REDUCE THE COST OF LIVING

Manchurian Lima Beans are among the cheapest and best food products known—superior to meat potatoes, green vegetables or bread. California Limas are scarce and high. Try the Manchurian Lima. Ask your grocer for them.

The Manchurian Lima Bean, though only introduced comparatively recently, has become a very important factor in the food supply of this country.

This bean is very rich in protein, and in this respect is superior to most articles of food that appear on our tables.

It possesses a delicious flavor—more delicate than any other bean and lends itself to the arts of the cook in a greater variety of dishes.

There are a few general rules that should be observed in the cooking of these beans, and these apply to other varieties as well as the Manchurian Lima.

1. Always soak beans in cold water for several hours (preferably overnight) before putting on to cook.

2. When putting beans on to cook always put on in cold water, and add a pinch of soda when water commences to boil.

3. While beans are cooking see that they have plenty of water and cook slowly.

The secret of cooking these beans is to soak in cold water before cooking. The longer they are soaked the quicker they will cook.

Ask Your Grocer For Them.
