A Card to Owners of Rural Telephone Lines

We are anxious to see that all lines owned by other parties and connected with us are kept in such condition as to furnish efficient service. Where the owners of rural lines are responsible for their upkeep, we want to co-operate with them.

All lines require a thorough overhauling occasionally if the best service is to be obtained. We recommend that every line connected with us be overhauled at least once a year, and that at least one experienced telephone man assist in this work. The cost of this work when divided among all the patrons of the line, makes the amount paid by each man small, and this cost will be more than offset by the improved service.

If the owners of rural telephone lines in this section are experiencing trouble with their service, we will appreciate their talking the matter over with our Manager or writing us fully. We will gladly do what we can toward helping you improve the condition of your line.

RICHARDSON'S PORTABLE
MOVING PICTURES AID
RURAL EXTENSION WORK

Automobile Engine Furnishes Light and Locomotion for Machine.

"Nine parishes containing twenty thousand rural school children have been reached with the portable moving picture outfit since its invention. Rural boys and girls as well as adults, who never saw moving pictures before, see them now in their nearest school," said Mr. Richardson, when asked about the work of the machine.

Last fall the idea came to Mr. Richardson that the automobile was the thing to produce light for moving pictures and lantern slides in the rural schools, and with the assistance of the engineering department of the University he has thoroughly perfected an arrangement whereby the engine of the automobile operates a small electric generator, which in turn furnishes ample light for the production of moving pictures and lantern slides.

Those who are engaged in agricultural extension work, who instruct the boys and girls and also the adults of the rural communities, will certainly find use for one of these machines in disseminating the improved methods of farming. By means of moving pictures and lantern slides an instructor can hold the attention of almost any kind of audience. The parishes which have been covered since the machine has been put into operation are West Baton Rouge, East Baton Rouge, Washington, St. Tammany, Assumption, Pointe Coupee, Grant, Avoyelles and Winn.

East and West Feliciana school children have not yet enjoyed the benefit and pleasure to be derived from seeing these pictures but no doubt that in the course of the next school session, their turn will come.

THREE CONCRETE SPANS CAN BE BUILT FOR $10,000.

fishes should get together and push the project to a reality.

Few people know the real menace of Thompson's creek. During rainy seasons, this is one of the most treacherous streams in the South. During dry seasons the sand beds can be seen stretching for at least a half mile to either side of the stream. Those who are familiar with this creek and its sand beds, can easily appreciate what a great benefit can be derived from the bridging of this stream.

These two striking characteristics of Thompson's creek present difficulties that in the past have successfully combated the ingenuity of man to overcome. Before the day when concrete and steel came into their own as construction material, bridging this stream was a matter not to be thought of, on account of the prohibitive cost. Now, however, this problem has solved itself.

Should this stream now be bridged, a new era of prosperity will immediately make its presence felt in the two parishes. East Feliciana, and the parishes beyond that, and some of the Mississippi counties, will then be in position to enjoy the remarkably low freight rates applying to Bayou Sara.

West Feliciana is practically isolated. Triangular in shape, with the River on one side and Thompson's creek on another, the only natural outlet left is toward Mississippi, and her interests do not lie in that direction. Her natural affluents are toward the east, the west and south. In the era before the railroad, West Feliciana enjoyed commercial supremacy. People east of there simply had to go there to market, but when the railroads came through these same people submitted to exorbitant freight rates rather than undergo the hardships necessary to reach the river. Chief among these hardships was the proposition of transporting freight across Thompson's creek.

There is not a ferry large enough to take vehicles across the river between Natchez and Baton Rouge. With the barrier of Thompson's creek removed, it is expected that traffic through West Feliciana will become so heavy that a steam ferry at Bayou Sara will become a necessity, and thus a new outlet will be opened between the parishes east of the river and those on the other side.

With these improvements, an automobile highway through East and West Feliciana would be the natural result.

Indeed, the advantages to be derived by all contiguous sections are so many and so varied that there is every reason why every man in each parish should do all in his power to help this project.

DIRECTIONS FOR PREPARING CHARBON SPECIMEN FOR EXAMINATION.

Prepare two pieces of window glass about one inch wide and two inches long. Place one drop of the blood toward the end of one piece of glass and with the small edge of the other piece spread the drop out into a thin smear, then dry thoroughly in the sun or air. Prepare a second specimen in the same manner, place the two smeared surfaces together, pack securely and mail to the Louisiana State Live Stock Sanitary Board, Baton Rouge. The address of the person sending it should be carefully indicated on the package and an explanatory letter sent to the Board.

The blood can best be secured by puncturing the vein at the base of the ear with some sharp steel instrument. The instrument used should be boiled for ten minutes if it is to be used again for any purpose.—Harry Morris, Bacteriologist and Assistant Veterinarian, Experiment Stations, Louisiana State University.

It is not enough to know; we must turn what we know to account. It is not enough to will; we must do.—Goethe.

"I could have done better than to marry you."

"A common cry among wives, my dear. You women shouldn't blame us men for your lack of business acumen. To assure yourselves that you have married as well as possible you should invite sealed proposals."

It grieves us to see the New Orleans school teachers trying to explain some reckless talk by saying that the newspapers "misquoted" them and "garbled" the account of their meetings. This is an excuse heretofore limited to statesmen who have talked indiscreetly and were caught out on a limb. The teachers should not resort to "old stuff."—Lake Charles American-Press.
