

Democratic Ticket.

For President:

WM. J. BRYAN, of Nebraska.

For Vice President:

ARTHUR SEWALL, of Maine.

Ruth Cleveland will very probably be superseded in the "Baby White House" by Ruth Bryan.

If Bryan should be elected and makes as good a president as he is an orator he will be alright.—Monroe News.

Marshall Field of Chicago, who is reported to have made $7,000,000 in the dry goods business last year, will not allow a line of his advertising to appear in the Sunday newspapers.

Gov. Foster has signed the legislative act to prohibit the game of craps or the playing of dice for money. If the bill is properly enforced it will prove a great good in suppressing petty gambling.

The New York Sun has declared that it will not support the nominee of the Chicago convention and that it is for McKinley.

The Democratic party have shuffled up the cards, and made a new clean deal. Bryan is trumps, and McKinley will have to hold "a fell hand" when he calls the "Boy orator of the Platte."

B. J. Marston formerly of East Feliciana has gained national notoriety at the Chicago Convention. He will be known as the "Louisiana water tank" pure express no sap.

An incident occurred at the Chicago convention which may serve to illustrate the difference between the Southern and Northern gentlemen. Mr. Daniel courteously and properly voted for Mr. Hill for temporary chairman, while the latter evinced a deplorable lack of good breeding by failing to vote for his opponent.—States.

When the bulletins were posted announcing the nomination of Wm. J. Bryan, two Democrats, one a silver and the other a gold man, met on Camp street and commenced to discuss the candidate and the platform of the Chicago convention. In the course of conversation the gold man said to his friend: "Bill, if you vote for Bryan and he wins, we will have free silver and the hardest times you have ever known." "Well," replied Bill, "the times cannot be any harder for me than they are now. I have got down to tin dishes and a dirt floor. The only assets I have are a lot of children and none of them are worth a d—n."—States.

Royal Wedding.

This is the day fixed for the marriage of the Princess Maud, youngest daughter of the Prince of Wales, to Prince Karl, second son of Prince Frederik, the heir apparent to the throne of Denmark. The princess is in her twenty-seventh, and the prince in his twenty-fourth year. The marriage is interesting, because it brings together in the next generation, the families which were reunited by the marriage, thirty-three years ago, of the Prince of Wales to the Princess Alexandra of Denmark. The Princess of Wales is a younger sister of Prince Frederik, whose son Karl now weds the princess's daughter.—Youths' Companion.

Silver Threads Among the Gold.

Times change, and men change with them, it has always been our honest convictions, that the views of President Cleveland and his advisers on the monetary question were correct.

But the masses of the people seem to be carried away with the new craze and a tidal wave of silver is inundating the whole country. We sincerely hope that this irrigation will prove to be a great fertilizer, and that the coming crops of prosperity and future happiness will be fully realized. Time will tell.

But as a "True Democrat," we humbly bow to the will of the majority, and to-day we nail to our mast-head the names of Bryan and Sewall. We will use our utmost endeavors to secure the election of the orator of the Platte, and the ship builder of Maine. Let the watchword be, "We must not crucify mankind on the cross of gold."

Senator Ben Tillman impaled himself on his own pitchfork at Chicago, and this was one of the incidents of the convention which caused general satisfaction among the gold and silver men there and elsewhere.

Normal Notes.

In the debate on school discipline on Monday, the peach branch won.

The second year class attended in a body headed by its instructor, a stylish wedding in the Clerk's office on Friday, 10th.

The physical education class awaken the echoes of the Court House when Prof. Himes tells them to put force into their movements.

Professor B. C. Caldwell has been elected president of the Normal School to take the place of Professor Boyd and he has accepted.

Professor R. L. Himes has also been one of the lucky ones as he has been selected to fill Prof. Caldwell's place as institute conductor. Thus the line of promotion goes on.

On Monday, the entertainment committee will meet to provide for that drive Wednesday evening at 4 o'clock, of which we have heard some talk.

Those persons who have been so kind as to lend their buggies and carriages to the committee will please have them at the Court House at 4 o'clock, Wednesday evening, July 22nd. The drive to Afton will be Wednesday evening.

G. A. P. Notes.

Did you hear any talk about the G. A. P.?

Some one says they had the G. A. P. for breakfast (talk about it we suppose.)

Wonder if we disturbed the peace on Tuesday night.

The smile on the Baton Rouge boys [are we pertinent to use the word boys? we think not] told the tale that there was fun in store for some one.

Had not the hour been late, the merriment would have been prolonged, judging from the remarks that were made by the speaker.

Some one said that the speech of the occasion (though cold) was the invitation to cream.

Do you know the pass word of the G. A. P.?

How about the grip.

Our Mayor turned the keys of the city over to the Grand P. P. and at one a. m. was humming that old familiar air, "Would I were a boy again."

When the goddess of music run her fingers through the Ha-gag, it was very impressive to the weary pilgrim.

There is a run on our druggists, every body wants the Andalusian perfume.

Our District Judge occupied an exalted and dignified position, which was pleasing to his friends and culminated in a happy hit, or as Arctenus Ward would say, three happy hits.

The ballot was very popular, the bald-headed candidates occupying front seats as usual.

The Past Grand Chancellor is expected to explain the true meaning of the grip to all who desire information.

Brother Matthews can be complimented on his untiring efforts, which made the convocation a grand success.

The District Deputy Grand Chancellor was rather late on the Grand Stand, but "Holy Moses," he thought it was a cyclone.

The Y. & M. V., had to "Wood up," but still was on time, and our genial agent got there.

The Grand P. P. will have to sit down on Joe Meyer, he is still laughing and wont stop.
