange Mfg. Co. and are fashioned after the very latest Paris creations. The chorus is a delightful feature of the company, inasmuch as the choiristers were selected not alone for their good looks, but also for their vocal ability. The principals of the cast are players well seasoned to the requirements of musical comedy and a great deal of time and care was employed in the selection of artists who in looks as well as ability were qualified to meet the ideals of the authors. Taken as a whole, the coming engagement of "When Dreams Come True" promises to be one of the most gratifying entertainments of the present season.

Elks Theatre, Wednesday, Oct. 6th. One night only.

A NEW IBERIA INTERVIEW.

Mr. Bourg Tells His Experience.

The following brief account of an interview with a New Iberia man six years ago, and its sequel, will be read with keen interest by every citizen.

Edgar J. Bourg, meat dealer, 635 Julia St., New Iberia, says: "I could hardly turn in bed owing to the pain in my back and had to be careful or sharp twinges darted through my loins. Mornings, I was stiff and lame and lacked strength and energy. More than once I didn't feel able to attend to my work. I got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills at Taylor's Drug Store and began taking them. All the pain and lameness in my back and trouble with the kidney secretions ceased and I soon felt as well as ever." Statement given June 4, 1908.)

Over five years later Mr. Bourg said: "I haven't had an attack of kidney trouble since Doan's Kidney Pills cured me."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Bourg had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv.

"ROVER" KNEW MR. FARNUM AS JOHN STANLEY, REFUSED TO RECOGNIZE HIM AS DEMAREST.

In the William Fox production of "The Wonderful Adventure," in which William Farnum is starred the actor plays a role which is in reality two parts, as it deals with a dual personality. The drama, which is from the pen of the noted author, Captain Wilbur Lawton is mainly based upon the "Jekyll and Hyde" characters of John Stanley, the young engineer, and Demarest, the drug fiend who resembles him so closely that it is next to impossible to tell them apart.

The action of the play requires that John Stanley be possessed of a faithful collie dog, his companion and only friend. When Stanley meets Demarest, the dog, with canine intuition, describes the subtle taint of evil that hangs about Demarest. Several dogs were tried, but they were all equally friendly with Mr. Farnum, both in the character of Stanley and of Demarest. At last however, "Rover" a magnificent collie from the famous kennels of J. P. Morgan was tried. The dog showed marvelous intelligence. When Mr. Farnum, as Stanley, was in the scene, Rover could not be demonstrative enough in his affection. When however the actor passed to the role of Demarest, Rover's disposition changed entirely. He seemed to sense what was required of him. He snarled and the hair on his neck rose ominously. It was actually dangerous of Mr. Farnum to approach him; yet, when the scene was over, and Mr. Farnum, "emerged" from his character, the four-footed actor was as friendly as ever. It was one of the most remarkable examples of canine sagacity on record. Rover now earns his master. James M. Allen, of The McAlpin. New York City, a good living and the cost of his services has risen from five to ten dollars a day.

Elks Theatre, Tuesday, Oct. 5.

The Lloyds, a family of English riders who are to be seen here with Ringling Bros. circus on Thursday, October 14th, have been pronounced by equestrian experts of America to be the most daring horseback riders ever seen in a circus ring. This wonderful family, consisting of father, mother, son and two daughters, ride in Indian costume and the entire act is carefully staged to give an atmosphere of early aboriginal days. The wild feats of horsemanship performed by these men and women have astounded even the most expert riders among the red-skin tribes throughout the west.

The horses used by the Lloyds are thoroughbreds, coming from a long line of old English circus ring stock. As a rule the horses employed in the circus are carried on a different train from that used by the performers. The Lloyds, however, would not consent to be separated from their mounts and a special car was built for them. They occupy quarters in one end of the coach, while the other is fitted with stalls for the stallions used in their fascinating act.

GIVE "SYRUP OF FIGS" TO CONSTIPATED CHILD

Delicious "Fruit Laxative" can't harm tender little stomach, liver and bowels.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing at once. When peevish, cross, listless, doesn't sleep, eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has sore throat, diarrhoea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which contains full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups.

HUNDREDS ON COAST BELOW MORGAN CITY MAY BE LOST IN STORM.

Morgan City, La., Sept. 30.—Morgan City passed safely through one of the worst storms since 1889. A wind that attained a velocity of eighty-five miles at intervals, began blowing Tuesday night shortly after 11 o'clock and continued throughout Wednesday until midnight. Damage that will probably total 100,000 has been wrought in Morgan City, Berwick and vicinity. Steamboats were sunk and gas boats were crushed as though built of "papier machie." The storm broke from a northeasterly direction and the wind held that place throughout the twenty-six hours' duration.

The steamers Sugarland, Sabilla and Vincent D are among the most important vessels that were lost.

Small houses about the city were shaken from their foundation and occupants were taken from the houses to the city hall, seeking shelter. The city power plant also furnished a haven for those who were being made homeless by the dangerous hurricane. The river presented a sight that will not soon be forgotten by even the oldest inhabitants. Waves six to eight feet high beat terrifically against the Southern Pacific's $3,000,000 bridge, but it was not in the least damaged. Telegraph and telephone wires were entangled as though constructed of spider web material and between New Orleans and Morgan City, it is said, it is not likely that service could be restored for several days. There has been no train service from the east since nine o'clock Wednesday morning. Several trains have started eastward but even the railroad officials here are unable to say just how far these have gotten. It is not believed they can reach New Orleans tonight for the reason that there have been no trains reaching here from the Crescent City. Building loss in the business district of this city is small, only few roofs being displaced. There were no lives reported lost in Morgan City or Berwick, but fears are entertained for the safety of hundreds of families who are domiciled on the Louisiana coast engaged in the fish and oyster industry.

The fire alarm system and lighting system are temporarily out of commission. The lumber companies lost considerable timber by their floats being broken during the storm. It will be several days before it may be learned what the approximate loss in this immediate vicinity is. Rescue boats have been dispatched to the coast to save destitute families and search for those who may be missing.

THE Texas Wonder cures kidney and bladder troubles, dissolves gravel, cures diabetes, weak and lame backs, rheumatism and all irregularities of the kidneys and bladder in both men and women. If not sold by your druggist, will be sent by mail on receipt of $1. One small bottle is two months' treatment and seldom fails to perfect a cure. Send for testimonials from this and other States. Dr. E. W. Hall, 2205 Olive Street, St. Louis, Mo. Sold by druggists.—Adv.
