"I should say I did," replied Broncho Bob. "I went to a cowboy play and found out that the costumes and dialect we fellows are using out here are all wrong."—Washington Star.

OBSERVE CENTENARY OF LOUISIANA STATEHOOD.

Governor Sanders has issued a proclamation asking all the people of the State to join in commemorating April 30, the centennial of the admission of Louisiana to the Union. After setting forth the history of the act signed by President Madison admitting Louisiana as the eighteenth State and the first State to be admitted west of the Mississippi River, Gov. Sanders says that to commemorate the centennial of the great historical event with appropriate ceremonies, the General Assembly of the State adopted Act No. 107 of 1910, directing the Louisiana Historical Society to prepare a suitable program therefor, and the society has undertaken the work and is actively completing the arrangements for the celebration. The Governor concludes his proclamation by asking patriotic Louisianians to observe this anniversary in some form throughout the State, and that as many as possible join in the great celebration, which will take place in New Orleans on April 30 next, and to the end that all may properly join in the celebration, and particularly the children of the public schools, I hereby request that the day be made a holiday in all the schools of the State, and so far as is compatible with public affairs that the business of the State, parishes and municipalities be suspended, so that all public officers may assist in making the celebration the success which the occasion deserves.

Passenger: "Er—how far are we from land, Cap?" Captain: "About a mile." Passenger: "A mile? Why, I can't see it." Captain: "No; the water's too deep."—Puck.

He who takes no interest in the general weal, and gives no thought for those who are trodden underfoot, save now and then to bestow alms, is not a good citizen.—Henry George.

Life is just one doggoned thing after another. The lower house of congress rises in its might and threatens to overwhelm us with the disaster of free sugar, and now the Mississippi River is rising in its might and threatens to inundate us with entirely too free water. A mixture of sugar and water is all right in some cases, but too much of a good thing is a bad thing, and too much of two good things is worse.—Donaldsonville Chief.
