

SUFFRAGE LEADERS TO BEGIN WARFARE

BOTH SIDES GIVE UP ALL HOPE FOR EARLY DECISION BY LEGISLATURE.

TEST STRENGTH OF SENATE

Developments Outside of the Legislature Were Such as To Force the Altering Somewhat of Their Plans of Campaigns.

Baton Rouge.—Both forces fighting for ratification of the federal suffrage amendment and those campaigning against it gave up all hope of an early decision on the question by the Louisiana Legislature and settled down to wage warfare that both believe will be carried on possibly two weeks before the issue is finally set.

The fight got actually into the Legislature for the first time with the introduction in the House of resolutions for ratification of the federal amendment to the state constitution giving women the right to vote. The activities went no farther than the introduction, however, and will lay over for a week until plans have been appointed and measure referred for consideration.

Developments outside of the Legislature, however, after the introduction of the two resolutions, while none of them were spectacular, were such as to cause both sides to consider altering somewhat their plans of campaigns.

In this connection, the greatest interest, perhaps, was in the report which persisted throughout the day that the anti-ratification forces are planning to force a test of strength in the Senate on the federal amendment. The belief that their strength in the other house is such that a display of would have a beneficial effect on House.

TELLS WHY TURKEY WAS INDUCED TO FIGHT FOR GERMANY.

Angora, Anatolia.—Mustapha Kemal Pasha, recently elected president of the Turkish Nationalist government, has placed before its assembly documents concerning his attitude toward Turkey's relations with the allies after the close of the world war.

In discussing what led Turkey into the war on the side of Germany, he said Great Britain seized seven ships, being built in England for Turkey, and on which Turkey had paid about $7,000,000.

He also declares that the allies had decided on an independent Armenia and had by secret treaty agreed that Russia should have Constantinople for its help against Germany.

These are the events to which he attributes the later growth of Nationalism, which by last fall was strong enough to cause the fall of the Turkish cabinet and to enable the leaders in Anatolia to dictate the affairs of the new government.

Much of the matter he has laid before the Nationalist assembly deals with matters prior to the meeting of Nationalists at Sivas, which resulted in the change of cabinets.

"At Sivas," he says, "there also were delegates from western Anatolia and Thrace.

"On the order of the grand vizier a force was gathered at Maiatia under the veil to raid Sivas and arrest us. The fall of Angora took similar steps. This official action against us had the approval of the sultan.

"At the same time the Nationalist Congress was being held at Constantinople and it demanded an explanation from his majesty. Major Neville of the British army, who made an unsuccessful attempt to set the Kurds against us at Erzerum, came to help the fall and was to command the troops for the raid on Sivas. These troops deserted to us and Major Neville and a few others ran away.

"The fall at Angora was recalled to Constantinople. In the face of the Nationalist movement, Ferid Pasha, grand vizier, was compelled to resign. He was succeeded by Ali Riza Pasha."

SAYS REDS CONSPIRE TO SEIZE CONTROL

ARMED RED GUARD BEING FORMED IN ILLINOIS IT IS CHARGED.

SOME TEACHERS ACCUSED

Successful Propaganda Being Carried On by I. W. W. and Other Discontented—Purpose of Group Is To Overthrow Government.

Springfield, Ill.—There are 50,000 organized Reds in the Chicago district, the northern tier of counties pledged to overthrow this government. Within that 50,000 there is an armed Red guard, copied after the Russian soviet.

So asserted Adjutant General Frank S. Dickson, who is head of the military forces of Illinois. Twice during his speech he said: "I know what I talk and am responsible for what I say." He, with Col. Milton J. Foreman, state commander, were the speakers before the American Legion.

"There is successful propaganda now being carried on by the I. W. W.'s and other discontented. They are spreading treason," continued the general. "The purpose of this group is to overthrow the government which you fought to save, for which 60,000 are now sleeping in France and for which millions risked their health and lives.

"In our governmental policies now there is too much politics and not enough patriotism. There is too much pussyfooting while the Reds get away with their propaganda. These men are ingrates and traitors and should be treated as such.

"It may be a surprise to many or you, but the federal government considered Illinois the most dangerous state in the Union when the war broke out. Some of that danger still lurks behind it. It is insidious, but it is here.

"There is a certain seditious propaganda going on in our schools and colleges. Teachers paid to teach loyalty to the flag are teaching other doctrines.

"I do not question the right of any citizen to change the form of our government through the ballot box, but no man has a right to attempt to overthrow this government by force."

Colonel Foreman spoke of "our enemies in this country which are more destructive than those we encountered across the water." He went on: "Those with us now operate under cover of law. We are not certain where they are all the time, while on the other side we always had the approximate location of the enemy."

AMERICAN RED CROSS COMMISSIONERS TELLS OF VISIT TO RUSSIA.

MUST RECEIVE ASSISTANCE

Lacking Outside Aid a Revolution Is Expected Within Six Months When Trouble of Worst Kind Must Be Faced.

Washington.—The Russian Bolshevik government is a "social adventure become a ghastly failure," according to Col. Edward V. Ryan, Red Cross commissioner for North Russia and the Baltic states.

Colonel Ryan is just back from a surreptitious visit into Russia with the Estonian peace delegation and his observations are contained in a report received by the State Department. Russia cannot hold out six months, he said, without aid from abroad.

"The country must either receive assistance from beyond the borders of Russia," the report said, "or there will be chaos."

His report is the first authoritative first-hand information on conditions in Russia since the return of the Bullitt mission a year ago.

Colonel Ryan visited hospitals, schools, churches and theaters, and observed intimately a community life which he described as "hopeless."

The government was "clearly hopeless," he said, "and all government officials admitted the transportation problem would eventually result in the overthrow of the present regime unless help came from the outside."

Lacking outside aid a revolution is expected within six months, when "trouble of the worst kind must be faced," the report said, continuing: "The general belief is that it will start with a gigantic program and the best that is hoped for is that from the welter and middle class intelligencia may emerge."

At no time, Colonel Ryan said, was he permitted to make any independent investigation. Except when he was asleep he was not alone for a moment.

Both Moscow and Petrograd were "indescribably filthy in appearance," Colonel Ryan said. The streets had not been cleaned for four years and were at least ankle deep, in most places knee deep, in dirt.
