

THE SMITH-SHAMRAY WEDDING.

A wedding of unusual interest to the community, and one that has been looked forward to since the announcement of the happy young couple's engagement, took place last Sunday night, when Miss Edythe Smith, the charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Smith, became the bride of Mr. P. L. Shamray, of Los Angeles, Cal.

The church was a veritable power of loveliness, white and pink roses being used in artistic combination with green fern in the decoration for the occasion.

The able and accomplished organist, Mr. Geo. M. Vail, rendered the following program before the ceremony: "Cantique d'Armour", Gillette; "Benediction Nuptial", Fryinger; "Song to the Evening Star", Wagner; and "The Wedding March from Mid-summer Night's Dream", Mendelssohn. To the strains of the last named first came in Mr. and Dr. M. J. Shamray, of New York City, father and mother of the groom.

Cohn's dress was of pink taffeta. She wore a picture hat to match, carrying a bouquet of fern and pink Nasterstiums. Miss Jennie Goldsmith, maid of honor, followed, dressed in yellow Georgette with hat to match, and carried a bouquet of yellow Jon Quills and fern.

Then the little flower girl, the very bright and attractive little Miss Florence Rosenthal of Lake Charles, dressed in white and carrying a white basket trimmed with ribbon and little showering rose petals in the path of the bride, who followed, leaning on her father's arm. She was attractively gowned in a white Duchesse Satin gown, Paris model, draped and trimmed with real pearls.

Following the impressive wedding ceremony, the bridal party, including the relatives and immediate friends, repaired to the Majestic hotel, where a three course supper was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Shamray left on No. 101 that night for Los Angeles, Cal., where they are at home.

A large number of the Welsh friends of the bride and her family attended the wedding ceremony at the Temple. The bride has grown to womanhood in this community, where she has a host of friends who wish her happiness and prosperity in bountiful measure.

The groom, Mr. P. L. Shamray is prominent socially and in a business way. He is identified with the motion picture producing business as chemist. His father and mother, Mr. and Dr. Shamray, are prominent residents of New York City.

The little folks had a fine time and in departing wished the twins many returns of the happy occasion.

CHARLES RAY'S FOLKS WANTED HIM TO BE A REAL "BILL HENRY."

Paramount Star Edged into Theatre After Training in World of Business.

Bill Henry Jenkins is the name of the character portrayed by Charles Ray in Thomas H. Ince's latest Paramount photoplay, "Bill Henry," which comes to the Auditorium on Tuesday night, April 4th, and this is a new type of youth misunderstood.

He starts out as a salesman. That's the way Mr. Ray's parents intended he should start out—in the commercial world. They send him to the Los Angeles Polytechnic school.

One taste of the footlights upset all parental plans. He started out on the road with stock and musical companies all of which went broke at some far out of the way place. It was following such a breakdown that he made his way back to Los Angeles, determined to try the pictures.
