At an auction sale held at Baton Rouge on October 26th, ninety-four head of blooded Holstein cattle were sold for a total of $10,475.00 indicates that there is a good demand for pure bred live stock in Louisiana and it is confidently believed that a successful sale could be conducted at New Iberia, Louisiana. It is desired to secure an expression from all who are interested in pure bred live stock as to the probable success of such a sale. It is the intention to forward all letters received to the Agricultural Department of the L. S. U. at Baton Rouge for the purpose of arranging a sale at New Iberia if sufficient interest is manifested. The Agricultural Department of the L. S. U. arranged and managed the sale at Baton Rouge and could probably have one conducted at New Iberia. If interested in this movement address communication to Mr. C. G. Nelson.

—Mr. Wm. Lassalle, the well-known mule dealer of this Parish has been making many sales of fine Tennessee and Kentucky mules for the past two months despite the depressed conditions of the farmers and sugar planters. Unfortunately for those engaged in agricultural pursuits, the purchase of work animals was made compulsory owing to the Charbon that this section was infested with during the past summer and in order to continue their farming operations the investment of more live stock was necessary. The stock brought here and put on sale by Mr. Lassalle was really the finest ever brought from the mule raising sections.

The Oaks owned by the Misses Henderson, situated at the corner of St. Peter and French Streets was burglarized last Sunday night between 12 o'clock and daylight. The burglar made his entrance first on the lower floor where he picked up a pair of gold glasses and then entered a bed room occupied by Mr. S. L. Mellon, taking three pair of pantaloons, one of which contained a $10.00 bill, a walet and a few other articles. After appropriating the currency for his own use the scamp left the pants on the front porch and took with him the two other pair and made his escape. The pantaloons he left behind must have been too light, being summer goods. So far there is no clue to his identity. Considering the fact that there are a number of other gentlemen occupying rooms in the building it was certainly brazen on the robber's part to rob those premises.

For twenty-three years he was engaged in the undertaking business and at the time of his demise was still following the same line of occupation. He leaves to mourn his death besides his devoted widow, six grown sons and daughters, Messrs. Octave J., Daniel, Julius, Walter and Mrs. Louis Flory and Mrs. Amedie Viator. The Agricultural Fair at Baton Rouge last week was reported to us as somewhat on a larger scale than ours of a few weeks ago by a number of visitors who went from here, among them the venerable Mr. J. A. Fagot, who was the guest of his daughter, Mrs. Alfred Gates. The most pleasing part in connection with the recent show there, however, is that some of our Iberians simply "mopped up" as they usually do with Iberia products. Mr. Louis F. Lallande won several prizes with his magnificent Black Orpingtons and returned home more than satisfied with the treatment accorded him and the showing his birds made. Mr. Fagot really admitted seeing some hogs that were larger than any he had ever raised—but the 400 lb. woman was more than he had bargained for—in fact as brother Alpha of the

The Cumberland Telephone Company Exchange in this City, under the management of Mr. Henry Gallois is receiving a complete overhauling, which will put it on a parity with exchanges in many of the larger cities and the patrons of New Iberia are promised much better service when the equipment is completed. Instead of operating two switch boards only one will be used which will make it a great deal handier for the operators and a quicker and more efficient service will be afforded the public. In fact the entire building is also receiving an overhauling which will make it more convenient for the employees and a splendid lunch room is also being provided for use in times of inclement weather. This work has been underway for several weeks and that in a great measure is responsible for the seemingly poor service at the present time. Mr. Gallois the courteous and obliging manager is doing his utmost to get the Company to furnish him such an equipment that the people of New Iberia will soon have no more reasons to complain.
