

CALOMEL

Calomel salivates! It's mercury. Calomel acts like dynamite on a sluggish liver. When calomel comes into contact with sour bile it crashes into it, causing cramping and nausea.

Take "Dodson's Liver Tone" Instead!

If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your druggist and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents, which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money. If you take calomel today you'll be sick and nauseated tomorrow; besides, it may salivate you, while if you take Dodson's Liver Tone you will wake up feeling great, full of ambition and ready for work or play. You can give it to children, too.—Adv.

GREAT "FIXER," IS LARDNER
According to Chauncey Depew, Humorist is "All to the Good" as a Diplomat.

Chauncey M. Depew is a great admirer of Blag Lardner and delights to relate an anecdote concerning the well-known sport writer and humorist. It was at a club in Philadelphia and a certain gentleman whom the crowd was trying to entice into spending the evening there declared he could not remain because he had promised his wife he would come home.
"I'll fix it for you," said Lardner, and darted into the phone booth. Presently he emerged, shouting:
"It's all right, old chap, your wife says you can stay!"
"How in the world did you manage to bring her round?" asked the amazed man.
"Easy," replied Lardner. "I told her you were roaring drunk and should I bring you home or keep you here, and she said:
"You can have him, Mr. Lardner."

WASHINGTON NEWS.

The soldier relief bill was passed Saturday by the house, 289 to 92, and sent to the senate.

Despite the recent reduction in prices little relief from the general reign of high prices is seen by the federal reserve board in its analysis of May business conditions, made public this week. The board expressed the view that there has been no change in the underlying conditions responsible for the high cost of living.

President Wilson vetoed the peace resolution Thursday and informed congress he could not become a party to the peace program framed by republican leaders of the senate and house, because he considered it would put an "ineffaceable stain" on the nation's honor. To establish technical peace by such a method, the president said, in his veto message, would be to effect a "complete surrender of the rights of the United States so far as Germany is concerned" and to relinquish all the high purposes which led the nation into war and which were embodied in the rejected treaty of Versailles.

Colonel William Cooper Procter, Cincinnati manufacturer, described as "the angel of Major General Leonard Wood's Ohio campaign," testified Thursday at the senate investigation of pre-convention political financing that he had advanced $500,000 to Wood's national organization. He estimated that contributions from all other sources would not make as much.

The league of nations commission on plans for formation of an international court of justice will meet at The Hague, June 11, the American minister to the Netherlands Thursday advised the state department. Former Secretary of State Elihu Root will attend the meeting.

Investigation was ordered by the state department this week of circumstances attending the kidnapping of two Americans in Mexico. The American consul at Chihuahua was instructed to conduct the inquiry, and there were indications no representations would be made to the new Mexican government unless the investigation develops that the men were seized by others than forces of Francisco Villa. It was assumed, however, the Americans were carried off at Villa's orders as a part of his tactics to extort tribute from the mining companies.

Sir Auckland Geddes, the new British ambassador, formally presented his credentials to President Wilson Wednesday at the White House and exchanged with the executive assurances of good will and amity.

Authority for the treasury to make final settlement under which back taxes, estimated at $1,000,000,000, will be paid the government, is provided in a bill passed Thursday by the house and sent to the senate. The measure amends the 1918 tax law.

Lacking 29 votes of the necessary two-thirds, the house failed Friday to pass the Knox resolution to end the war with Germany and Austria, over President Wilson's veto. The vote was 220 to 152, 17 democrats joining with republicans in attempting to override the veto, while two republicans voted with the democrats to sustain it.

Advices to the state department from Mexico indicate the revolutionists have much to do before a stable government can be established. Military leaders are reported at various points with small armed forces, either still loyal to the Carranza regime or for other reasons hostile to the de facto government.

Kleeburger of Fort Worth, secretary; Neal Hostetter, Hudson McAdams and R. E. Wood of Houston, C. F. Smith of Waco, J. D. Farr of San Antonio, board of governors; Fred Flato, Waco, sergeant at arms. The 1921 meeting of the association will be held at Houston.

The thirty-sixth annual convention of the Texas Bankers' Association, said to be the greatest in point of attendance since the association was organized, came to a close at Galveston, Texas, Thursday, with the election of Eldred McKinnon, vice president of the Citizens State Bank, Austin, as president, to succeed F. M. Law of Houston. San Antonio was selected as the next meeting place, winning out over El Paso.

FOREIGN NEWS.

The Stars and Stripes and the tricolor of France flew side by side Sunday over every American grave in France, while doughboys and poilus performed the military honors in a great Memorial Day observance by the French nation. There were detachments from the army of occupation at most of the ceremonies, but there were a few remote burial grounds which the American troops could not reach, and over these graves detachments of poilus fired volleys for their comrades in arms.

Several cases of what is believed to be bubonic plague have been discovered at Vera Cruz, Mexico.

Great Britain Sunday bowed in a spirit of reverence for the 2,000 American dead soldiers, sailors and marines and the eighty Lusitania victims who lie buried in various parts of the islands. It was an Anglo-American day service which in London filled St. Margaret's, Westminster, with British and Americans of all ranks of society, under the auspices of the American secretaries.

Greek troops began the occupation of Turkish Thrace Friday and the first trainload has arrived opposite Adrianople. The occupation is said to have been without incident.

General Rodolfo Herrero, who has been accused of participating in the alleged assassination of President Carranza of Mexico, in a message Thursday to General P. Elias Calles, minister of war, repeated his previous assertion that Carranza committed suicide when he saw himself in danger of capture by a force of 80 men under Herrero.

The dirigible airship R-34, which flew across the Atlantic from England to New York and back in 1919, had a trial flight Tuesday and shortly probably will attempt a flight from Rome to Buenos Aires.

The de facto government of Mexico has begun its threatened campaign against Francisco Villa. Commands have been sent into the mountains of Parral district to hunt down the bandit and that Villa has ahead of him the fastest dodging of his career if he is to escape the cordon of troops closing in on his bands.

Discussion of the special tax on bachelors and spinsters of France caused a scene so violent in the French senate Friday in Paris that the presiding senator, Alexander Beraud, in the absence of Leon Bourgeois, the president, was obliged to suspend the session.

The bolsheviki in strength forced a passage of the Beresina River south of Borisov Friday, but the Poles by a concentric attack, recrossed the river, cutting off the enemy's retreat and taking hundreds of prisoners.

General Francisco Villa, bidding defiance to the newest Mexican government, again has become an outlaw among his own people. The bandit, with a small force of men, was reported Tuesday between Parral and Jimenez, Mexico, the hunted quarry of de facto troops with a price of 100,000 pesos on his head.

The automobiles of King Alexander of Greece and Count Allain de Kergerou collided Friday in the forest of Fontainebleau in France. The king escaped injury, but the count was seriously injured.

Wedding Ring Once Barred.

The Puritans of the seventeenth century used no ring at the wedding ceremony, as they considered it "a pagan symbol and superstitious contrivance." All that they required was that the man and woman should join hands when stating their purpose to live together in wedlock.

By a King's Decree.

Up to 1785 pocket handkerchiefs were of every conceivable size and shape. Then one evening Queen Marie Antoinette, in a fit of passion or indignation at Versailles, said that all handkerchiefs should be uniform if they were to indicate good taste. The result was that Louis XVI issued a decree early in 1785 that all pocket handkerchiefs should have right-angle edges. So right angle they are and have been ever since.—The American Embroiderer.

"BAREFOOT JOE" VERY CAREFUL OF THE BALL

When Joe Jackson was playing with a team down South Carolina way many years ago, he didn't wear $10 baseball shoes.

For financial reasons Joe wore nothing on his feet. He roamed all over the briars, stubble and other litter in the outfield, which included numerous broken bottles, without it bothering him.

At the end of the fifth inning of a certain game Jackson came in to the bench and expostulated with the manager.

"You'd better get that glass out of center field," he said, "it's cutting the ball all to pieces."

LEARNED LOT IN BIG SERIES

Jimmy Ring of Champion Cincinnati Reds Picked Up More Than Coin in Crucial Games.

Smart ballplayers come out of a world series with something more than a cut on the gate. Jimmy Ring did. A year ago he didn't startle any of the clubs he was billed to start against. He says the big series taught him a lot.

"Those close games made a pitcher out of me. I had to keep my mind on what I was doing. I had to study every ball I pitched. In doing this I learned far more than if the Reds had made it easy for me. Yet, while I pitched winning ball under ordinary conditions, I kept on losing. Perhaps the breaks will be with me this year. But I learned that you must stay in shape to keep getting them over the corners."

GOLF GAME RUNS IN FAMILY

YOUNG BALL PLAYERS DECREASE IN NUMBER

Few Good Performers Come Up From Bush Leagues

Recent War Killed Off Many of the Best Circuits, Thus Lessening the Number of Promising Recruits—Thinking for Veterans.

One of the serious results of the war from a baseball standpoint is the lack of young ball players coming up from the minor leagues. Of the recruits taken south by the major league teams but very few are to be seen on the team now that the championship season is under way. The scarcity of young players is a good thing for the veteran for it will keep them in service, but it means that it will be more difficult to recruit for the league teams unless there is an increased interest in minor leagues as played in the smaller cities.

The war killed off most of the young ball players to be seen in the minor leagues, thus lessening the number of recruits to be seen in the major leagues. For two years the war were either not operating at all or being so on a very small scale and inferior players. Most of the boys would have been starting out in a baseball career were it not for the war. The reason for this is that the war has increased the number of players who are shy of recruits and are ahead with their veteran players.

The present condition among minors is much improved so especially as the larger leagues are it is not at all like it was before the war. The reason for this is that the war has increased the number of players who are shy of recruits and are ahead with their veteran players. It is hard to get smart youngsters start at the bottom of the ladder. The rewards of the stars up above are ample, but the player who is not sure of making in a couple of years hesitate in giving up a good position at the bottom. The problem will gradually adjust the things in the business world to their former level, but it is difficult to recruit largely because of minors for a season or two at least.

NEW RULE CAUSING TROUBLE

Difficult for Umpire to Decide Whether Batter Tried to Drop a Wild Pitch.

The new rule making the batter hit the ball when a batter is dropping a bad pitch is already causing trouble. The umpire's judgment whether the batter tried to drop the ball or of course that judgment is disputed according to the time some batters hit a foul ball an easy grounder to the infield claim they were trying to do a double play.
