LATEST WAR SPECIALS.

London, Oct. 14.—Sir Edward Grey, the secretary for foreign affairs, announced in the House of Commons today that the co-operation of Russian troops in the Balkans had been promised, as soon as troops were available.

Paris, Oct. 14.—Premier Viani announced to the senate today that Italy probably would take part in the Balkan operations.

The Hague, Oct. 14, via London.—Martial law in a specified and partial form was proclaimed here today. The proclamation affects the various trades which furnish supplies for the army.

The proclamation, announcing that the Hague was placed under a minor state of martial laws, was placarded this morning. The measure affects movements of workmen who hereafter will be compelled to obtain military permits if they desire to go to other districts. Foreigners are not affected by the decree.

Athens, Greece, Oct. 13, via Paris, Oct. 14.—Communications have been cut between Nish and Trahmva for a distance of five miles.

Fifty miles south of Nish, on the trunk line between Belgrade and Saloniki, possession of which is the immediate objective of Serbia's foes is the town of Vrasia which is probably the one referred to in the foregoing dispatch.

Vrasia is on the portion of the railroad which bends nearest to the Bulgarian frontier, at which the invading Bulgarians have been expected to strike to cut the communications of the Serbians.

Berlin, Oct. 14, by wireless to Sayville.—An official report given out today by the German admiralty regarding the Zeppelin raid on London says that in addition to dropping bombs on the English capital, the water works at Hampton and the town of Woolwich, where there is a great arsenal, were heavily bombarded. Great fires are reported to have followed the explosion of the Zeppelin bombs.

London, Oct. 14, 5:30 p. m.—Fifty-five persons were killed and 114 injured in the Zeppelin raid over London last night. Fourteen of the fifty-five persons killed and thirteen of the 114 wounded were military casualties, according to an announcement made later by the official press bureau.

The text of the announcement follows:

"The press bureau of the war office announces that a fleet of hostile airships visited the eastern counties and a portion of London area last night and dropped bombs.

"Anti-aircraft guns of the Royal Field Artillery attached to the central force were in action and an airship was seen to heel over on its side and to drop to a lower altitude.

"Five aeroplanes of the Royal flying corps went up, but owing to atmospheric conditions only one aeroplane succeeded in locating an airship. This aeroplane, however, was unable to overhaul the airship before it was lost in the fog.

"Some houses were damaged and several fires were started, but no serious damage was caused to military material. All fires were soon got under control by the fire brigade.

"The following military casualties, in addition to the one announced last night, have been reported: Fourteen killed and thirteen wounded.

"The home office announced the following casualties other than the military casualties reported above:

Killed—27 men, 9 women and 5 children; injured—64 men, 30 women and 7 children.

"Of these casualties thirty-two killed and ninety-five injured were in the London area and these figures include those announced last night."

The Nish-Saloniki line has been cut for a distance of five miles at a point believed to be about fifty miles south of Nish, according to an Athens dispatch. This line naturally would be used by allied forces moving from Saloniki to Serbia's assistance in resisting the Teutonic-Bulgarian attacks.

Serbian resistance south of the Danube is described in the current Austrian war office statement as "most severe." The Austrian attacks however are reported as everywhere progressing. The Serbians counter attacks are declared to have been repulsed with heavy losses.

Serbians took the initiative at one point on the Bulgarian frontier on Tuesday, according to a Sofia dispatch to London, and crossed the border, but were defeated after an all-day battle in their attempt to occupy the heights west of Belgradehik, Bulgaria.

The Russians now have superiority in munition supplies, a Dutch correspondent at the front telegraphs to the Hague, this accounting for their recent successes against the Austrians and Germans.

According to a Stockholm dispatch, seventeen German ore steamers which ply the Baltic are missing and are believed to have been sunk by British submarines. The sinking of a half dozen German steamers by British undersea craft in these waters already has been recorded.

The British have made a general attack along nearly the entire front from Ypres in Belgium to Loos in Northern France, the German war office announced today. It declares that all the attacks failed.

The line of the reported new attack extends for more than twenty-five miles. If it proves to be a concerted offensive movement it represents one of the most extensive that the British have undertaken.

THICK, GLOSSY HAIR FREE FROM DANDEUFF

Girl! Try it! Hair gets soft, fluffy and beautiful—Get a 25 cent bottle of Danderine.

If you care for heavy hair that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine.

Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff. You can not have nice heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots flamb, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast. Surely get a 25-cent bottle of Know-on's Danderine from any drug store and just try it.

KETTNER FIGHTS WITH BROUSSARD FOR TARIFF.

San Diego, Sept. 21.—William Kettner will fight for a higher tariff at the next session of congress. He wants the schedule raised on sugar, lumber, wool, lemons and farm products in general.

"Protect the farmer," is his slogan. "If the farmers have money times are good."

"Farmers spend their money," he said here today. "They buy wagons, tools, implements and they raise children who need clothes and shoes. Then, they like to send their children to schools in cities. I believe most of our best college graduates come from the country."

Kettner favors a tariff commission. He would refer the entire question to the trade commission, which he declares, "has more power than commissions created by the federal government usually have.

"I believe all that is necessary to put the tariff problem into the hands of this commission is a resolution. This commission can find out just what the different industries of the country need in the way of tariff for adequate protection to them and the labor they employ."

Always For Protection.

He stated that he was always a protection democrat and would fight anything or anybody for the interest of his district.

"I've been in California since 1885," he said, "and have learned to love it. I will do nothing that will injure the interests of this state.

Once a Cowboy.

"When I came to California I drove a street car, punched cattle, ran threshing machines and packed fruit," he went on. "I learned the needs of the farmer."

"What are you going to do when you get back to Washington?" he was asked.

"Listen, brother," he continued. "The democratic party is forced to the issue of a higher tariff. We need a higher tariff for revenue. We are now $28,000,000 short. Unless we raise the tariff we will have to take some radical measures which the people want stand for.

"Such as, for instance a stamp tax like in Mexico; a heavy tar on exports on patent medicines and so on."

"Who is going to help you make the fight?"

Led by Democratic Senator.

"Senator Broussard of Louisiana, a democrat, is leading the fight for a tariff on sugar. He is making the hardest fight of all. That three years clause must be knocked out. It provides that in three years, sugar, after the tariff on that commodity had been cut in half, should go on the free list. With the help of the western delegations and the Florida and other southern delegations, we will give sugar and other products adequate protection. By a higher tariff on sugar, wool, lumber, lemons and so on, we can wipe out that $28,000,000 deficit.

New Cent on Lemons.

"We need a cent on lemons and we are going to get it. The hundreds of representatives from congress who have been brought to Southern California and this district, have been impressed with the necessity of a higher tariff on citrus fruits."

"Bill, if you believe all this, why did you vote for the present democratic tariff measure?"

"To save lemons. You see, brother, you don't understand. The senate wanted to put lemons on the free list. A few firms in New York had been making a hard fight for free lemons. They raised $250,000 which they spent in advertising in magazines and for other things, telling the people what a benefit cheap lemons would be. These importers wanted to draw the lemon trade from Europe to the United States through New York. In conference, it was agreed that I would get a half cent on lemons if I would stand by the bill, and my friends agreed to carry the fight into the Senate for that half cent.

In this way we got it through and now we are going to get a cent.

Republicans Compromise.

"A lot of republicans voted for that tariff bill for the same reason that I did. They made a compromise for the protection of some of the industries in their home district. Besides these old line republicans, all the progressives voted for it. The republicans had declared in two national conventions that the tariff was too high. The democrats got in and made it too low. That is one reason why I believe the tariff should be equalized by a commission with power to investigate what is needed for the right kind of protection."

Kettner promises better times and he promises them soon. He is so positive they are coming that he is willing to bet his shirt. He is sure that he sees them coming through the dust of the horizon, and he says they are galloping down the pike.

"We have been just like a fellow who is running up hill," he concluded. "If the hill is high and steep, he has to stop a little to catch his breath before he gets to the top. That's what we are doing now."

Women.

The safest Liver Medicine which you often need, is Po-Do-Lax. Headaches, biliousness and dizziness caused by constipation readily yield to this "May Apple" laxative. Remember that it is non-gripping and easy in action. It arouses the liver and increases the flow of bile without sickening effects. Get over that irritability by removing the cause—constipation. No gas, no fermentation, no pain. Po-Do-Lax, the perfect woman's laxative. 50c a bottle.
