"I want to tell you what woful benefit I have received from the use of Thedford's Black-Draught," writes Mrs. Sylvania Woods, of Clifton, Ky.

When she had the measles, they went in on her, but one dose of Thedford's Black-Draught made them break and she had no more trouble. I shall never be without it."

PASTIME THEATRE NEW YEAR DAY.

Jesse L. Lasky presents America's most versatile photo-play Blanche Sweet in "The Secret Orchard" from the play by Manning Pollock, founded on the novel of the same name by Agnes and Egerton Castle. The synopsis is as follows:

The sound of merry voices and the clinking of wine glasses came through the closed door of a child's room in an apartment situated in a quarter of Paris where night life predominates and where revellers know they may come and go as they please. It was late at night. The child had been asleep, but awakening frightened, she stepped to the door a moment to listen and then fearlessly, having heard the musical laugh of her mother, she opened the door and entered a large room.

It was filled with men and women, whose gaiety may have had some inspiration from the bottles which poked their heads above the rim of ice buckets, which formed an outer fortification around the banquet table. At the sight of the child the conversation ceased for a moment, then burst forth at some indiscreet remark. A woman arising from the head of the table hurried across the room, caught the child in her arms and carried her back into her room. The woman was Cora May; the child her daughter, Diane, age four. Cora May was one of the stars of the Parisian demimonde. The next morning Cora took the child to a convent, bade her a tearful farewell and returned, sorrowful to Paris. In her ears there still rang relentlessly the words spoken by a friend the previous evening when he saw the child:

"She has the devil in her eyes, Cora, just like you."
The little girl, Diane grew up in the convent, learned to love the Sisters and their sweet ways, blossomed into lovely girlhood and at nineteen, now a beautiful woman, she left the convent to pass a vacation at a friend's home by the seashore, at Narbonne.

"Monsieur le Chevalier" saw the child one day. Her beauty attracted him, her innocence kept him at a distance, but her eyes, those eyes wherein the "devil" lurked, baffled and confused him. There followed a flirtation, innocent enough, a few words between them, a declaration of love and Diane had fallen a victim to the worldly wiles of "Monsieur le Chevalier," who was, in fact, none other than the Duke of Cluny.

Had Lung Trouble and Expected to Die

The many recoveries brought about by Eckman's Alternative are attracting wide attention. Read about this case:

"I was taken sick in November, 1905. I grew steadily worse. Had two consultations. The doctor said that my case was hopeless; only gave me two months to live. My physician had tried most all kinds of treatment and none did me any good, so he asked my husband if he objected to him trying a proprietary medicine. I began your Alternative. I was in bed from November 20, 1905, until February 25, 1906, and was thought dying several times. Today I am healthier and stronger than ever." (Abbreviated.)

(Signed) MRS. H. K. BRILEY. Eckman's Alternative is most efficacious in bronchial catarrh and severe throat and lung affections and up-building the system. Contains no harmful or habit-forming drugs. CHICAGO SINGLE TAX CAMPAIGN IN THE HIGH SCHOOLS.

Chicago, Dec. 29.—Efforts to interest high school students in single tax are being made by the Chicago Single Tax Club through the awarding of cash prizes and scholarships in local schools. The total value of the prizes runs over $4000. All but some $700 of this has been donated in free tuition to the Chicago Law school, schools of languages, business, shorthand, dramatic art and instrumental music.

Winners of the prizes are to be determined by speaking contests and by essays on single tax. Each high school is invited to send up a boy or a girl to the qualifying round. For this generally five speakers are taken and the audience, usually assembled in the hall of the club in the Schiller building, decides the winner by ballot. After a series of qualifying contests continuing through the winter, a final round will be held in the spring.

Bishop Williams of Detroit and Charles Zueblin of Boston are to address the Chicago Single Tax Club this quarter. Mr. Zueblin speaking of "The Legacy of the City," Thursday night, and Bishop Williams on Dec. 10. Among other speakers announced are Stoughton Cooley, Louis Wallis, T. W. Allison, August Dellgren, Henry H. Hardinge, William Rothman and John J. Sonstebly, the latter two school board members debating for and against the Loeb rule involving the right of the teachers to unite and affiliate with organized labor.

W. A. Walsh, 729 Center St. New Iberia, says: "My kidneys and bladder were in bad shape and when attacks of the trouble came on, I was in awful pain. My back ached and I felt miserable all over. The kidney secretions were discolored and contained sediment like brick-dust. The secretions were also painful in passage. Nothing did me any good until I got Doan's Kidney Pills at Taylor's Drug Store. After I had taken three boxes, my kidneys acted normally and I didn't have any more trouble from the kidney secretions. I now feel better in every way and haven't had a return of the trouble."

DON'T KNOCK YOUR HOME TOWN.

The man who talks against his town makes a serious blunder, a serious mistake. To do so is to help to create a sentiment against the place where he makes his living, a place which means much to him at all times and especially when it is prosperous and this it can not be if the citizenship is continually finding some excuse to deplore its existence. One of the essential things in all towns is a successful business organization upon all occasions means that the town is on the down grade and that the persons making the attacks are assisting the town to go further down. No organization can make headway with the citizenship out campaigning against it when they ought to be out speaking praises for it. If the citizenship its way for growth and prosperity they are badly mistaken.—Greenville Banner.
