

HOW CANADA TAKES CARE SOLDIERS' CHILDREN.

Washington, June 26.—How Canada provides for the wives and children of her enlisted men is described in a report by Mr. S. Herbert Wolfe of New York, prepared at the request of the Secretary of Labor and just published by the Children's Bureau of the U. S. Department of Labor.

In presenting the report, Miss Lathrop, Chief of the Children's Bureau, says: In the 50 years since the Civil War, legislation affecting the family and its economic status has shown marked growth. Mothers' pension laws and minimum-wage laws are recognized examples, and it is acknowledged that their result has not been to pauperize but distinctly to improve the power of the family to protect itself. In view of this tendency it is to be expected that a system of compensation for soldiers and sailors can be developed whereby the Government will make possible for their children the home life and parental care which are the common need of every child.

The report points out that in Canada two notable elements have been added to the Government provision for soldiers and their families: First, insurance on the lives of soldiers is carried by various municipalities, and, second, the Dominion has undertaken as a part of its military system the re-education, in a suitable occupation, of the disabled soldier so that he can assume again, in whole or in part, the care of his family.

The Canadian compensation for the soldier and his family includes not only $33 of monthly pay for the private in active service but a separation allowance to his dependents of $20 a month from the Dominion Government and further assistance in special cases from the Canadian Patriotic Fund.

For example, the wife of a private soldier with three children between the ages of 10 and 15 may receive either $15 or $20 from the assigned pay for her husband, $20 separation allowance, and $25 from the Canadian Patriotic Fund, or in all $60 or $65 a month.

If her husband is killed, she will receive $40 a month for herself, and an additional $6 a month for each of her children until her boys are 16 years of age and her girls are 17 years of age. In addition, if she lives in Toronto or one of a number of other cities, she will receive life insurance. This will be paid to her in monthly installments unless she shows that she needs the entire amount at once to pay off a mortgage or to make a start in business.

If her husband is disabled, she will receive a special maintenance allowance while he is having medical treatment and learning a new occupation, and when he is finally discharged, if his physical disability continues, a pension will be paid according to the extent of his disability and the number of his children under 16 or 17 years of age.

Mr. Wolfe is an actuary of recognized authority and he has analyzed especially the municipal provision for life insurance by which certain Canadian cities have supplemented the pensions provided by the Dominion for dependents of deceased soldiers. In Toronto, the municipality has not only purchased $10,000,000 worth of insurance from private companies, but it is itself carrying more than $32,000,000 worth of insurance. A municipal insurance bureau has been organized and $2,000,000 worth of bonds have been issued of which the principal and interest are a charge upon the general taxpayers of the city. Every officer and enlisted man residing within the city limits of Toronto who volunteers for overseas service has from the date of his enlistment been protected by a life insurance policy of $1,000, the protection running from the time of his enlistment to his death or six months after his discharge or resignation.

The report refers also to the fact that each of the European countries makes Government provision for the families of private soldiers and sailors. In Great Britain, France and Germany the amount of the Government separation allowance depends upon the size of the family which must be supported.

For Weak Women

In use for over 40 years! Thousands of voluntary letters from women, telling of the good Cardui has done them. This is the best proof of the value of Cardui. It proves that Cardui is a good medicine for women. There are no harmful or habit-forming drugs in Cardui. It is composed only of mild, medicinal ingredients, with no bad after-effects.

TAKE CARDUI The Woman's Tonic

You can rely on Cardui. Surely it will do for you what it has done for so many thousands of other women! It should help. "I was taken sick, seemed to be . . ." writes Mrs. Mary E. Veste, of Madison Heights, Va. "I got down so weak, could hardly walk . . . just staggered around. . . I read of Cardui, and after taking one bottle, or before taking quite all, I felt much better. I took 3 or 4 bottles at that time, and was able to do my work. I take it in the spring when run-down. I had no appetite, and I commenced eating. It is the best tonic I ever saw." Try Cardui.

SMALL LOT BUYING.

A recent purchaser of a bag of potatoes for which he paid $6.75, found inside a note from the man who grew the same, saying that he received only $2.25 for them. Incidents like this set the helpless consumer to thinking. The public is ground in between a set of adverse conditions, many of which can not be helped save possibly by government interference. Meanwhile part of the trouble is the outgrowth of popular habits, and might be remedied.

For one thing, the consuming public has got into the habit of buying foods like potatoes in very small lots. It costs about as much to cart a peck of potatoes to a man's door as to take several barrels. Consequently the cost of all these little separate deliveries is added together. As a consequence of land to mouth purchasing, the grocer must do hand to mouth ordering. He must be able to get on any day a sufficient supply to meet the little demands of a hundred different families. This makes necessary an elaborate system of delivery by some wholesaler.

Other middlemen make a specialty of storing, holding, and trading a specialty of buying them from the producer. For each pair of hands of this devious journey to the consumer, a profit and costly charges these potatoes, and still others make are added. Formerly more people used to store potatoes and other vegetables in their basements, and they had cellars in which these foods would keep. Now in the cities millions of people live in flats without storage facilities. All through the North, houses are heated with furnaces that spoil the basements for storage. If in some way consumers could buy a season's supply and have some place for storage where vegetables would keep, they would save many charges and be independent of speculators as their fathers were before them.—Ruston Leader.

BE CANNY.

Home preparedness—cans loaded with food. That rubber ring you put on a preserving jar helps you to stretch your income.

The awful question "What shall I have for dinner?" is easily answered if your shelves are full of home canned products. Can't eat 'em all in summer! Not enough in winter! Home canning is the answer.

You put a lid on waste every time you seal a preserving jar. Canned berries are bird proof. Frost doesn't nip canned vegetables.

Canned green peas and yellow peaches help fight the blues. See that your garden produces dry beans, cabbage, potatoes and root crops that can be kept without canning.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by Druggists. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation. (Advertisement.)

You say, Mr. Merchant, that you don't have to advertise because you have been in business so long that everybody knows you. Well, there is a certain mail order concern in Chicago that has probably been in business as long as you have, and we will bet a nickel to a ginger cake that every person that reads these lines can call the name of that firm. And we will bet, further, that over half of your customers have catalogues, of this firm in their homes right now. They see the value of advertising. Can't you?—Ex.

Don't Neglect the Summer Cold We "catch cold" in warm weather because colds are germ diseases and our vitality is too low to resist them. To kill those cold germs, the antiseptic pine-tar of Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey is famously effective, besides helping to relieve the tight chest and invigorate the tissues. The honey and expectorant ingredients heal the throat and soothe the cough. Always have a bottle of Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey in your home, 25c at your druggist. (Advertisement.)

Matagorda county, which is the second largest rice producing county in Texas, is being infested with a new rice pest. This is a species of a brown beetle which works under the ground and seems to work equally as well in flooded or dry fields. About 8,000 acres in Matagorda county has been affected seriously by this pest.
