MRS. THOMSON TELLS WOMEN

How She Was Helped During Change of Life by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Philadelphia, Pa.—"I am just 52 years of age and during Change of Life I suffered for six years terribly. I tried several doctors but none seemed to give me any relief. Every month the pains were intense in both sides, and made me so weak that I had to go to bed. At last a friend recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to me and I tried it at once and found much relief. After that I had no pains at all and could do my housework and shopping the same as always. For years I have praised Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for what it has done for me, and shall always recommend it as a woman's friend. You are at liberty to use my letter in any way."—Mrs. THOMSON, 649 W. Russell St., Philadelphia, Pa.

 "A little over three tons, ma'am," returned Johnny, promptly.
 "Why, Johnny, that isn't right," corrected the teacher.
 "No, ma'am, I know it ain't," said Johnny, "but they all do it."

THE PRESIDENT PRAYED.

More than nineteen hundred years ago, when a great tragedy that was to darken the sun and shake the earth was impending, the central figure of that tragedy went apart to pray, and countless times since that day strong men who were facing great tragedies or great dangers or great responsibilities have asked for guidance from a higher power.

At a recent meeting of President Wilson's cabinet, the president's face showed when he entered the room that the serious affairs of the nation were on his mind. He said to the cabinet members: "I don't know whether you men believe in prayer or not. I do. Let us pray and ask the help of God."

The story of this cabinet meeting is told by Bishop William F. Anderson of Cincinnati, who had it from a reliable source.

"Right there the President of the United States fell upon his knees," said Bishop Anderson, "and the rest of the members of the cabinet did the same, and the president offered a prayer to God. While the war rages in Europe we in this country should thank God that in this crisis of the world we have a chief executive who is a servant of God and who stands with his hand in the hand of God. Every minister in the land should, every time he offers a prayer, take Woodrow Wilson by the hand and lead him into the presence of God and ask that he be given strength to continue to be the great apostle of peace among men."

All over this country, among saints and sinners, among men of all political creed, there is a feeling that a safe man is at the head of this nation's affairs. Men may criticize his methods but his zeal for the welfare of this government and his devotion to right principles are not questioned.

Without realizing what brings up the thought, wouldn't it be right hard to imagine a certain man who but recently held the great office of president asking guidance from any agency, either human or divine?—Beaumont Enterprise.
