THE DAY OF ATONEMENT

From sunset on Tuesday, October 11, until sunset on Wednesday, October 12 the Jewish people everywhere gathered for the observance of Yom Kippur in their several places of worship and there, in meditation and prayer, forgetful of the outside world, revived their confidence in the eternal triumph of God's love and justice, and the brotherhood of man.

The Day of Atonement, known as Yom Kippur in Hebrew, is mentioned in the Bible. In the book of Leviticus, chapter 16, the elaborate priestly ceremonial of atonement is described. In Leviticus 23:26-32, the observance of Yom Kippur is enjoined as a holy day wherein affliction of the soul (fasting, etc.) is to be practised.

A traditional observance on this day has, thus, long been fastidiously observed. Originally the high priest was the central figure of the ritual. He besought forgiveness for his own sins and those of his household, and then for all the people. The sacrifice of two goats, one for the Lord and the other set aside for "Azazel," was the means of purification from sin.

From these Biblical practices, which sought in symbolic fashion, to obtain forgiveness for the community as a whole, the celebration of the Day of Atonement was considerably changed in Rabbinical Judaism; and in modern Judaism, the observance of the Day of Atonement emphasizes repentance for shortcomings and misdeeds, for failure to live to one's highest ideals, and for yielding to the lure of indolence and selfishness.

The public service of the Day of Atonement begins at sun-down with a solemn and plaintive prayer-melody known as Kol Nidre ("all vows") which refers to vows appertaining to the conscience of the individual. Throughout the whole day following, the service is continuous, the intent of which is to awaken within the worshipper consciousness of his need to orientate himself spiritually, that he may the more worthily do his work in this world. The day long service culminates in the Ne'ilah service, in which forgiveness is besought for all mankind as fervently as for the individual Jew who utters the prayer. Not the punishment of the sinner, but repentance for his failings and weaknesses, and courage to walk under the burden of life, valiantly, is the keynote of the concluding service.

In modern times a memorial service is also a feature of the day. This service reminds the worshipper that death is a consummation of life, and should not be feared. No one who has lived worthily is forgotten, nor is his life void. All who contribute to the attainment of man's hope of redemption from poverty, war, famine, sickness, selfishness and exploitation hasten the advent of the Kingdom of God, which is established as the result of every person's effort to better conditions of life. The memorial service on the Day of Atonement is crowded with tender memories, but utilizes the solemn moment to drive home the paramount duty of living for humanity.—The Jewish Ledger.

ROST. H. SUMPTER ACCEPTS THE MANAGERSHIP OF THE GUARANTY GARAGE

Mr. Sumpter has had broad experience in automobile service, being associated with Studebaker for six years in this territory, making many friends throughout Studebaker field. He spent 1920 and part of 1921 in Buenos Aires, Republic of Argentina, as assistant supervisor of service for the Studebaker Corporation of Buenos Aires Branch, making a large territory of Argentina, Uruguay and Brazil with headquarters at Buenos Aires, Montevideo and Rio de Janeiro. He sailed from South America on the 12th of June and landed in New York July 12 on S. S. Collias. The Collias was lost at sea for one week due to heavy fog around the equator and lost all wireless connections for six days. Mr. Sumpter cruised from New York to Jacksonville, Fla. He reports that automobile industry in South America has a very promising future, especially the truck lines. Statistics show that 65 per cent of the automobiles in South America are being made in the United States against Great Britain, France, Japan, Italy and all other manufacturing nations.

Before sailing for Buenos Aires, Mr. Sumpter was associated with E. O. DeJesery, Inc., of Shreveport, and made friends in Louisiana, Arkansas, and Mississippi. We are glad to connect ourselves with Mr. Sumpter in our garage as we are confident that our association will be pleasant.

We are remodeling our garage and installing modern equipment and employing only first class mechanics under the supervision of Mr. Sumpter, which will enable us to render only first class service.

DANGER TO SMALL TOWNS IS REVEALED

All Best Young Men Abandon Them, Film Warning.

Is it true that the only young men worth while in small towns always leave the latter as soon as they are able to make their way in the big cities? Vitagraph's latest picture, "The Fortune Hunter," presents a dramatic assertion of that belief. The picture argues through its serio-comic scenes, that the small towns are often deserted by promising, marriageable young men, and are left full of pretty girls going to waste.

"The Fortune Hunter," which is an adaptation of the famous stage play by Winchell Smith, will be presented at the Lyric Theatre on Friday, October 21, Earle Williams is the star, and the leading woman is Jean Paige.

Mr. Williams appears in the role of Nathaniel Dunham, the pampered son of a millionaire, who is left fatherless at the end of his college days. Dunham proves incapable of earning his living, and soon finds himself penniless.

His college chum stakes him to $500 and a unique campaign plan to make his fortune. The plan is for Dunham to go to a small town, become a church member and make love to the town's richest heiress. Dunham's friend argues that it will be easy to marry an heiress in a small town, since there is no real competition, the best youths having deserted. Dunham starts out to follow this plan, and succeeds beyond his climax in which love is mingled with fortune.

GOD'S COUNTRY AND THE WOMAN

Thrills abound in the territory north of 53. Drama is part of the daily routine in the land of ice and snow. No author can depict the life in this country with the force and color that James Oliver Curwood describes it. His stories make the best productions upon the screen. One of the greatest of these is "God's Country and the Woman." It is a spectacular film of the far north. Wolf-dogs, snowstorms, and real fights are part of the action. The destruction of the outlaws' cabin is one of the high lights. The story deals with a man who agrees to marry a girl in order to save her from a great danger, the nature of which is not disclosed. The youth fights his enemies in the dark, aided by an Indian and half dozen wolf-dogs. His faith in the girl never falters, although circumstances indicate that she is unfaithful. His love goes him on into new dangers and adventures everyone of which is thrilling and spectacular. It is a film that will hold the attention from the first flash—one that you will never forget. "God's Country and the Woman," featuring William Duncan and a Pathe News will be shown at The Lyric Theatre Monday, October 17.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

SAMSONLower Operating Costs

The big problem confronting the business farmer today is "How can I lower my operating costs?"

To this there is only one answer, "Power Farming." You or your father answered it the same way when the scythe was discarded for the mower and reaper.

Two years ago you did not have to answer this question because you could make money no matter how expensive the old methods. But next year's crop costs will have to be figured on an efficient production basis, the same as any other manufacturer. Samson power points the way out.

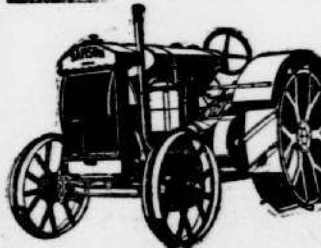

The Samson Model "M" tractor, by displacing horses, saving feed and other expenses, as well as hired belt work for silo filling, threshing, etc., will pay for itself the first year. It will give you not only a better and easier means of doing your work but it will cut down your cost of production the same as it has that of your farmer competitor.

Nearly two hundred thousand farmers have purchased tractors during the past year and through use of this power, which is less costly than horsepower, have saved money, time and labor. The tractor will do for you what it has done for them.

Your business rests with you. It is a question of profit or loss. You, as a business farmer, can not afford to operate at cost or at a loss! You must make a profit. Competition is as strong on the farm as in any other business. Power farming with a Samson Model "M" tractor is your salvation.

Don't delay the introduction of power methods. Your profits start the minute you put a Samson Model "M" tractor on your farm—not only in your field work, but in the operation of all your belt-driven machinery. Get ready for your spring work now.

WRITE US FOR ALL THE FACTS

Sit down now and write us to send you new information which we have gathered that will enable you to lower your production cost and increase your margin of profit. A postal card will bring it, no obligation. Write r today.
