The negro delegates at large from Louisiana to the National Republican Convention at Chicago were given seats in the convention instead of the lily white delegates. Now, will the lilies be good?

A correspondent of the Demands says his section of Grant parish has white, black, yellow and copper colored people, all of the same instincts, but he says there is considerable difference in the "out-stincts."

The Shreveport Journal says the fact that the end of the world is rapidly approaching is substantiated in a great measure by the refusal of a Louisiana newspaper man to accept a $21,000 office.

The Ruston Age reports that truck growers in that section received 80 cents per bushel net for their first shipment of Irish potatoes, made a few days ago.

It will be seen that this institution is dependent on the public for its maintanence, and, as many sufferers from this, Winn parish, have received, and many more are at liberty to receive treatment at the institution, it would be a wise, and very necessary thing, for the police jury of this parish to make a suitable appropriation for same. We hope to see, the matter receive proper attention at an early date.

The congressional fight will now begin to warm up.

Triumphs of Modern Surgery.

Wonderful things are done for the human body by surgery. Organs are taken out and scraped and polished and put back, or they may be removed entirely; bones are spliced, pipes take the place of diseased sections of veins; antiseptic dressings are applied to wounds, bruises, burns and like injuries before inflamaworth reprinting, then give us heal without maturation and in one-third the time required by the old treatment. Chamberlin's The offices of sheriff and tax Pain Balm acts on this same principle. It is an antiseptic and when applied to such injuries, causes them to heal very quickly. It also allays the pain and soreness. Keep a bottle of Pain Balm in your home and it will save you time and money, not to mention the inconvenience and suffering which such injuries entail. For sale by all dealers.

The farmers institute held at the court house here last Friday was not very well attended, the less of what the Pollock Demands institute having not been advertised and but few people knew that it was going to take place.

CONDENSED STORIES.

What Dr. De Costa Thought of Ballroom Frivolities.

Dr. J. M. Da Costa, the noted Philadelphia physician, was, even in his college days, a hard worker and a serious minded youth, says an exchange.

While he was reading medicine at the Jefferson college young Da Costa upon one occasion attended a ball. He did not enjoy this ball very much. He would rather have been at home at work. He wandered here and there among the gay crowd, looking lonely and bored.

· Perceiving his plight, his hostess took him in hand. She complimented him on his success as a student, Sound. It was an excursion of but she urged him at the same time to mingle now and then in the gayeties that are natural to youth.

Then, pointing to the sets that

"Yes, I suppose so, thanks," said the young man. "Really, though," erally to its support. Sometimes, too, he had interesting things to tell about it, says the New York Times. One evening, rather late, Daly and a commercial traveler entered the Fifth Avenue hotel together. Daly, with a nod toward his companion, said: "My friend and I were at a meeting of the army tonight. The captain, after his address, passed through the audience questioning the people. Coming to my friend,

"'What is your business, sir?' "I am a commercial traveler, was the answer.

"'And are you saved?'
"'Oh, I'm all right.'

"At this reply the captain, turning to the congregation, shouted in "'Halleluia! A commercial trav-

Senator Quay and a friend were recently discussing the doings of a rather gay youth living in Harris-burg, with whose family both Mr. Quay and his friend are well ac-

The friend was disposed to be severe in his criticism of the youngster's conduct, but the senato smilingly remarked that as the boy was all right at heart it would be well to reserve judgment and give him a chance, and he added that he thought the lad "would pull up when he reached the age of discre-

"True," rejoined Mr. Quay's friend, "but what would you call the age of discretion?"
"As a rule," answered the senator,

"I should say that a young fellow has reached the age of discretion when he removes from his walls the pictures of actresses and substitutes therefor a portrait of his wealthy bachelor uncle."

Bishop Dudley's Delicate Rebuke.

The late Bishop Dudley of Kentucky could administer a rebuke delicately, but on occasions he took care to see that the point was plain.
One of the wealthiest members of his church as well as one of the closest told him he was going abroad.

"I have never been on the ocean," he said to the bishop, "and I would like to know something that will keep me from getting seasick."

"You might swallow a nickel," responded the bishop. "You'll never that up. — They Total Times.
