

MIKE'S EFFUSION

All the world seems to be looking to the United States for financial relief. Eventually, when everybody else is taken of, it is possible we may be able to do something for ourselves.

Optimistic reports continue to float out from the arms conference, but up to date none of them appear to have exactly lit. After reading all of the varied reports that are being sent out from Washington one's point of view seems to be conspicuous for its lack of a point.

Will some one kindly mention the league of nations occasionally? We don't want to forget the dear thing entirely. The open door in China is again worrying everybody but China.

And still, if the excitement dies down entirely in Washington there remains the possibility that Mr. Hughes will open his mouth and make another noise.

The former emperor of Austria would be quite justified in scaring up a board grin. He has induced the allies to ship him to Maderia and pay his household expenses.

The days of wars are not over for the simple reason that the days of man are still here.

True, limitation of armaments may reduce taxation, but who wants to forego the privilege of bragging over the size of his income tax?

Evidently the government of Bavaria is hungry, since it is arranging to punish all heavy eaters. The eaters ought to let the government fill up first.

Compliments are invariably appreciated except when followed by a touch.

If the American people get much richer some of us will have to get poor again in order to become conspicuous.

Prohibition has proven quite successful in spots. But where are the spots?

By the way, is congress still in session, or are they loafing around in Washington, or have they all gone home? If those birds don't make another noise soon it will look suspicious.

Although he is surrounded by the high dignitaries of the world, they say Mr. Hughes remains as cool as a cucumber. Of course you know just how cool a cucumber is.

If Mr. Harding continues to keep his mouth shut he may slide into history as the fellow who didn't say it.

When a fellow becomes too wise for his day we just put him down for a fool and let him rip.

The happiest day in the average man's life is when his devoted mother-in-law pops in for a month's visit.

Beware how you tell people you are happy every day of your life. Only the weak of mind are allowed that privilege.

Occasionally we hear of some fellow who never says an unkind word to his wife. But that isn't strange. It requires inordinate courage in some cases.

When the average college graduate returns home with his sheepskin in his hand he is prepared to revolutionize the world. But if dad is wise he begins the revolting first.

Keep smiling, but don't contract that silly grin that won't come off.

LITTLE THOUGHTS ON BIG TOPICS.

By F. W. Barber.

Will hell break loose again? We don't know. Neither do you. Neither do those dignified gentlemen in Washington. Nobody knows.

Naval construction may be limited, warships may be scrapped or sold to Henry Ford, armies may be reduced, and all sorts of covenants may be signed by the governments of Christendom.

But even such drastic measures as these will be no guarantee against future wars.

The money kings have not spoken.

As long as there is money to be made out of war there will be more wars, and everybody knows that war affords the golden opportunity for profiteering on a gigantic scale.

The international bankers, the ship builders, the munitions plants and the manufacturers of war supplies of every nature all make huge profits from war.

As an example, look around a bit. Note the thousands of additions to the army of the sudden rich. Look at the men who count their wealth in millions who before the war were only moderately well off.

Where did all of this sudden wealth come from? From war. Do these birds want more war profits? They do.

War profiteers are singing softly at present because the plain people of the world are aroused. It is not good policy for them to buck public opinion just now. A waiting game promises better results.

They know from long experience that the public soon forgets. It has forgotten in the past, and it will forget again.

Then the man who fattens on war will raise his head and make another noise. That noise will not be a demand for peace.

How can we prevent future wars among civilized people?

Very simple. There is an effective way of putting an end to all wars for all time to come.

Instead of sending young men—poor men—to do the most of the fighting, let the governments of the world enter into an iron bound covenant whereby the rich and the powerful—the heads of the big banking institutions, the owners and directors of shipping plants, officers and directors of munitions plants, steel companies and war manufacturing concerns generally—every man who makes money out of war—let these be the first to be required to shoulder a gun and trudge forth as buck privates and meet the first shock of battle.

Heresy? Possibly so, from the modern point of view.

Unheard of? Certainly not. Consult your history.

In earlier ages, when the higher a man's station the redder the blood that flowed in his veins, the great of the nations marched at the head of their armies and were the first to meet the foe. They did not sit back in swivel chairs and send the less fortunate forth to do or die.

Have you ever traveled in a land of half civilized people? Or are you familiar with the history of our own country when the Indians ruled the plains? If so you know that the savages of standing in the tribes were in the thick of the fight and setting an example to their followers. When the war drums sounded wealth became of secondary consideration to them. Their only desire then was to fight—and fight they did.

The blood of the mighty was red in those days.

Now don't laugh—but can you imagine the Rockefeller's and the Morgans and the other money kings doing that? Wouldn't it jar you to see such a sight? But you won't.

J. M. Cotman, railroad engineer, 412 W. Main St., says: "I was troubled with a heavy ache across the small of my back and when I was on my feet any length of time, sharp pains went through me. My kidneys were in a weak condition and the secretions were unnatural. I began using Doan's Kidney Pills and they soon brought me relief. Continued use of Doan's entirely cured me of the aching in my back, the sharp pains disappeared and my kidneys acted regularly again. I have had no return of the trouble."

FOR SALE BY ALL DEALERS.

THE COST OF SERVICE.

You sell a pound of beef, on the hoof at the yards, for ten cents. Then you go down town to a restaurant and pay a dollar for it. That does not mean, however, that somebody, or even a group of some bodies, has been profiteering to the tune of 90 cents. Perhaps nobody has profiteered. You have been paying for service. Naturally you didn't want to kill and dress your own beef, and cook your steak on a sharpened stick over an open fire in the woods. You wanted all the trimmings—the orchestra, the table linen, the silverware, etc. And, most of all, you wanted somebody to take that steak and keep it on ice for you with a cook and a fire waiting, so that when you stepped into the restaurant and said, "gimme a good porterhouse steak," you could have it right on the spot. You wanted the service. Everybody wants service.

"A witness before the Joint Congressional Commission of Agricultural Inquiry," says Chairman Anderson of Minnesota, "put the elements of merchandising in the following order: First, the exact article or the exact type of goods desired or that will ultimately satisfy; second a pleasing environment and pleasing, dependable quality of service; third, quality of merchandise, and last, price.

"Goods are sold not so much by offering a price as by offering service, convenience, dependability, reputation, credit. The consumer pays for all of this, says Mr. Anderson. "It is like the invisible tax, easy to pay because it is not apparent. In general, 37 cents of the consumer's $1 represents the cost of producing the article; 14 cents represents all profits and 49 cents the cost of service."—Farm Life.

THERE IS VIGOR IN RICH BLOOD.
Pepto-Mangan in Liquid or Tablets—a Blood Builder.

Vigor and strength have as their base rich red blood. Blood is rich when there are plenty of red corpuscles. They are the tiny red cells which swim in blood and give it its color. Without red corpuscles blood would be white. When overworked, or straining, or illness weakens the blood, it diminishes the number of red cells. Without a sufficient number of red cells the blood becomes watery, the body weak. Vigor and strength fall off, so that physical life diminishes like a fading plant. The physical pleasures of eating and sleeping and exercise lose all attraction. There is no zest in living. After Gud's Pepto-Mangan has been taken for a while the blood becomes rich with red cells. They help to nourish the entire system. With good blood at work there is a great difference in living. Eating, sleeping and exercise are enjoyed. All druggists sell Gud's Pepto-Mangan.
