S. D. TENNEY, Agent.

Lake Charles is to be congratulated upon having been selected as the place of meeting for the next annual meeting of the State Teachers' association.

According to the Journal of Commerce, there is a general decline on practically all food stuff, in evidence at the present time, the price of pork dropping $2 per barrel, corn 10 cents per bushel, with flour feeling a like decline. It is pointed out that the present decline is a working out of the inflexible law of supply and demand. What a pity the inflexibility of this law was not discovered a good while ago.

Mr. J. Gordon Gibb has just received word that a pure short horn heifer raised by him on his farm in Canada, has just been sold at the Stanton sale in Chicago, for the record price of $3,050.—Lawrence Kansas Gazette. And yet there are people even in enlightened Louisiana, who wonder if it pays to pay $100 to $200 for a thoroughbred bull to grade with their herd rather than to continue breeding to the long horn that costs $12.50.

According to the New Orleans Advice, the next task before the advocates of the Panama Exposition, is to secure the support of the country papers of Louisiana, for a state tax to raise funds for the exposition. Judging from the sentiment of many of the papers of the state, that reach our desk, this will be the most difficult task that will confront the promoters, unless, perhaps, it be that of getting the voters to vote the tax after the country papers are converted.

In the pardoning of Cooper, the slayer of Senator Carmack, within an hour after he was found guilty, after a fair and impartial trial by the highest tribunal of the state, and before any petition or request had been made, asking for a pardon, or any investigation had been made, relative to the case as finally settled, Tennessee's governor has given an unprecedented example of anarchy and disregard for the laws of the state, in high places. Such an act, on the part of the chief executive, is a blot on the fair name of Tennessee, that can only be effaced by the political annihilation of the offender. And a man who will take such an unwarranted advantage of a position that he temporarily holds, is a menace to the life and liberty of the people over whom he rules.

The question of a practical paying market for all the rice that the country can produce, is one of paramount importance to this section of the United States, at the present. A quest for such a market is being made by the wise ones, even to the uttermost parts of the earth, seemingly to no avail. Yet, right here at home, as may be seen by reading this issue of the Journal, a means of marketing rice at a profit has been discovered and demonstrated. Crowley gentlemen have demonstrated that rice fed to even 40 hogs is readily marketed at about $2.00 per barrel, while when fed to six and eight cent hogs, it is sold at a splendid price. Again, Mr. Geo. Cosner and Mr. A. R. McBarney have demonstrated that a ration composed chiefly of rice, produces the finest beef in the world, and that, at a decided profit. Beef can be made to yield from three to four dollars per barrel when converted into pork and beef, why seek longer for a foreign outlet for the rice crop? The supply of pork and beef will never exceed the demand, and no country can produce it as cheaply as the South-land when the feeding value of rice is fully utilized.

Needs Laundry.

Leave your work at Ed Dowd's Tin Shop, or the Laundry and I will call for it. Bus leaves Wednesday, laundry delivered Saturday.

The greatest excitement prevails in Jennings that has existed there since the days when Alba Haywood used to announce a couple or three new gushers each morning before breakfast. Yet, it is not oil that has thrown that little village into its present spasms of excitement, but an oily tongued man, who arrived there a few days since and deceived some scores of the most prominent ladies of the place into the belief that he had found the long looked for fountain of youth, and had it in bottles, at so much per bottle. This wonderful preparation was warranted to remove freckles, change the color of the hair, convert a pug nose into a classic Grecian and perform any and all other such slight changes as might be desired to enhance the beauty of the user. Well, the way those Jennings ladies took the bait, hook and all, was a caution. And it is said that Mr. Beauty Faker picked up as nice a bunch of pin money as is often found loose in one little village. But like many another hero, he outlived the days of his popularity, and as a result of his refusing to refund the money paid to him by some hundred or so dissatisfied customers, the next morning, the ladies now say he is a mean, nasty man, and they never did like his looks anyway. It is reported that after leaving Jennings, this dispenser of good looks, headed for Welsh, but a single glance at the beautiful faces of the ladies of Welsh, convinced him that there was no chance for him to improve on the handiwork of the Almighty, in this city, so he pursued his way like Alexandria of old, sighing because there were no more Jennings' to conquer.

LOCALS CONTINUED

Owing to the prevailing cool weather, the ladies of the Presbyterian C. E., have decided to postpone the ice cream supper, that was to have been given on the Daniels corner tonight, for one week, or until Friday night, April 29. The Welsh band has kindly consented to furnish music for the occasion. A cordial invitation is extended to everyone to come out and enjoy a pleasant evening.

John Doescher, representing the Geiser Thresher company, was over from Lake Charles on business, Wednesday.

Will Kimble, who has been running a pumping rig near Port Arthur, for some time past, returned to Welsh Wednesday. His brother Arthur, formerly proprietor of the Star Restaurant, went to Port Arthur to take his place.

Mrs. J. M. Booze and her sister, Miss Harris, of Roanoke, were shopping in Welsh Wednesday.

Miss Yeola Richard, the popular music teacher, returned to Welsh, from Opelousas, Monday evening, having decided to continue teaching in Welsh, rather than to go to Opelousas, as she had contemplated doing. Miss Richard's circle of friends, and especially her class are well pleased with her decision.

WOMEN READ ADS.

They Knew Whether Merchants Have Their Names in Newspapers.

To womankind, the news of the retail stores, as seen in the advertising, makes an intimate personal appeal, because closely related to home interests.

"Did you ever watch a woman read a newspaper?" inquires a writer. "It not, try it today." Our observation both at home and abroad, indicates that women show a very keen interest in the advertising. They look with avidity to see who is cutting prices, who has the most fetching styles. They weigh every word of what the merchant says to them. It is with a less personal interest that they turn to the political and general news.

Retail advertising is to the home-keeper what the crop news is to the farmer and what the wholesale market reports are to the grocer. Women naturally feel this alert interest in the advertising, because it is full of information essential to their effort to make the family income accomplish the largest results. Merchants who fail to cooperate with this effort by an adequate public statement of prices and values, are simply ignored in the appointment of domestic expense.

When a politician's name is rarely seen in the dispatches, the voters assume that he is out of the game. When a merchant's name rarely appears in the advertising, the women assume he is lost in the shuffle. No business enterprise can afford to ignore the women.—American Press.

Wilkins Farm a Good Example of What Can Be Accomplished in This Section.

Welsh La. April 18.—A carload of yearling steers shipped from Welsh this week brought $26.75 round. Local buyers paid for them $6 a hundred-weight. They were fattened on ground low grade rice.

A carload of two-year-olds and three-year-olds brought $5.25 per hundred-weight. They were fattened on ground low grade rice.

A carload of hogs shipped from Welsh, brought $10 per hundred-weight in Houston. They were fattened on ground low grade rice.

The Wilkins Farm Co., which drained the Grand Mirias and made a rich and productive farm out of an alligator hole, has 350 head of Aberdeen Angus cattle, which are yielding large returns. Four years ago this herd was started with sixty Creole cows, to which were added 200 Creole and Texas cows. Blooded Angus Aberdeen bulls were bought and after running with the herd four years, they have just been sold for $10 apiece.

The Wilkins herd now stands the Wilkins Farm Co. as follows:

Animals purchased $2,700.

Animals sold, $4,800.

Animals left, $7,000.

The Wilkins Farm Co. has not bought a pound of feed for a year, either for its work stock or for its herd of beef cattle or hogs.

It is feeding ground low grade rice. The Wilkins farm has a large corn acreage this year.—Jennings Times-Record.

City Council Orders 1,000 Feet of Standard Fire Hose and Two Hose Reels.

At a special meeting of the city council, held in the council chambers Tuesday afternoon, the city fathers ordered 1,000 feet of 2 1/2 inch standard fire hose and two hose carts of 500 feet capacity, each. The order was given to a New York firm, through their special agent, who was in attendance at the meeting. The hose is guaranteed to withstand a pressure of 350 pounds, which is far in excess of any pressure that a hose is usually put to. The new equipment complete, will cost less than one thousand dollars and will be the means of saving many thousands of dollars worth of property in the case of a conflagration similar to the one that recently devastated our town. With this equipment it is more than probable that the recent fire would never have gotten out of the building in which it originated, as two strong streams of water could have been brought to play upon the fire within a very short time after it started.

It has been commonly asserted that Welsh had insufficient water supply to properly combat a fire. This statement is not strictly correct, as it was demonstrated the morning after the fire, when the Lake Charles hose was put in commission, that the water pressure from the Southern Pacific pump was sufficient to throw a powerful stream, and the Van Ness Pump is equally efficient in its workings. Either of these pumps can be placed in commission within a few moments. And while the Journal is not authorized to state that either of these sources has been arranged for, yet we are confident, not only that they can, but will be secured.

While the action of the city council will doubtless meet with the hearty approval of everyone interested, yet it remains for the citizens to do their part, before we have an efficient fire fighting machine. Granted, the hose and the water supply, it yet remains to organize a volunteer company, then a repetition of Easter morning's disaster will be practically impossible.

Presbyterian Philathea Class Elect Officers.—Enjoy a Social Evening.

The young ladies of the Presbyterian Sunday school, met at the home of Mrs. L. E. Robinson, Friday evening and organized a Philathea class, with the following officers: President, Miss McDonald; vice president, Miss Ione Robinson; secretary, Miss Mabel Gabbert; Treasurer, Miss Irma Robinson; press Reporter, Miss Eldia Yantis.

After planning for the work of the class, the remainder of the evening was spent in a social good time, after which dainty refreshments were served.

Case of Charbon at Jennings.

The first case of charbon reported this season, comes from Jennings, where a cow died very suddenly a few days ago. Dr. Tabor pronounced the case charbon, but in order to make sure of the correctness of his diagnosis, he sent a piece of the carcass to Dr. Dalrymple at Baton Rouge. Both Dr. Dalrymple and Dr. Paulsen pronounced it a bountied case of charbon.

Just What it Means.

There are yet farmers living here, who buy corn and hay and flour from the west! What does this mean? It means that the money that ought to go to the education of your children, money that ought to be used in improving your homes, money that ought to be used in building that sand-clay road, which you didn't come to town on to-day, is being used in those far western states to educate people whose acquaintance you will never enjoy, to make beautiful homes you will never live in and to build roads you will never ride over.—T. B. Parker, in Starkville, (Miss.) Progressive farmer and Gazette.
