

44 Bu. to the Acre

is a heavy yield, but that's what John Kennedy of Edmonton, Alberta, Western Canada, got from 44 acres of Spring Wheat in 1913. Reports from other districts in that province show other excellent results—such as 4,700 bushels of wheat from 120 acres, or 23 1/2 bushels per acre, 20,30 and 49 bushels per acre were produced. As high as 172 bushels of oats to the acre were threshed from Alberta fields in 1913.

The Silver Cup
at the recent Spokane Fair was awarded to the Alberta Government for its exhibit of grains, grasses and vegetables. Reports of excellent yields for 1913 also from Saskatchewan and Manitoba in Western Canada.

Free homesteads of 160 acres, and adjoining pre-emptions of 160 acres (at $3 per acre) are to be had in the choicest districts. Schools, convents, hospitals, excellent soil, the very best, railroads close at hand, building lumber cheap, fuel easy to get and reasonable in price, water easily procured, mixed farming a success, mixed farms to best place for settlement, settlers' low railway rates, descriptive illustrated "Last Best West" (sent free on application) and other information, to Dept. of Immigration, Ottawa, Can., or to the Canadian Government Agent.

Bad BLOOD

"Before I began using Cascarets I had a bad complexion, pimples on my face, and my food was not digested as it should have been. Now I am entirely well, and the pimples have all disappeared from my face. I can truthfully say that Cascarets are just as advertised; I have taken only two boxes of them."

TOO BAD.

Mr. Knocker—I had little faith in the curative properties of your medicine.

The Agent—But it cured you?

Mr. Knocker—Yes, of even the little faith I had in it.

Sense of Taste.

From a series of experiments recently made at the University of Kansas it is evident that the average person can taste the bitter of quinine when one part is dissolved in 52,000 parts of water. Salt was detected in water when one part to 640 of the liquid was used. Sugar could be tasted in 228 parts of water and common soda in 48. In nearly all cases women could detect a smaller quantity than men.

Asking Too Much.

"The count has promised that he will never beat or kick me if I will marry him," said the beautiful heiress.

"But has he promised to work for you?" her father asked.

"Oh, papa, don't be unreasonable."

LORD MAYOR GIVES LONDONERS FINE SHOW

LONDON.—The Lord Mayor's procession this year was one of the most picturesque seen in a long time, and was thoroughly enjoyed by the hundreds of thousands of spectators who lined the route. Prominent in the parade were many of the leading characters from Shakespeare, the costuming being elaborate and historically exact.

BREED DRAGON FLY

Mosquitoes' Most Deadly and Unrelenting Foe.

Experiments Being Made at Bronx Park to Determine Advisability of Raising Insects to Destroy Little Singing Pests.

New York.—"Some experiments are being made at Bronx park to determine whether it would be a good investment for the government to breed dragon flies to destroy mosquitoes," said a tall, elderly man who sat in a boat on the Little Bronx river at One Hundred and Eighty-fifth street and Boston road the other day. He was William Conroy, an employe of the zoological department of Harvard, and is spending his vacation in and about New York and Jersey City taking notes on the mosquito.

"Not everyone knows," he said, "that the dragon fly is the worst natural enemy that the mosquito has. Both of them are born in the water, and both wriggle around in the mud and ooze till the time comes for them to emerge. Then they come out on the stock of a lily pad, dry off in the hot sun and split their skin down the back and emerge from it with wings.

"The dragon fly has a wonderful lower jaw that shoots out like an arm and can grab almost anything that comes its way, but what it likes better than anything else is a mosquito.

"A few years ago I was out on the plains of Wyoming at a rather high altitude and near some wet land where mosquitoes simply seemed to eat us alive. Late in the afternoon they came swarming around us as the sun sank, and made life a torment. I was with a troop of United States soldiers, and we had camped for the night and

WAR ON UNINVITED GUESTS

English Woman Asks Friends to Bring Cards of Invitation—Police Eject Undesirables.

London.—The experiences of the London hostess, who has requested all guests invited to her dance at a London hotel to bring their cards of invitation in order to exclude uninvited guests, have been related.

The lady in question, a very well-known London hostess, has suffered such annoyance at the hands of uninvited guests that nowadays she never holds any large function without first taking strict precautions to render the presence of these undesirable persons practically impossible.

"Some time ago I had my eyes opened to this scandalous practice in a most unpleasant fashion," she said.

"I had occasion to give a dance at a London hotel, to which I invited 230 guests. I had very carefully checked these figures before the dance began, yet before it was halfway through the manager of the hotel informed me that there were already over 400 people in the rooms who claimed to be my guests.

"Last year I heard of two ladies—no one seemed personally acquainted with them—who had attended uninvited practically every dance or function of the season. Consequently I have been driven to adopt precautions which, as truly pointed out a short time ago, had become absolutely necessary for the exclusion of these people.

"So I have asked all guests invited to a dance I am giving at a hotel this week to bring their cards of invitation.

"The hotel management has promised to have three men at my disposal, whose duty it will be to take the name and address of every person who comes claiming to be my guest, but is without an invitation."

GIRL LIVES AMONG PUEBLOS

English Student Writes Home of Interesting Experiences in New Mexico.

London.—Miss Frierre-Marreco, who holds a research fellowship to Somerville College, Oxford, an adventurous young woman who is deeply interested in the study of anthropology and who has taken the unconventional course of living with the Pueblo Indians in New Mexico, with a view to getting first-hand information in her pursuit of knowledge, has been writing to her friends in Oxford giving interesting details of her life among the Indians.

She tells how the Indians have christened her "Ta Yopovi," or "Flower of the Sedge." She lives by herself in a little house of wood and canvas, doing practically all her own housework. The Indians treat her with every courtesy and friendliness. She finds an obstacle to her purpose, however, in their reticence on all matters relating to themselves.

"The people are extremely proud and sensitive," she writes, "and very much on an equality with white people, in their own estimation, at least. There is an obvious determination to frustrate the inquisition of white people. In some places it is veiled under forms of politeness; in others it takes the form of open hostility."

She further tells that she succeeded best with the old women, whom she induced to teach her something about Indian medicine.

Chickens in a "Shower," Stamford, Conn.—The "chicken shower" is the latest Connecticut novelty in ministerial donation parties. Seventy members of the Torrington Congregational church called on their new pastor, Rev. W. E. Page, the other night, each person carrying a live chicken. The flock will stock the pastor's hencoop to overflowing.

BOOK ON IRISH FOLK MUSIC

Former Chief of Police Francis O'Neill of Chicago Has Rescued Old Melodies.

Chicago.—No melodies are more tuneful than Irish melodies. No songs stir the heart more surely than Irish songs.

No tune set the pulses leaping or the feet dancing more quickly than the dance music of Ireland.

Who has not been moved to joy or sorrow, smiles or tears by the lyric witchery of Tom Moore? The words of his songs were his own, but the music to which he set them was the music of the Irish race.

Irish folk music is a wonderful treasure house of quaint melody. It has been due to the indefatigable industry and antiquarian zeal of former Chief of Police Francis O'Neill and other Chicago Irishmen that much of the ancient folk music of Ireland has been rescued from oblivion.

Captain O'Neill's two former books, "The Dance Music of Ireland," were collections of music which resulted from his researches. Another volume has just been published which is an outgrowth of his delvings in the music lore of his native land. He has called it "Irish Folk Music." It sets out the history of the ancient tunes and is full of interesting and gossip information about them.

Captain O'Neill is a native of West Cork, the glens of which, he says, are a storehouse of musical treasures unexplored by the great collectors of Irish melodies. Near the Castle Donovan, his grandfather, O'Mahoney Mor, or, as he was generally called, Cianach Mor—his clan title—kept open house for the wandering minstrels of his time.

"Born and brought up in such a home amid an environment of traditional music and song," says Captain

O'Neill, "it was to be expected that my mother—God rest her soul—would memorize much of the folk music of Munster, and naturally transmit it by her lilt and singing to her children, who inherited a keen ear, a retentive memory, and an intense love of the haunting melodies of their race. Similarly gifted was our father, who, full of peace, and content and occupying his accustomed chair beside the spacious fireplace, sang the old songs in English or Irish for his own pleasure or the entertainment of those who cared to listen."

To Start Huge Crab Farm.

Norfolk, Va.—E. E. Elliott of Hampton, the largest crab dealer in the world, will have a crab farm in a basin that cost the government $500,000. It is located at the Jamestown exposition grounds.

It is Elliott's intention to stock the farm with crabs during the summer so that there will always be a supply for the country during the winter. To prevent a "feast of the families" he proposes to cut off the claws of all crabs he puts into the basin.

The government has not yet given its consent to Elliott's plan, but probably will as the basin is perfectly useless at present.

Tramps' Segregation Urged.

New York.—The Prison Association of New York, in its annual report for 1910, takes a strong stand for an industrial segregation of habitual tramps and vagrants.

"Tramps and vagrants cost the state of New York $2,000,000 a year," says the report. "Why pay this price to an unproductive class? New York may well precede other neighboring states in the establishment of a farm colony."

TWO WORLD FAMED GRANNIES

One of These Talented Women is Sarah Bernhardt and the Other Ellen Terry.

Two famous grandmothers are distinguished visitors to this country. Referring to these talented ladies the Rochester Post Express says: "One of the grandmothers is Mme. Sarah Bernhardt; the other is Ellen Terry. Both actresses have reached an age when it is permissible to retire from active life; but the French actress is said to be as energetic as a woman half her age, while Ellen Terry is declared to be as young as ever she was in the palmy days when she and Henry Irving ruled the theatrical world of England. Miss Terry has retired from the stage so far as acting is concerned, and has taken to lecturing on Shakespeare's heroines. And who could do better than she who has played so many of the womanly women of the great dramatist? Readers of her breezy biography know what she thinks of Portia, Beatrice, Viola, Rosalind and other famous women of the tragedies and comedies, but no printed page could charm as does the wonderfully expressive features and the velvet voice of the greatest living English-speaking actress."

Louis Wisna, the Newark artist, wore a gloomy look on his usually cheerful face.

"It has just struck me," he said to Charles Strasse, "that my shoes don't cost me as much as my youngsters."

"Then what are you complaining about?" asked Strasse.

How It Happened.

He was limping down the street with one arm in a sling and both eyes in mourning.

"What's the matter?" queried a friend. "Automobile accident?"

"No," replied the other, sadly. "I met a man who couldn't take a joke."
