HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

The money prizes awarded to exhibits from this school at the Mid-Winter Fair and amounting to $14.50, were received Monday. There is complaint however that the exhibits have not been returned.

The score was 18 to 2 in favor of Jackson, in the match game of basketball played last Friday at Jackson. This was a disappointment indeed after the cold ride.

The Shakespearean Club has finished "Hamlet" and will begin "The Comedy of Errors."

The pupils are beginning to plan work for the State Rally.

A few of Mrs. Westmorland's closest friends surprised her one afternoon last week by a tin shower in honor of the tenth anniversary of her marriage. Had it been more generally known, a number of others would have delighted to add their felicitations also, as Mrs. Westmorland, during her residence of several years has uniformly been charming and gracious to all, who have had the pleasure of meeting her, and those admitted into the circle of her friendship, know that she is true and loving in that relationship. The loss of her approaching departure is regretted.

A number of young people having met at Afton, Saturday evening, as callers upon Miss Catherine Bowman, the fair house guest, the time was spent in dancing and conversation. Mrs. Bowman received the surprise with a wide and charming hospitality, and made every one have a delightful time. Afton has been the scene of so many memorable entertainments, that the very spirit of the house is hospitable, and the new owners seem to accept its delightful customs.

Mrs. Westmorland entertained at luncheon recently.

McCALL—YELLOWLEY.

On Wednesday evening, January 28, at 7:30 o'clock, Wilson, La., there occurred one of the most beautiful weddings in the history of that place, when Miss Margaret Bell, daughter of Mrs. Celia Carruth McCall, and Mr. James Brownlow Yellowley Jr. were married in the Methodist church, Rev. P. H. Fontaine of Jackson, La., assisted by Rev. F. W. Sweeney, officiating. Long before the appointed time, the church was crowded with the friends of the young couple who had gathered from far and near to witness the plighting of their troth.

The church, which had been decorated by many loving hands, was a scene of loveliness in its splendor of vines and early spring flowers. Garlands of Southern smilax were suspended from the centre to each corner of the edifice. A succession of arches covered, with smilax and tied with lovers knots of tulle, led to the altar where, from a larger arch of green vine starred with narcissus, hung a white floral bell, under which the couple stood during the ceremony. Just before the appointed hour, Mrs. Fred Hattie of New Orleans sang very beautifully, "Love is a Rose." Immediately afterwards, to the sound of the "Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin, rendered by Mrs. Henry McKowen of Baton Rouge, the four ribbon bearers, Misses Anna Hunt of Fayette, Miss. Nora Fly of McComb, Louise Wade of Memphis, and Jessie Folkes of West Feliciana, entered the church followed by the bridesmaids and groomsmen, who came in singly. They were Miss Anita Perkins of Jackson, Miss. Mr. Leslie Powell of Wilson, Miss Mae East of Wilson, Mr. D. L. Pope of New Orleans, Miss Julia Thompson of Wilson, Mr. Clarence Wilson of McComb, Miss Georgia Mae McGlathery of Pass Christian, and Mr. R. Emerson Thompson of Woodville. Next came the matron of honor, Mrs. Shelby Reid of Amite, followed by the maid of honor, the bride's sister, Miss Alleta McCall, ring bearer Dorothy Blair, and immediately preceding the bride, the flower girl, little Elizabeth Blair. The bride entered alone and was met at the altar by the groom and his brother, Mr. Maury Yellowley of Jackson. The ushers were Messrs. Hezzie Lee, W. O. Blair of Wilson, Carl Walters of Vicksburg, and Fournier Jelks of Port Hudson, cousin of the bride.

The bride, a tall graceful brunette, never looked more lovely than that night, in her draperies of purest white. The veil which was arranged cap effect was caught with a spray of orange blossoms. The dress of white charmeuse was made en traine with lace tunic and butterfly sleeves of chiffon. The trimmings were of pearls. She carried a shower bouquet of bride roses, lilies of the valley and maiden hair fern. Her only ornament was a diamond, gift of the groom. Miss Alleta McCall was gowned in shaded lavender chiffon over violet charmeuse and carried a shower bouquet of violets and fern. Mrs. Shelby Reid wore white charmeuse with shadow lace and silver trimmings. She carried an arm bouquet of white carnations and fern.

The bridesmaids and flower girls carried out the rainbow effect in the color of their dresses. They were of charmeuse made with the new "fish" trines and lace tunics. Miss Perkins was in pink and carried pink carnations. Miss East wore blue with pearl trimmings. She carried pink carnations. Miss Thompson wore green, trimmed with pearls, and carried pink carnations. Miss McGlathery wore canary and carried pink carnations. They wore head dresses of tulle and pearls, a gift of the bride. Miss Anna Hunt wore pink with rosebud trimmings. Miss Nora Fly wore green with pearl trimmings. Miss Louise Wade wore canary. Miss Jessie Folkes wore blue with pearl trimmings. They carried colored ribbons and wore butterfly head dresses of lace, gifts of the bride. Little Dorothy and Elizabeth Blair were in dainty dresses of Swiss, elaborately trimmed with lace and embroidery.

After the ceremony, a reception was held at the house, where a buffet supper was served. The reception rooms were decorated in a profusion of white and red camellias and the dining-room was all in green and white, streamers of tulle falling from the chandelier to each place on the board where were placed bouquets of snowdrops and fern.

Mr. and Mrs. Yellowley left at nine o'clock the same evening for an extended trip through Florida. On their return, they will be at home in Wilson, where Mr. Yellowley has been sent since a recent promotion.

Mr. Yellowley, who was formerly of Jackson, Miss., is one of the most popular officials of the Yazoo and Mississippi Valley Railroad. The bride, who is a member of one of the most prominent families of the Felicianas, is noted for a singularly sweet and lovely disposition, and the host of friends of the young couple can but wish for them all happiness in this new life that stretches out so brightly before them.

The guests from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. Carruthers, Mrs. Joe Himes and little daughter, of Baton Rouge; Mrs. Charles Breedlove and Mrs. Smith, of Clinton; Mrs. Cheston Folkes, of St. Francisville; Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Yellowley, of Jackson, Miss.; Mrs. E. K. Rust, of New Orleans; Mr. and Mrs. H. Jelks, of Whittaker, Miss., and others.

MONUMENT UNVEILED.

West Feliciana Camp No. 483, Woodmen of the World, held ceremonies Sunday afternoon to unveil the monument to their deceased brother, Willis T. Forrester. The weather was ideal for the occasion and a large number witnessed the ceremonies. The Woodmen marched from their lodge-room, promptly arriving at Grace Cemetery at four o'clock. The officers of the lodge conducted the impressive ritual. These were James Roth, J. L. Dupuy, J. H. Kilbourne, Chas. Tadlock, Norman Thoms, Jas. Logan, and Max Schaeffer.

Mr. George Stern was master of ceremonies. The address was made by Dr. A. F. Barrow, and though short, was appropriate to the occasion. He extolled the virtues of the brother, who had passed from earth, and impressed the fact that all should be ready for that summons which comes at an hour we know not.

Miss Amy Leake recited the poem, embodied in the ritual for such occasions, "Oh, why should the spirit of mortal be proud?" in her usual graceful and feeling manner.

The monument was unveiled by the master of ceremonies, and is a beautiful one, representing a tall stump. Within the wedge and upon the grave was a wealth of flowers, that paid their tribute to the passage of mortality into immortality.
