

"Better Be Wise Than Rich."

Wise people are also rich when they know a perfect remedy for all annoying diseases of the blood, kidneys, liver and bowels. It is Hood's Sarsaparilla, which is perfect in its action. It so regulates the entire system as to bring vigorous health. It never disappoints.

Cottre.—For 42 years I had gotit, or swellings on my neck, which was discouraging and troublesome. Rheumatism also annoyed me. Hood's Sarsaparilla cured me completely and the swelling has entirely disappeared. A lady in Michigan saw my previous testimonial and used Hood's and was entirely cured of the same trouble. She thanked me for recommending it. Mrs. ANNA SUTHERLAND, 406 Lovell Street, Kalamazoo, Mich.

Poor Health.—I had poor health for years, pains in shoulders, back and hips, with constant headache, nervousness and no appetite. Used Hood's Sarsaparilla, gained strength and can work hard all day, eat heartily and sleep well. I took it because it helped my husband. Mrs. ELIZABETH J. GIFFELS, Moose Lake, Minn.

Makes Weak Strong.—I would give $5 a bottle for Hood's Sarsaparilla. It is the best spring medicine. It makes the weak strong. ALBERT A. JAGROW, Douglastown, N. Y.

Hood's Pills cure liver ills, non-irritating and the only cathartic to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Venomous Snakes.
Some years ago a physician undertook a series of experiments on snakes with a view of extracting a sufficient amount of their venom to form a basis for investigation, in order, if possible, to discover some antidote. His laboratory is a curious and somewhat untidy place and one from which those with unsteady nerves instinctively recoil. The apparatus for extracting the venom is a most ingenious and yet a very simple one. A bit of chamomile is tied over the top of a funnel which leads to a bottle. Everything is secured very firmly. The snake is caught by the back of the neck and placed close to this chamomile. He strikes his fangs through it, when they jets of venom are thrown from the fangs upon the glass sides of the bottle, trickling thence into the bottle. Again and again the snake is made to strike. If necessary, other snakes of the same species are used until a sufficient amount of the venom is collected. The relative deadly qualities of the venom of snakes, have also been the subject of experiments. It appears that the diamond-back rattlesnake is the most to be dreaded. The next in order is the banded rattlesnake, followed by the copperhead and the water moccasin or cottonmouth. The poison machinery of the snake consists of a pair of needle-pointed fangs, which, when the creature is at rest, are folded back in the roof of the mouth. When it becomes angry, these fangs are thrown forward, and in the act of striking a tiny jet of poison is thrown from each. The poison is a thin, yellow fluid, which, upon exposure, decomposes very rapidly. Snake poison, if kept from the air or dried, retains its full force for many years.

A Haunted House.
"I don't know why you should say that empty old house is haunted?" "Why, don't you see those ancient window curtains?" "Yes, but—" "Well, aren't they the shades of the departed?"

THE ills of women conspire against domestic harmony. Some derangement of the generative organs is the main cause of most of the unhappiness in the household.

The husband can't understand these troubles. The male physician only knows of them theoretically and scientifically, and finds it hard to cure them.

But there is cure for them, certain, practical and sympathetic. Mrs. Pinkham has been curing these serious ills of women for a quarter of a century. Failure to secure proper advice should not excuse the women of to-day, for the wisest counsel can be had without charge. Write to Mrs. Pinkham for it. Her address is Lynn, Mass.

Among the multitude of women helped by Mrs. Pinkham and by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, is Mrs. JOSEPH KING, Sabina, Ohio. She writes:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—Will you kindly allow me the pleasure of expressing my gratitude for the wonderful relief I have experienced by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I suffered for a long time with falling of the womb, and those terrible bearing-down pains, and it seemed as though my back would never stop aching; also had leucorrhoea, dull headaches, could not sleep, was weak and life was a burden to me. I doctored for several years, but it did no good. My husband wanted me to try your medicine, and I am so thankful that I did. I have taken four bottles of the Compound and a box of Liver Pills, and can state that if more ladies would only give your medicine a fair trial they would bless the day they saw your advertisement. My heart is full of gratitude to Mrs. Pinkham for what her medicine has done for me. It is worth its weight in gold."

A CRAZE OF PSEUDO-SCIENCE.

The Present Remarkable Revival of Medieval Superstition.

In the September Century, Daniel G. Brinton has an article on "Popular Superstitions of Europe." Dr. Brinton closes his article by saying: From some strange reason, there has been a wonderful revival within the last decade of nearly every medieval superstition, under various guises, in the most enlightened centers of the world. The practitioners of this modern sorcery, instead of concealing, advertise their claims, and urge them on the community under pseudo-scientific names and jargons. Palmistry, astrology, sympathetic magic, the doctrine of signatures, hiero-therapeutics, and all the farrago of fifteenth-century thaumaturgy, flourish today in Boston and New York, in Paris and Chicago, to a degree surpassing anything known three centuries ago. There is a reason for this. Sorcery is science seen upside down. There is a confused ground-work of truth, a fallacious method of viewing facts, at the basis of these pseudo-sciences. Yet the truth and the facts exist, and these explain the success of the deceptions. They dazzle and daze minds not trained in sound reasoning; and how few are! The societies for "psychical research" and theosophic speculation begin with an acknowledgment of the possible truth of ghost-seeing and of communion with the divine. This possible ground is seized by the charlatan as proved basis for his illusory edifice. Superstitions are at core the same everywhere and at all times, because they are based on those desires and that ignorance which are and will ever be a part of man's nature. He is dimly aware of mighty, unmeasured forces in ceaseless activity around him, controlling his own destiny; the ominous and omnipotent portent of death meets him at every turn; dissatisfaction with his present condition, intense longing for a life and joy which it can never offer, goad him to seek a knowledge which weights and measures are impotent to accord him. Yet such restricted knowledge is all that science can supply. Therefore he turns in despair to the mystics and the adepts, the Cagliostroes and the Humes, who stand ready to beckon him into their illusory temple of folly.

A Klonidike Newspaper.

The Klonidike Nugget, one of the two papers published at Dawson, is having a great deal of trouble finding its town subscribers, who pay $24 a year for the privilege of getting a semi-weekly edition. A paragraph in a recent issue explains the difficulty by saying that it is very hard to find some of the houses according to the addresses left at the office. Among those mentioned were "the cabin with the screen door," "the slab house facing the river," "the big tent with two stove pipes" and "the cabin three doors south of where all the dogs are."—Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

National Flag Growing Fainter.

Of thirty-five flags shown in a flag of all nations supplement to a London weekly in 1858, barely 40 years ago, eleven have disappeared, among them those of the East India Company, of the Ionian Islands, Tuscany, Naples and the States of the Church, of the Russian-American Company and of Sardinia.

It was a vision that made Cornelius, the Roman, send for a Christian preacher, and it was a vision that made the preacher willing to go. Science and human reason may not recognize spiritual phenomena, but neither reason nor science can consistently deny the possibility that the great Being in Whose realm crowd the infinite mysteries of the universe, did send messengers of regeneration to the poor heathen river pirate.

WELCOME TO ENGLISH SANDOZ.

Opelousas.—The people of Opelousas turned out en masse Thursday night to welcome Ensign Fritz L. Sandoz, U. S. N., an Opelousas boy and a graduate of the Annapolis Naval Academy. He was on the cruiser Cincinnati during the late war, and had charge of a gun at the bombardment of Matanzas. He was honored by having assigned to him the hoisting of the Stars and Stripes over the arsenal of Morro Castle when the Spaniards evacuated that city on Jan. 1. He is home on a short furlough, and recently married Miss Nannie Ward of Norfolk, Va., who is here with him. The reception was held at Sandoz Opera House, and was a brilliant and enthusiastic affair. The speakers were Judge E. T. Lewis, chairman; Judge E. D. Estilete, Hon. John N. Ogden, Rev. T. K. Fauntleroy, John W. Lewis, esq., and Prof. T. H. Harris. Ensign Sandoz will leave for headquarters Sunday, having been summoned there on account of the turn of affairs in the Philippines. As the cruiser Cincinnati will shortly be put out of commission, the young officer expects to be assigned to another warship. He is a son of Mr. Walton Sandoz, a citizen of Opelousas.

Carnival Festival Postponed.

Shreveport.—Owing to the dreadful blizzard and severe snow storm which has swept over this country for the past several days, almost completely locking the wheels of commerce and travel, the Order of the Orientals have decided to postpone the carnival festivities which were to have taken place here Monday and Tuesday, Feb. 13 and 14. The carnival has all arranged the week-end of the 10th and 11th inst. for the purpose of making up for the postponed carnival. The carnival will be held on Saturday night, a proclamation that the carnival would be postponed until the third and fourth of April, when the magnificent trades display procession, carnival parades and other festivities would be held on a much more elaborate scale than which would have taken place on next Tuesday. The change in the dates is received and welcomed by everybody. The crowds which would have come here would have suffered greatly from the terrible weather, and by postponing the carnival to the third of April a much larger crowd will attend.

FOR YELLOW FEVER.

A correspondent of a London paper asserts that no fatal results may be feared from yellow fever if the person attacked, as soon as the symptoms appear, take a tumbler of olive oil, with the juice of a lime squeezed into it. This dose should be repeated till vomiting and purging ensue. "This is infallible in checking the virulence of the complaint," says the letter writer, "and a speedy convalescence invariably follows. I have not only proved its efficiency personally, but have witnessed its complete success in dozens of cases, both in Cuba and South America."

LOUISIANA NEWS NOTES.

SHREVEPORT'S CARNIVAL FESTIVITIES POSTPONED TO APRIL

Ensign Sandoz Gets an Oratorical Oration at Opelousas—Rice Mill and Warehouse Burned in Crowley—Conductor's Leg Broken—Other Items of Interest.

Side Doors Must Close.

Morgan City.—Mayor Shannon has instructed all saloon keepers that they must observe the Sunday law in its entirety. No more side doors will be allowed to open and for the first time in many years the town will be strictly dry.

Colored Church Destroyed by Fire.

Port Hudson.—The Mount Zion (colored) Baptist church, located on the shellroad between the river and the national cemetery, was totally destroyed by fire about 11 o'clock Thursday. It was being used as a public school, and the fire originated from a defective flue. It was not insured and will be a great loss to the colored people.

Fatal Accident to a Conductor.

Hammond.—While unloading a barrel of oil from a car at the depot here Saturday evening G. O. Lord, conductor of the local freight between McComb City and Hammond, in an effort to prevent the barrel rolling off the platform, fell and the barrel fell on him, breaking his right leg above the knee. Dr. W. E. Henkel was called and has the injured man in charge.

Grand Lecturer Hines on an Official Visit.

Clinton.—Dr. C. T. Hines, grand lecturer F. and A. M. of Louisiana, was here last week, the guest of Past Grand Master G. H. Packwood. He paid an official visit to the membership of Olive Lodge No. 52. The brethren have been having a most enjoyable time. His visit here will be productive of great good. He went from here to New Orleans to be present at the coming session of the Most Worshipful Grand Lodge, which convened Monday, the 13th.

Work on the Locks Resumed.

Plaquemine.—Messrs. Jas. Stewart & Co., who have the contract to finish the work on the Plaquemine locks and improve the bayou as far as the railroad bridge, after doing considerable preliminary work and placing much expensive machinery, commenced work in earnest on the locks Friday morning. There is much work to be done in excavating dirt that has slipped in the lock and forced the sheet piling out of line, which has to be straightened before any concrete is put down, and it is this work that was commenced Friday.

Rice Mill and Warehouse Burned.

Crowley.—Another disastrous fire occurred in Crowley Thursday night, when the Southwest Louisiana rice mill and warehouse were destroyed. The property was owned by a joint stock company, composed of Joseph Flash, Dr. S. T. Pulliam, Carl Hettzell, Charles Brown, A. C. Lomand, Hampden Story and T. C. Moore. The building and machinery was insured for $8,000, with a policy of $2,000 on rice in the warehouse. Mr. Flash, the manager, and his helper were in the mill at the time, but cannot explain the origin of the fire, which started near the office.

ENGLISH JESTS FROM RIVALS.

Brown—"Why did you countermand your order for those fountain pens?"

Foote—"The agent took down my order with a lead pencil."

"Tommy, what did I say I'd do to you if you touched that jam again?"

"Why, that's funny, ma, that you should forget, too! I'm blowed if I can remember."

"I've called to tell you, sir, that the photographs you took of us the other day are not at all satisfactory; why, my husband looks like an ape."

"Well, madam, what trouble did you find with the photographs?"

"Why, that's not a woman become a successful lawyer, I should like to know?" asked a lady of a cynical old judge.

"Because, madam," he answered, "she's too fond of giving her opinion without pay."

"Have you ever made an effort to solve that mystery?" inquired the detective's friend. "Sir!" was the laughing reply, "I'd have you under, and that I am working for the city."

"and that a newspaper reporter."

Fitted Under Difficulties.

An English war correspondent in a Cuban prison sent for a tailor to make him a suit of clothes, but on the arrival of the man of the shears the prisoner found he could only consult with him through the bars, and had to stand quite close to them to be measured. In a few days, however, the tailor again appeared on the scene with the garments cut out and pinned together for fitting on, and this he accomplished by stretching his arms through the window bars as before until the "fit" was to his mind correct. When the correspondent came to wear this extraordinary suit a short time after he found it most satisfactory, and well fitting—so much so that it is being worn in London now with much pride.
