The family of Mr. W. C. Gosling of Iota removed here last week and took up their residence in East End. He himself has been here for some time and is well acquainted with our rice farmers, being the representative of the Southern Rice Growers Association with offices in the Alma House. Mr. Gosling has the honor also of being the Mayor of Iota which position he has been filling for several years. His term being so near completed he did not resign when he came here, preferring to await the expiration of his office, which we believe is in April. We welcome the addition of he and his family in our little City and feel assured the Southern Rice Growers' Association will be well represented with his presence in our midst.

It will be noted in another column appear a patriotic advertisement urging the citizens of our Parish to purchase thrift stamps. The expense of the space consumed is borne by the Estorge Drug Company of this City who has taken the lead that others should follow to keep the people informed as to their duties in assisting in all kinds of war work. In other communities page after page in newspapers is donated by the leading business men and this same condition should exist here among our patriotic citizens. In the disposition of the last Liberty Bonds all of the advertising throughout the United States that appeared in the newspapers was donated by the loyal citizens of those respective communities.

The sinking of the troop transport Tuscania last Wednesday morning in which some 267 soldiers lost their lives through a German submarine caused great anxiety here. The dispatch did not give the names of the survivors and as Mr. Irenaus Liettemeyer is an officer in a Division of the Michigan regiment, a feeling of apprehension exists here that he might be among the number lost. Mr. Perry Burke was also assigned to a Cavalry troop in a cantonment in Michigan, but was later transferred to Texas and the last news from him is that he is in Washington, D. C.

Since writing the above, the Associated Press gives out the news that William M. Robin of Jeanerette was also on board the Tuscania, and as yet, it has not been ascertained whether he was lost or not.

Our sanctum had an appreciated visit last Thursday from Mrs. J. Lawrence Moore of Dallas, Tex. Mrs. Moore represents Holland's Magazine, one of the most popular home magazines of the Southwest. Mr. Edward Bahon of the Postal Service returned home from New York last Saturday after an absence of several weeks. It will be remembered Mr. Bahon had been assigned by the Government to do postal work in France after passing a successful examination, and departed for Washington to secure his papers. From there he went to New York where he remained preparatory to making the journey across the ocean and when passports were applied for the French Government took the position that he was a French subject and if he went to France he was subject to the call of that Government as a soldier of France. From what we are informed, owing to the fact that Mr. Bahon was born before his father took out American naturalization papers made him still a subject of France. This being the situation which confronted Edward, he preferred to return home, which he did, and he is now at work in the New Iberia post office as heretofore. His friends were delighted that he returned.

New Iberia can now boast of having an industry in its midst that turn out fancy wood work such as lunch counters, bars, desks, cabinets or other fixtures the equal of any in the United States. Those who have reason to doubt our statement will only have to visit the lunch counter and restaurant of Mr. Jules Landry and they will see for themselves the class of work designed and finished in every detail by the Bertrand Lumber Company Planning and Wood Working Mills. The counters and other cabinets that compose these beautiful fixtures were manufactured out of our native cypress and tupelo gum and from a standpoint of elegance and durability cannot be excelled in any part of the country. In the office of Mr. S. O. Luckolls will also be seen two lovely desks that are marvels of beauty and surpass most any piece of furniture ever brought to New Iberia from the largest industries of the East. Even the polishing which is done by skilled manipulators of the brush under the supervision of the foreman of the Bertrand Lumber Company compares, if not excels that from old established houses that have been making a specialty of this business for many years. There is no need now, with an industry of this kind in our midst to send off for anything in the shape of cabinets or fancy wood work of any description. Aside from that when you place an order with this concern it will be well to bear in mind the money is kept at home and it is the only way we can hope to build up our community. The more orders of this kind placed in the hands of this concern, the more skilled mechanics will be employed, and we hope, are less to see the Bertrand Lumber Co. Plant one of the largest of its kind in Louisiana.
