

MADE FROM ORANGES

PREPARATIONS THAT HAVE MET WITH APPROVAL.

Is something That Is Generally Appreciated—Desirable Recipe for Orange Cookies—Jelly a Delicacy Always High in Favor.

An orange salad is somewhat out of the usual, but may not be generally relished. To prepare it, peel a ripe orange thoroughly, cut it in thin slices, and remove the pips. Sprinkle each slice with salt and pepper, and then add four or five drops each of good salad oil and vinegar on each piece. A little cayenne pepper is an improvement.

Orange Cookies.—Beat to a cream half a cupful of butter, add one cupful granulated sugar, grated rind of one orange, one egg beaten light, a quarter cupful of orange juice, two cups of flour and four level teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Roll into a sheet, cut into shapes, set into a baking pan, dredge with granulated sugar and bake in a moderate oven.

Orange Jelly.—A recipe for orange jelly comes from the domestic science department of the University of California; that land of oranges. It should be of interest to many women. Try it:

1. To one dozen small oranges, take two lemons. For large oranges take three lemons. If the oranges are sour, no lemons will be necessary. Oranges are not so apt to be bitter after the middle part of the season as those taken at the first part of the season. Slice the oranges and lemons without peeling.

2. Place the sliced fruit in a stew pan and add barely enough water to cover.

3. Bring to boiling and boil very slowly for 40 to 60 minutes.

4. Press the heated juice through a heavy cloth to get rid of most of the particles.

5. Heat the juice to boiling and as soon as it reaches boiling, take it off the fire and let it stand in a quiet place over night.

6. Decant off the clear liquid and filter and strain the sediment left in the vessel through a heavy flannel.

7. Place the filtered liquid and the remaining liquid together and to each pint of liquid add one and one-fourth to one and one-half pints of sugar. Just what will make a jelly with the smaller amount of sugar, while some require the higher amount.

8. Heat to boiling. Boil slowly and stir.

9. Pour into glasses.

10. Cover with melted paraffin as in ordinary jelly making.

Colonial Fritters.
One cupful of fine bread crumbs, half a cupful of milk and pour over them, and set aside to cool, then beat smooth and add yolks of two eggs beaten with a tablespoonful of sugar. Mix together one cupful of flour, a little salt, about one-fourth of a teaspoonful of grated nutmeg and cinnamon, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder and add to the mixture. Beat well, then fold in the beaten whites, beaten to a stiff froth. Fry in deep fat, well in powdered sugar and serve with a sauce. Half a cupful of currants, floured and added to the mixture makes it nicer.

Peas and Celery.
Make a delightful dish. Cook two cupfuls of raw celery cut in dice in enough boiling water to cover till tender. Drain off the liquid and measure out one cupful, thicken with two tablespoonfuls of flour rubbed smooth with an egg of butter; boil till smooth and add the celery and one can of peas which have been previously drained in cold water. This is very nicely served in ramikins and slightly browned in the oven.

Waxed Lima Bean Puree.
Take one and a half cupfuls dried lima beans, soak over night in cold water. Wash and rinse; cover with water and let simmer until the water is reduced to one-half. Mash the beans from the water, through a sieve. Add one-fourth cupful of butter, a teaspoonful or more of a dash of black pepper, and, if desired, a little cream. Beat until smooth and fluffy. Put through pastry.

Use Waxed Paper.
Waxed paper, such as comes inside of a box, is splendid to line cake pans. It is a trifle thin. Cut a piece of it, then flour them, pour in the batter, stand the hot pans after they are done on a wet cloth for five minutes. The cakes will drop out when Orange Wine.

Take leaf sugar, one pound of oranges, five quarts water; boil for one hour and add 25-cent bottle of yeast.

ALL THE PROOF NECESSARY

Surly Man Must Have Been Convicted That He Was Occupying the Other's Chair.

It was the rush hour in the cafeteria, one of these quick-lunch places where you help yourself and grab a chair and use the arm of the chair as a table. A rushed feeder grabbed a slice of pie and copped out a chair. Then he remembered he needed coffee and he dashed over to the service counter. When he returned with his coffee his chair was occupied by another hurry-up diner.

"Excuse me," said the first man, "but that is my chair."

"How do you know it is your chair?" demanded the occupant in a surly tone.

"Because I can prove it," stated the first man.

"How can you prove it?" asked the occupant.

"By your trousers," was the reply. "You are sitting on my pie."

"Labby" as a Diplomat.

In Mr. Thorold's "Life of Henry Labouchere" this story is quoted: The grand duchess of Tuscany had a venerable maid of honor about seventy years of age. She had piercing black eyes, and looked like an old post chaise, painted up, and with new lamps.

"How old do you think I am?" she once asked me with a simpering smile, that caused my blood to run cold.

I hesitated and then said "Twenty."

"Flatterer," she replied, tapping me with her fan. "I am twenty-five."

Choked Him Off.

Young Percy Prunes had persistently paid his attentions to the beautiful girl in the next street. From her point of view they were about as welcome as rent collectors are on settling days.

Once he chanced to get her alone with himself at a Christmas party. They sat down together.

"I—I think I—er—er—I will approach your father tonight. Could you advise as to how I should commence?"

"I consider, sir, that you had better suggest before commencing that he should bear in mind the penalties resulting from violent assault, butchery, manslaughter and damages to person. Papa is so impulsive, you know."—Answers.

Not Ambitious.

The evening meal didn't exactly appeal to little Waldo, and he ate sparingly. Mother, like all mothers, immediately became alarmed, and urged him to eat.

"You must eat something, Waldo," she said, "so you will grow to be a great, big, strong man."

"Mamma, I don't want to be a policeman," the youngster said, making no move to attack his meal.—Indianapolis News.

RETORT MUST HAVE STUNG

Effective Rebuke If Recipient Had Not A Hide as Thick as a Hippopotamus.

One may be excused for feeling a little joy when the man who goes out of his way to make a rude remark in order to display his wit receives a rebuke that is as courteous as it is at the same time effective.

The retort given by a certain learned scientist must have been considerably more amusing to the onlookers than it was to the learned gentleman's antagonist.

It happened at dinner that one of the guests began to deride philosophy, and went on rudely to express the opinion that philosopher was but another way of spelling fool.

"What is your opinion, professor?" he asked. "Is there much distance between them?"

The professor, with a polite bow to his vis-a-vis, responded gravely:

"Sometimes only the width of a table."

Misconception.

Representative Herman A. Metz, apropos of neutrality, said at a luncheon in Philadelphia:

"Some of these people take a low, debased view of neutrality; otherwise they wouldn't do the things they're doing."

"Their idea of neutrality, in fact, reminds me of the two actors' idea of marriage."

"At the seventh wedding breakfast of the first actor the other, who had himself been married six times, said:

"Well, old man, I thought you had learned by this time that a marriage is nothing but a sentence of hard labor for life."

"Yes," said the other actor, "but it's a sentence that you can get commuted by bad behavior."

Modest Hint.

They were at tea near the college grounds, she quite pretty and engaging despite the fact that she was in Teachers' college, and he an earnest student of the law. They had gone quite far along the pleasant road of romance. He inquired what degree she pursued.

"I aspire to be a M. R. S.," she replied demurely.

"I dare say it's hard," he answered, absent-mindedly. Hours afterward, under the green shaded light in his own room, it all came to him suddenly.—New York Evening Post.
